

Deerfield News

The first meeting of the Deerfield Chamber of Commerce was called by the mayor, James J. Hood on Friday evening at the Deerfield Temple.

Deerfield Grammar School Parent-Teacher Association
 "Unless we teach our children that kisses are a sacred thing when they are young, we can hardly hope to convince them of it when they become older," Mrs. B. J. Langworthy, former president of the Illinois Council of Parent-Teacher association, wrote in a paper on Recreation, which was read by Mrs. J. A. Reichelt, Jr., at the October meeting of the Deerfield Parent-Teacher association held in the school last Friday afternoon. In regard to children's parties she said "they are really a serious matter, to be approached with fasting and prayer" by the mothers. We are too likely to rest, tired but contented, with the knowledge that we have provided a suitable supper for the children, and we leave them to their own devices so far as the games are concerned." The pupils of the fourth grade, under the direction of their teacher, Miss Ethel Titus, gave a forceful little play on fire prevention called "Fire Imps," fittingly on the fifty-fourth anniversary of the Chicago fire. In yellow dresses, with blue caps topped with red pompoms, to represent matches, Jean Pettis, Catherine Cunningham, Margaret Frederickson, Dorothy Vetter and Eleanor Brugmann told tales of terrible fires started by children, with consequent loss of life and property. Junior Simons was "Bobbie," the little boy who started to play with a box of matches when left alone but the good fairy appeared in the person of Shirley Clark, in yellow tarleton gown, a gold crown, and star tipped wand, conjured up the matches, who told their stories. David Stryker in a flame color suit, represented Fire.

On the opposite side were five little boys in yellow smocks, and headgear to represent Sparks and who gave their warnings.

The boys were Duncan Reeds, Stewart Guy, Neil Anderson, and Walter Toll. The fire preventers, in white dresses, were Elizabeth and Katherine Hoffmann, Lydia Thierbach, Evelyn Kent and Ida Sticken.

The picture given for the month to the room having the most parents and friends at the meeting was awarded the room which had put on the program, that of Miss Ethel Titus.

Mrs. Geary was appointed to confer with the Deerfield Men's club in order to prepare ground for a skating pond for the village.

A delegate was appointed to the regional conference of District nineteen of the Illinois Council of Parent-Teacher associations to be held in the Memorial hall of the Roosevelt school in River Forest, on November 17.

In spite of the unseasonable snow storm every seat in the room was filled by parents eager to see the little play in which their children took part, and by those to whom the Parent-Teacher association fills a real need.

Fire at Briergate Club Sunday
 It took just four and one-half minutes for the Deerfield Fire department to respond to the call from the Briergate Golf club Sunday morning about eight o'clock. The fire, which started from an overheated fire place in the Locker room had evidently been smoldering for several hours before its discovery by Mr. George Emerich of Winnetka, who while passing by, saw flames coming from the cupola of the building. The smoke and flames followed the roof rafters to this opening. The loss is estimated at about $250.00.

Mr. Emerich owns property in Briar Hill and was very profound in his praise of Deerfield's firefighters and equipment.

After the flames were extinguished, the eight firemen were treated to coffee, doughnuts and cigars, served by the Briergate club.

Police Drill Wednesday Eve
 Five short calls on the fire siren, caused consternation in the village, Wednesday evening. Some thought it was a fire, nevertheless in a very short time, a large crowd had gathered at the main corners to see what there was to be seen. Three robberies within a very short time had stirred Deerfield's mayor, James J. Hood, to action and he was anxious to see how many of the regulars and auxiliary police would answer the call. Of the twenty, fourteen answered the police call.

Deerfield's list of police and auxiliary are as follows: Henry Petersen, chief of police; Peter Liest, Percy McLaughlin, regulars; auxiliaries: John Beckley, Sr., Harry Clavey, A. J. Ender, George Engstrom, W. F. Geary, C. W. Getty, J. J. Hood, E. F. Seger, P. L. Hunter, C. Uchtman, E. B. Jordan, C. A. Wolf, Alvin Knaak, T. J. Knaak, Fred Labahn, Edward Selig.

The fire alarm signals are:
 Two long sirens—business district.
 One long, one short—North town.
 One long, two short—south town.
 One long, three short—east town.
 One long, four short—west town.
 Police alarm signal: Five short sirens on siren, calls entire available force to headquarters.

A week ago Monday evening, thieves entered the Clarence Varney, A. R. Warner and Jack Beckley, Jr., homes and tried to gain entrance to the William Desmond and J. J. Hood homes. The local police are about sure they have solved the mystery of who it is that is burglarizing the town.

Deerfield Boy Scouts Capture Deserter

The young boys of the town played "really policemen" on Saturday morning and gave chase to a prisoner who had escaped from the Deerfield cell. They pursued him with clubs and whoops of glee and as he was unarmed and could run no farther, gave up and surrendered to the boys, west of town, near the slough, in Clavey's nursery.

At the time of his escape, no police could be found, so John Stryker offered $2.50 to the boy who would bring him back. Young "Batte" was the boy who had noticed that he had crawled from between the bars of the cell and saw him hiding behind the fire truck. He ran for aid, and when he returned the man had fled.

This is at least the fourth prisoner to escape from our lock-up.

The bars are either too far apart or are made of elastic rubber. The boys made him crawl back through the bars. He was then taken to Waukegan.

The prisoner is a deserter from Fort Sheridan and it is reported that a reward of $50 is offered for the return of a deserter. The boys who captured the man are Boy Scouts and if the reward is to be given, it certainly would be splendid to award it to the Deerfield Boy Scout troop.

 "O Night, thou silent Queen whose starry eyes
 Keep watch o'er me thru all the darksome hours,
 Just as thou drap'st the folds of thy dark gown,
 About each silent hill and o'er each plain;
 Fold me within thy soft seclusion
 Let me rest hidden from all the world away;
 Cool thou my aching brow with the light kiss
 Of thy sweet breath. And with the magic strains
 Of thy melodious songster Philomel,
 Soothe me into a quiet, restful calm,
 And bathe my burning eyes with dreamless sleep."
