J. G. Finkbeiner, pastor
9:45—Sunday school session.
11:00—Morning worship.
7:45—Evening services.
Special music at all the services.
Beginning with next Sunday, Nov. 1, the primary department of our Sunday school, who have been holding their sessions at the Young Women's Christian association building for the past two years, will meet at the Elks hall, corner Laurel avenue and McGovern street. This will be near the location for our new church.
The children in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades of our public schools should be urged to attend the religious instruction given every Wednesday afternoon at the Masonic hall at 3:30.
Tuesday of this week was donation day for our Deaconess hospital in Chicago, and there was quite a generous response to this needy and worthy cause.

HIGH SURTAXES DO NOT AID REDUCTION
Expert Points Out That They Drive Money Into Non-Taxed Securities
How higher surtaxes defeat their purposes by leading those who have large incomes to invest in non-taxed securities was shown in a recent statement by Congressman Albert H. Vestal, of Indiana, who believes that a reduction in the rates will help everyone by stimulating productive enterprise, and will at the same time eventually yield more revenue.
"The effect of high surtax rates is reflected in the tax returns. Incomes of upwards of $300,000, contributed in surtaxes in 1916, when the highest surtax rate was 13 per cent, within four per cent of the amount which like income contributed in 1921 when the maximum surtax was 65 per cent. The wealth of the United States had in the meantime increased $70,000,000. Had the surtax remained at 13 per cent it is reasonable to believe there would have been an increase in the tax returns in proportion to the increase in wealth which would have meant that the 13 per cent surtax would have produced more revenue from large incomes in 1921 than the 65 per cent surtax did. In 1916, incomes of over $100,000 constituted 29.5 per cent of the total incomes reported. In 1920 they constituted 5.4 per cent, in 1921, 4.5 per cent. In only one way can this be accounted for—the high tax rates and the chance to escape payment by investments in other channels.

"It is but natural for men with large incomes to invest in tax-free securities when the rates are so high that if investments were made in productive enterprises they would not only have to take a chance of less but work more than half the time for the tax collector. There is always a risk attached to the average human venture and human nature is about the same everywhere and capital will not take the risk when it is compelled to pay from 65 per cent to 77 per cent of its profits to the government."

NANSEN GETS DEGREE FROM SOVIET SCHOOL
The first foreigner to be granted an honorary degree by a university in Soviet Russia is Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, the famous explorer and peace advocate. He visited Russian Armenia recently on a survey of the work of Near East Relief, with a view to colonizing additional Armenian refugees on farms in their old country. In recognition of this work, he has been granted an honorary degree by the University of Erivan.
At Alexandropol, where the Near East Relief work is centered, Dr. Nansen was greeted by representatives of the entire Armenian nation, gathered under the shadow of old Mount Ararat. To them he expressed, on behalf of the League of Nations, the sympathy and sorrow of the civilized world over the tribulations of the Armenian nation during the past decade. After the ceremonies, Dr. Nansen reviewed 12,000 orphans from the American training schools located in the nearby plain. Later he was a guest of honor at a Golden Rule dinner attended by all the children.

Many of the newlywed brides seem to think a husband's chief function is to try out their first cooking experiments.

PERSIA IS SEEKING NEW TRAFFIC LAWS

Increase of Automobiles Cause Need of Revision of Speed Regulations
The rapid increase in automobile traffic in Persia has necessitated a revision of traffic laws and regulations, and the government has appealed to the Near East Relief for suggestions based on American customs.
A general widening of public highways has been initiated, but the importation of American automobiles has been so rapid that it will be many years before road facilities can catch up with traffic demands. The government is alarmed at the increasing number of accidents, which can be avoided only by skilled drivers, owing to the complete absence of traffic regulation. The number of bicycles is probably greater than anywhere else in the world, if figures are based on the available mileage of good roads. Heretofore German bicycles monopolized the market, but today sturdier and more expensive machines of American manufacture are being purchased.
Much complaint from the young crowd now, because their parents decline to listen to advice.
The hard coal miners seem to think they can make themselves prosperous by lessening the inclination and ability of the American people to buy their product.
