ANOTHER HEARING ON ZONING MEASURE

intended to be, a beautiful residential city.
"It is a great thing for Highland Park, that her citizens will take an interest in her affairs, by coming out in such numbers as are represented here, for the purpose of considering what we shall do to protect our city from the invasion of the factory and the apartment. I think there has been some misunderstanding and some misapprehension created in the minds of many of you that such a thing was contemplated. I have heard statements made over the telephone, in the press, and to me personally, that the bars were down—that the new additions to the city would be filled with factories, boarding houses, and apartment houses. No such thing is contemplated, and it is just such a condition we are trying to avoid by getting together tonight and considering this amendment to the zoning ordinance. You understand, of course, that we are already operating under a zoning ordinance. We have found by experience that it needed clarifying—it needed re-writing, so that our building department and engineering department could have more definite knowledge.
"I shall not attempt to go into the details, but will leave that to others. You have a Zoning commission whose business it is to pass upon the expansion of the business district and make its recommendation to the council. We also have the Appeal board, to appeal to from the decision of the Zoning commission, and these things are not enacted into law until they are finally presented to the council for its approval and the passing of the ordinance.
"If we will just keep the spirit of co-operation and good-will and all work together we can do much to preserve our city from the invasion of undesirable building programs. We are in the line of the moving increasing population. Realizing this, we urged and worked for the annexation of the territory adjacent to the city for the reason that we desired to preserve the general scheme of landscaping with curved streets, parkways, and large radiuses on the corners. How well we have succeeded is evidenced by a trip through any of the new subdivisions that have been laid out and paved. We carried into this new district, the atmosphere of old Highland Park—the atmosphere for which we must give credit to the pioneers, and those who labored long and hard in landscaping and building a city of great beauty, and I am sure that this meeting, which is one of the finest that I have ever seen in Highland Park, will help in developing that spirit of co-operation, and good-will that will continue to keep our city a place for what it was intended to be—a city of homes."

Points Considered
The principal point brought up at the meeting was the extending of the business district so as to include the two frontages on West Central avenue west from Green Bay road to Hickory street. There seemed to be no objection to this, but any suggestion to increase the business district east of the railway tracks was vigorously opposed.
Then the suggestion for reserving a portion of the city for apartment buildings came up and this suggestion brought out the fact that our citizens are almost unanimously opposed to flat buildings being allowed anywhere in the city. The amended ordinance allows such buildings to be erected in the present business section but limits their height to three stories or forty-five feet. It also provides that not more than twenty-four families should be housed on an acre of land. Considerable was said about these restrictions, some speakers claiming that the allowed height was too low, and the intensity of occupancy was inadequate, especially on land selling at present prices. The stenographer's report will be typed and turned over to the Zoning committee as soon as possible where the various remarks will be considered and recommendations made to the city commissioners who will have the whole subject ready for consideration at the next meeting, when it is hoped there will be another large attendance.
Suggestions Heard
Among suggestions made regarding the restricting of apartment buildings is one that in the business district such restriction should not prevent erection of business blocks with apartments on the second or third stories. It is pointed out that there is no great demand for offices in this city at present, but that there is demand for apartments over business buildings. If construction of buildings in the district did not permit arrangement of second floors into apartments there would be no incentive to erect buildings more than one story in height, and the business district would soon be filled with one-story structures. Considering the value at which land is held in the district, it is felt by progressive business men that such restriction not only would retard the development of the district and the city but also militate against the general appearance of the business district.

Another suggestion made is that parks or plazas be located as buffer tracts between the business district and the residence part of the city, say at East Park avenue and along St. Johns avenue as far south as Ravine drive. Many other suggestions have been made, and all suggestions probably will be threshed out at the next meeting.
HIGHWOOD TEAM WINS NORTH SHORE TITLE
Defeats Lake Forest Y. M. Club In Crucial Game Thanksgiving Day
The Highwood football team ended the most successful season on the gridiron at Lake Forest Thanksgiving day by handing the Young Men's club of that city a 12-7 drubbing.
Lake Forest outweighed Highwood by a large margin and consequently made all of their gains through the lighter Highwood's line, while Highwood's game was more spectacular, end runs and a variety of fast passes completely dumbfounding the Y. M. C. Shannon of Highwood out-punted the Lake Forest kicker, one of his boots netting Highwood 63 yards. Stewart and Robinson went down the field and nailed the receiver in his tracks.
The locals slipped up on the drop-kicking and by making every one count, the score could have been 17-7. The two tries after touchdown were missed and one drop kick from the 20 yard line went wild.
The city of Highwood can feel proud that the team had the best middle-weight semi-pro team in this part of the country represent them this fall. The team won every Mid-West league game, and by virtue of the victory Thanksgiving day they can claim the Cook County league championship (of which Lake Forest were champions) and the North Shore and Lake county titles.
Highwood played 9 games this fall, won them all, scored 125 points against the visitors' 27 (20 of these points were scored when second string players were on the defense for Highwood).
A banquet will be given for the team members at which the players will be given gold footballs, symbolic of the four championships: the team is entitled to.
This probably will be Coach Bolan's last game at Highwood. Much credit is due him for the way he has worked for the team. He has drawn no salary and has spent his time for three years building up his team. Words cannot express the appreciation that the members and fans feel is due. The word "Bolan" in Highwood means the team and the fans will miss him as much as though the team had disbanded for good.

Highwood sincerely wishes to express its appreciation and thanks to Mr. Bolan for all that he has done. We all hope to have him with us next year.—(Contributed.)
