

UNIQUE EXHIBITION BY FATHER AND SON

BOTH PAINTERS OF NOTE

Production of Each Will Be Shown at Art Institute During the Next Few Weeks, Belief

There will be a rather unique exhibition of paintings at the Art Institute beginning December 22, in that a father and his son, both of whom have attained a national reputation, will each have an exhibition of their work at the same time. DeWitt Parshall, the father, is best known for his paintings of the west. He was born in Buffalo, New York, August 1864, and studied painting under Cornmon and Alexander Harrison and at the Julian academy in Paris.

In 1917 he became a member of the National academy. He is also a member of the Allied Artists of America, the Society of Men who Paint the Far West and the Painters of the West. Writing of a recent exhibition of Mr. Parshall's paintings held in Los Angeles, Anthony Anderson, the art critic of the Times, says "We know now, as we did not before, that Parshall can paint the Pacific ocean with as sure a touch as that displayed in his interpretations of the Grand Canyon, or even with the finesse that has delighted us so often in his studies of sycamore trees, laden with the golden spoils of autumn, laid like an intricate decorative pattern against a background of hills, pale blue and delicately pink. Parshall paints the sea so superbly that one hopes he will assay it often."

Son Also Exhibitor

Douglas Ewell Parshall is a son of DeWitt Parshall and in the forthcoming exhibition the works of father and son will hang side by side in the same gallery. Douglas was born in New York City, November 19, 1899 and studied art under the direction of his father. In this exhibition the canvases he will show are scenes of the rugged southwest, which is fast becoming a prolific and romantic painting ground for the artist. Visitors to the exhibition who delight in the wide spaces and in the open, free life of the western country, will be thrilled by the strong work of this painter, who shows in such vivid manner the life of the round-up and of the rodeo; who paints the rugged mountains with the boldness and understanding of one who has studied deeply of their fascination. Young Parshall has achieved recognition in early life, for among those who have purchased his paintings are Fritz Kreisler, Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Mrs. Warner Leeds, William L. Ryerson, Mrs. Charles W. Dempster, Mrs. J. H. Steedman, Mrs. Henry Abbott and many others.

U. S. DEPENDENCE ON FOREIGN COUNTRIES

In Matter of Imports of Material Not Produced in Our Own Land

"These United States are, and of right ought to be free and independent states."

That declaration was made on July 4, 1776, and economically perhaps it was truer then than now. How dependent on other quarters of the world were those estimable gentlemen who signed that important document? They did import tea but they showed that they could do without it. The Revolution was a demonstration of economic independence such as we would have difficulty now in making.

Talking recently at Erie, Secretary Hoover discussed foreign control of prices and incidentally set forth our economic dependence.

Rubber, of course, is outstanding. We move in a world that could not do without rubber, yet we produce none of it. We depend on others for tea and coffee and cocoa, but perhaps we could grow used to abstinence.

We can't well do without manganese. Without it our steel industry would stop. We turn to other lands for practically all our needs of that mineral. We need nickel and asbestos, and Canada supplies wants we cannot meet ourselves. The list might be long drawn out.

Here's a war-time story, from The Nation's Business: Economists were seeking unnecessary exports. It came the turn of tapioca, and that was barred. A world at war could live without pudding.

The order went forth, and promptly there appeared a gentlemen who said mildly:

"I only want to suggest that my company makes a glue of very great importance in preparing certain war material. You can't use an animal glue or a fish glue in this work; in fact, the only material we know of that you can use is tapioca; and you really ought to let it in." And they did.

But why worry about our economic independence? We buy from the world, and the world buys from us, and we're going to see more rather than less of world trade.

There is a demand from the producers to have their prices fixed when they are going down, and to have free competition when they are going up.

RETAIN GREAT LAKES TRAINING STATION

Navy Department Decides This Would Be Economy; Congress Appropriation

Great Lakes was retained as one of the important naval training stations because of traveling expenses to be saved by its central location, the navy department declared last week, according to Washington dispatches.

The navy's quota from the Pacific coast is filled and no recruits are being accepted from there. Considerable traveling money therefore can be saved by training enlisted men at Great Lakes, instead of sending them to San Diego.

The navy recommended abandonment of Great Lakes but was overruled by the budget bureau as a matter of economy.

Recommendation for an appropriation of 245,000 for the maintenance of the Great Lakes Naval Training Station for the next fiscal year has been included in the annual budget that has gone to congress, according to official information received from Washington.

SUPERVISORS PLAN ZONING OF COUNTY

To Exert Care in Matter of Plats and Subdivisions Is the Object

The effect of the regional zoning association, held recently in Chicago, was felt last week before the board of supervisors, when that body gave the chairman the power to appoint a committee to draft a resolution covering plats and subdivisions.

Chairman Ray Paddock immediately appointed Edward Mawman, Lake Bluff; George Bairstow, Waukegan; and J. B. Garnett, Highland Park, to serve on that committee. County superintendent of Highways Charles Russell was also named to act with the committee.

Their resolution is to cover subdivisions and plats, dedications, vacations, etc., so that the property laid out in the future will be so mapped as to meet the needs of the future as well as the present. It will be the work of the committee to see that subdivisions are accepted by the county under the agreement that easement will be given for wider streets, so that increase can be made in roadways as the traffic needs arise.

This is the initial step taken by the county in the zoning plan and more are to follow, it is predicted.

NOTED ARTIST WILL DISPLAY HIS WORKS

WILLIAM HORTON, PAINTER

One of the Most Interesting of One-Man Exhibitions Being Shown at Art Institute This Month

Among the group of one-man shows to be exhibited at the Art Institute from December 22 to January 26, paintings by the American artist, William S. Horton, will be shown. Mr. Horton was born in Grand Rapids, Michigan in 1865, and obtained his art education at the Art Institute and in New York, later going to Paris where he placed himself under the guidance of Benjamin Constant. He has won many honors and has held many important one-man shows in London and in Paris.

The French government has purchased no less than seven of his works. The Carnaval Museum has his original sketch for the larger canvas of General Pershing and the American Contingent on their memorable march through Paris during the Victory parade. Mr. Horton, besides being represented in Paris, is also represented at the Bradford Museum, England, Brooklyn Museum, and in numerous private collections, including those of the King of Spain, and Lord Henry Bentinck.

His style of painting has been compared to that of the impressionists, but Henri-Fritch-Estrangin, writing from Paris, says: "That he is an impressionist may be questioned, as in the works of a Sisle, a Monet, or a Pissarro, we find them, as a school, occupied with the exterior phenomena of landscape, while Horton is more alive to complicated and often intensely fugitive and poetic conditions. His vision might rather be compared to Turner, as, aside from the synphonic tendency, like Turner, he is joyously occupied with 'La belle matiere flamboyante.'"

"His results are the fruition of long labors, the careful consideration of rhythymical line and mass, and lastly of minute study of the problems of color orchestration in their fullest sense." Mr. Horton's exhibition will contain some forty-five works, thus enabling the visitor to make a careful study of the art of this successful American painter.

HOW BEST TO AVOID SKIDDING IS SHOWN

Suggestions by Experts Indicate How to Avert Most of This Kind of Trouble

"The way to stop skidding," says a bulletin issued by the accident prevention department of the Chicago Motor club, "is to practice skid prevention. It is very difficult to stop a skid after it has occurred, but it is comparatively easy to entirely avoid skidding. Ninety per cent of all skids can be avoided, but in only 10 per cent of these emergencies can the motorist extricate himself after his wheels have started to slide. Chains reduce the chances of skidding, but are not infallible. Keep off car tracks; do not drive fast on snowy or wet pavements. If the car starts to skid, steer in the direction of the skid; not against it. Unless the brakes are equalized skidding is certain to result on wet pavement. Skidding also occurs on wet pavement, especially in snow, when the car is started. To overcome the sideswiping which is common on snow covered streets, the motorist should start very slowly and in low gear."

The Neighbors will enjoy a birthday party on Wednesday evening, Dec. 30, at Odd Fellows' hall on Laurel avenue.

TELLS HOW TO WARM UP COLD CAR MOTOR

"Serious damage is done to many automobiles during the winter season by drivers who do not know how to warm up the motor," says a bulletin issued by the mechanical first aid department of the Chicago Motor club. "When the thermometer starts to drop the oil congeals, and cannot circulate properly. If the driver attempts to warm his engine by racing the motor, the thin film of oil is likely to be burned off, and burned out bearings may be the result of this common practice.

"When the engine is being raced, the fan is being driven at a high rate of speed which tends to cool the engine, rather than to heat it. The engine should be run slowly with the spark retarded. A retarded spark tends to heat the engine quickly. Use the choke or the primer to keep the engine from stalling."

HUGE DEVELOPMENT NEAR LIBERTYVILLE

The development is expected to be one of the finest residential communities in the world.

Includes Lakes, Woods
Something like twenty-four square miles of attractive residential property are included in the plan, with lakes, rivers and woods and hills to provide sites for every taste and every purse.

These twenty-four square miles of territory comprise parts of the villages of Libertyville and Mundelein, stretching roughly four miles along the Libertyville-Mundelein branch of the North Shore Line and running south approximately six miles. Virtually this entire area is owned by Mr. Inaull and his associates, or by interests in sympathy with the development plan.

The first step is the subdivision of some 1,500 acres of land in and adjoining Libertyville and Mundelein and adjacent to the North Shore Line. This is the property that is ripe for immediate development as homesites and business property. It has been platted and streets are now being put through. Other improvements will be put in next spring as soon as the work can be started.

The subdivision of 1,500 acres, even though it may spread over several years, is somewhat of an undertaking, but it is merely the beginning. As the section builds up, successive tracts farther and farther back from the railroad, are to be thrown open. As the growth spreads south the growth of the homesites will grow in proportion. In the urban portion, close to the railroad, fifty, sixty, seventy-five and 100-foot lots will predominate.

Country Estates Planned

Farther back, there will be quarter, half and full acre lots, and still farther back country estates of from five to twenty acres. Parts of some of the large country estate of Chicago millionaires may be included among the tracts to be subdivided.

The Des Plaines river, with its heavily wooded banks, cuts through the section from north to south. At the western border is Diamond Lake,

The French people seem to be pretty thoroughly convinced by this time that it is a pretty expensive thing to win a war.

The doctors may be busy New Year's day, but not among those who attended the watch night meetings.

Ruotions reported in one newspaper office when the articles on "How to feed the pigs" and "Diet for boys" and just north and west of Mr. Inaull's private grounds, a lake of between forty and fifty acres has been scooped out and is rapidly being filled by underground springs.

The shores of this lake are to be elaborately landscaped, and around it, at some future date, will be laid out one of the de luxe subdivisions of the development.

This general plan is to be carried out by the Lake County Land association, which has been made trustee for the vast tract. The directors of the association are Britton I. Budd, Samuel Insull, Jr., and J. C. Reuse. Mr. Reuse has been manager of the Inaull farm for many years and is president of the Libertyville Trust and Savings bank, both of which institutions were recently organized to assist in the development of the Libertyville-Mundelein region. Arthur H. Jones is general manager of the association and in direct charge of its subdivision activities.

To Spend $32,000,000
Immediate improvements in the section calls for an expenditure of approximately $32,000,000. Among these improvements are: Completion of St. Mary of the Lake academy at Mundelein, at a cost of $10,000,000; double tracking of the Lake Bluff-Mundelein branch of the North Shore at a cost of $300,000, to accommodate visitors at the Eucharistic Congress at Mundelein next June; new passenger station at Mundelein, $50,000; new sewage system and disposal plants for both Mundelein and Libertyville, $400,000; extension of Mundelein waterworks, $125,000; new banks, theaters, schools, churches and commercial buildings in Mundelein and Libertyville, $1,000,000; improvements of the Lake County Land association and other subdividers approximately $20,000,000.

The Eucharist Congress at Mundelein next year is expected to bring about a big boom for Mundelein, and subdividers are hurrying to have their holding in readiness for this market; but the bigger phase of the future growth of the community lies not in the temporary boom, but in the long-time development planned by Mr. Inaull and his associates.

Controlling the largest and one of the most desirable tracts in the Chicago region, and backed by unlimited resources, they have the opportunity to accomplish something unique in suburban development.
