PLAN FOR WORLD'S GREATEST CONGRESS

TRAFFIC JAM IS EXPECTED

North Shore Roads All Will Lead to Mundelein Next June and Highway Experts Are Getting Ready

Traffic experts of the North Shore looking forward to June 24, the date of the Eucharistic congress at Mundelein, are busy planning for the biggest convention ever held in the world.

Here are some of the facts: There will be 1,000,000 or more people, or 12 times the number of people who inhabit the county, or one-sixth of the entire population of the whole state of Illinois.

There will be 50,000 voices in one one-third the number of the entire state.

There will be 50,000 priests or chorists, so great a chorus that there will never be an opportunity for practicing together.

There will be 50,000 priestesses or more.

It will require four hours to get all the attendance to Mundelein, or almost one-half of a working day.

Lake county has done this much to help the plans:

A committee of Waukegan service clubs is working in conjunction with churchmen to make the stay a pleasant one.

A meeting is being held in Libertyville February 4 with Robert Sweitzer, Chicago, as chairman to develop a traffic system for the day.

A committee composed of Father John O'Hearn, Highwood, County Clerk Lew A. Hende, Supervisor George Barstow and Highway Commissioner Matt Atkinson, Lake Bluff, has called all the township officials of the county together...

There will be only one open road on this date, Sheridan road. All north and south traffic will have to stop on other roads and turn in toward Sheridan road, according to present reports.

According to present plans the auto parking spaces will only come within in two miles of Mundelein. All the vast insull estate have been rented for the day.

The North Shore Line will run a train a minute, and the Soo line and St. Paul will give the best service possible under the conditions. It is believed that the 1,000,000 people can be moved out in four hours.

Sessions Are Held at Community House and Are Well Attended; Teachers Give Services

Payment of an extremely moderate fee provides the pupil with his own book. New pupils will be welcome. Those who are already enrolled will continue their work for the rest of the year. The teachers are rendering a real service in the work they are doing.
