NUMBER 51

GREEN BAY ROAD PAVEMENT

Interest in the repaving of Green Bay road north with a wider concrete roadbed is marked both along that street and in the city generally, but there seems to be a very marked sentiment in favor of a forty-foot wide pavement, instead of thirty-three feet, as proposed by the city administration.

It is pointed out by those favoring a width of forty feet that this is a through street with a heavy volume of traffic, which is increasing greatly every year. Hence, it is urged, that it is good business to build for the future while the improvement is being made, that the thing to do is to make this roadway wide enough to take care of traffic for many years to come rather than simply for the needs of a few years.

A very serious error was made a few years ago when the administration repaved South Green Bay only 21 feet. Let's not make the same error again.

It is argued that if other streets in the city like Second avenue and Laurel avenue, with much less traffic on the average, are widened to 40 feet, Green Bay should be that width at least, and that it would be economy to provide thus for the future instead of going to added expense of still further widening the street in a few years. The forty-foot plan has been unanimously approved by the Highland Park Chamber of Commerce.

It is also widely believed that this improvement, when it is made, should be largely charged to public benefit, because of the general character of the traffic which it bears. This would lighten the burden on the property owners and distribute the cost more equally. There seems to be no good reason to delay this improvement which is so greatly needed, and it is hoped that the city administration will consider the plan suggested seriously at the premises.

ORNAMENTAL LIGHTING SYSTEM

The special committee appointed to investigate the feasibility of installing an improved, modern ornamental lighting system in the business district of Highland Park has presented to the city council a comprehensive report covering all details of such a plan, with carefully prepared estimates of cost of installation and operation. This report should have serious consideration at once. The improvement provided for would be marked and is greatly needed. Highland Park at present has the poorest lighted business district on the North Shore. It is probably the most progressive and fastest growing of the northern suburbs and as such its lighting system should correspond. The cost of the improvement is not prohibitive, and the benefits would be notable. It is hoped that the city administration will act with dispatch on this proposition so that the new system may be installed and in use this summer.

ABOUT NEWSPAPERS

Most American agree with the statement of Grove Paterson, editor of the Toledo Blade, to the effect that the modern newspaper is one of mankind's four greatest institutions, the others of course, being, the home, the church and the school.

Like other modern institutions, newspapers often make mistakes, and the public does not hesitate to tell the editor about these errors. But the magnitude of the task of building the modern newspaper in so short a time will easily account for the mistakes, and they are no more numerous than they would be in other lines of endeavor under similar conditions.

People like to criticize public officials, lawyers, and the general run of folks, but for some reason, they like best of all to criticize newspapers. The reason may be that the mistakes of the newspaper are always before them, and cannot be denied or buried. At any rate as Mr. Patterson said:

"It is the cheap and joyous custom to criticize newspapers. Nearly all public speakers from snake charmers to preachers attack newspapers for the reason that it is the simplest and easiest way to get quick applause. Applause is the breath of life to luncheon speakers."

Yet the newspaper is always in the forefront, defending the community in which it lives, and in promoting all things that are for the community's good. It probably gives more free service and more honest service for less money than any other commercial enterprise. No man would want to live in a city or town without newspapers, and the newspapers themselves are usually an index of the prosperity and progressiveness of the community.

U. S. A. HAS A FOREIGN POLICY

The talk of many of the advocates of the league implies that the United States has no foreign policy and that it is doing nothing to help the world. A former American ambassador to Italy, Richard Washburn Child, remarks in his recent book, "A Diplomat Looks at Europe," that in terms of practical finished jobs the United States, single-handed, had a better record as a peacemaker than the League of Nations, which had sidestepped the Ruhr and backed out of the Corfu dispute.

Consider the record: The Washington limitation of armaments conference, the Dawes report, the contribution of 4 or 5 billion dollars in relief goods and relief loans, the straightening out of Cuba by Crowder, the averting of war in Central America, the making of approximately fifty international agreements since the war, the establishing of the open door policy in the near east and of liberal treatment of China in the far east. Not a European nation approaches this record.

It is a series of achievements of which every American has a right to be proud. Yet the sentimentalists say America is failing in her duty to help the world!

Sense is better than sentiment, as the Kansas City Times sagely remarks.

HOW MUNSEY DID IT

With Frank A. Munsey's death still a subject of news comment, there is much discussion of the subject of newspaper consolidations. Mr. Munsey bought newspapers in a way that appeared reckless.

He paid large prices. Often the return in permanently added circulation was not great. Often the property was scrapped at no great advantage to the purchaser. Yet Mr. Munsey died worth forty millions.

Mr. Munsey's great service was to the advertiser and he reaped a reward of advertising patronage.

By reducing multiplicity of newspapers, the advertising dollar did not have to cover so many separate overheads. Overhead is a mighty significant item in the newspaper business. Advertisers probably spent less money for coverage, and were better satisfied with the results, while Mr. Munsey made a well-merited profit.

"My arches are all right!"

No doubt they are. Most women have good foot arches. And yet most women have aching, bothersome feet. You may have good feet, but if you are not wearing the right kind of shoes your good feet will cost you a world of trouble. Be sure you have the Arch Preserver Shoe. There is no substitute. This is the shoe that supports; that keeps the foot healthy and happy and vigorous. It's in good style, too.
