versity and associate professor of his-THLY rate on your LAWNS tory there, in a recent address said M. E. Faust that the habit of good reading should be cultivated in ones youth if it is to persist and be of benefit to the individual. Dr. Grose's topic was "Reading With a Purpose" and at the outset Not Only In U. S., But Also In he deplored the demand in the United States following the World war, for salacious literature as represented in some of the flapper type of magazines. The speaker, however, did not believe that this wave of bad reading was to be permanent or that reading is not now as prevalent as ever. He lie which in its current issue says: indicated that American libraries are phenomenally helping the good cause of proper and stimulating reading and in this connection urged biography as a feature of literature that is helpful and interesting.

He also commented on the OF GOOD READING value of college students becoming habitual readers of high-class literature and not merely readers of books BEGIN EARLY IN YOUTH which have been suggested by the faculty member or the teacher. If good reading habits are deeply formed in college days Professor Grose held that the benefits probably would be life-long. In general he summe up the benefits from good reading in these words:

"Good reading may be something of such tremendous profit and pleasure fhrough life, that it is a tragedy of Dr. Clyde L. Grose, director of the the deeper and more permanent sort summer session at Northwestern uniwhen persons have the opportunity to cultivate the habit and do not."

Architectural Forum Predicts vested interests. Total May Reach Up To Six Billions

If the present development in the United States keeps up during the balance of 1926 this will prove another six billion dollar building year according to the estimates of leading real estate men and architects.

The Architectural Forum recently predicted that the total amount of building would reach this figure, after making a very careful survey of the situation.

Approximately 778,000 new buildings will be added to the asset of the nation during the coming year, the Formu's study indicates. The classification of this new construction is estimated to be about as follows: New apartment buildings, large and small, 28,950; apartment hotels, 1,240; Communism is steadily at work not dwellings of a cost under $10,000, including farm dwellings, 193,000; dwellings of a cost over $10,000, 598,000; industrial buildings, large and small, "As evidence of the well financed, 9,782; office buildings, 3,074; schools, condition of the Moscow controlled 3,898; stores, 7.482; and private garages, 274,000.
