

NEW BANK PLANNED AT HUBBARD WOODS

WITH CAPITAL OF $50,000.00

Site Purchased and Plans Are Under Way For Fine Building; Backers Are Men of Prominence

Hubbard Woods, one of the most rapidly growing sections on the entire north shore, is to have a new bank. The site has been purchased, a fifty foot frontage immediately south of the real estate office of Frank A. Reid at 954 Linden avenue. Ground will be broken next week and the structure rushed to an early completion, by the latter part of August or the first of September, it is said.

The building will be of brick, one story high and especially designed for the modern, up-to-date bank which it is to house.

Capitalized at $50,000
The name of the new bank will be the Hubbard Woods Trust and Savings bank, capitalized at $50,000 and with a surplus of $12,500. The stock has all been subscribed and the charter issued. The business activities on Linden avenue which have been so pronounced and continuous for the past several months is thus given its greater impetus. Business vacant in this particular section of Hubbard Woods has more than trebled in value, in recent months, it is said. The sale of the lot on which the new bank is to be erected was negotiated through the real estate firm of Frank A. Reid.

Prominent Backers

The officers of the new bank will be announced later. Prominent among the men who are back of its organization are Markman B. Orde, August Ziesing, Walter J. McGuire and John Jeffrey, all of Glencoe and William T. Bacon, Calvin Fentress and F. E. Bartelme, of Winnetka.

HOTEL TELEPHONE IS NOT PUBLIC SERVICE

At Least Does Not Come Under Jurisdiction of Commission; Opinion

Hotels which make a service charge to guests for the use of telephone from rooms to outside points, are not public utilities and therefore are not under the jurisdiction of the Commerce Commission, Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom has informed William J. Smith, Illinois Commerce commissioner, in an opinion.

Carlstrom cites the Public Utilities act which provides, in part, that the term "public utility" includes all companies that control, or operate for public use property for transmission of telephone messages within this state. He then cites a supreme court decision which holds that to constitute public use it is necessary that all persons have an equal right to the use and such use must not be confined to specific privileged persons. The opinion states: "It seems clear that telephones placed in the rooms of hotels are for the use of specific privileged persons, namely, the guests or patrons of such hotels and therefore such hotels would not be public utilities within the purview of the act."

MERCHANTS WARNED OF CLEVER FORGER

North Shore Police Get Report on Operations of Smooth Crook; Details

Warning for the merchants of Lake county to beware of a clever check forger who has operated in several Illinois cities and whom, it is thought, may visit here at any time, was received by the North Shore police today from the Department of Justice, at Chicago.

The swindler, it is pointed out, represents himself to be a deputy collector of internal revenue, and under that pretext has succeeded in cashing many worthless checks.

He is described as follows:
Age—29 to 35 years.
Height—5 feet 6 to 8 inches.
Weight—155 to 175 pounds.

He has an extremely prominent nose, dark hair, dark eyes, dark complexion and smooth features. He carries a black brief bag containing income tax blanks, is a convincing talker, very intelligent, and is familiar with income tax procedure.

His plan is to call on merchants in small cities, and inform them that he has been sent to check their income tax schedules for the previous year. He usually has a lengthy talk on income tax matters and then complains about his auto. This paves the way for asking that the merchant cash a check for him. These checks range in size from $15 to $50. He also wears a bronze badge bearing an inscription "Internal Revenue." In some cases he makes a small purchase and then presents one of the bogus checks.

Invariably these checks are made out to him as deputy collector of internal revenue. He informs the merchant that he has selected for a victim that the check was made out in payment of income tax and says he has a right to cash a limited number of them to defray his expenses.

LAKE RESORTS SEE BIG SEASON COMING

Managers of Playgrounds About Lake County Lakes Optimistic Just Now

Owners of hotels and resorts on the lakes in the western part of the county, the haven of thousands of city dwellers during the hot month of the year, are predicting a banner season at the lakes this year as the first indications are making themselves apparent.

As a starter last Sunday many of the resorts, just barely opened, entertained crowds as large as any they had two years ago, and larger than any they had this early in the season last year.

According to one resort owner on Fox Lake, L. C. Deproit of the Point Comfort Inn on Fox Lake, and Geo. P. Renchan, owner of the Avon Park hotel at Round Lake, the waters are at normal level this season, fishing promises to be good, better than last year, and the roads leading to the resorts are in better shape so that it looks like a banner year for the pleasure seekers who will invade the lakes on the first semblance of a summer day.

As yet the swimmers have not started to take the water daily and not until after June 15 will the season be open for all of the fish, but from present indications, Lake county will enjoy a summer resort popularity this season that has been missing since 1918.

Logan, superintendent of schools at Hardin, Montana, has been unanimously elected as assistant superintendent of Winnetka schools and principal of the Skokie school to fill the vacancy left by Willard W. He then went to Hardin, where he has been superintendent of schools for the past seven years. There he has 3,600 square miles of territory in his district, with a population somewhat smaller than that of Winnetka.

WEATHER IN APRIL COOLEST IN YEARS

LOW AVERAGE SINCE 1907

Only Twice In Forty-Eight Years In Illinois Has Fourth Month of Year Been Cooler Than That of 1926

Only twice in the 48 years since state wide weather records were inaugurated has Illinois had a cooler April, according to the weather summary for the last month issued by W. F. Feldwisch, meteorologist of the United States weather bureau.

This extreme coolness was in direct contrast to this month a year ago, when it was unusually warm, he said. The average temperature for the state this year was the lowest for April since 1907.

"This last month," Mr. Feldwisch continued, "was unique also in the recorded snowfall, which at numerous stations as well as in the average fall for the state exceeded all previous records. Traffic was delayed over a large area by the heavy storm with which the month opened, and highways were practically blocked by drifts at many points until the third or later. In some places the drifts did not disappear until after the middle of the month.

Vegetation Dormant
"With temperature during the first two decades of April far below normal, following an unusually cold March, vegetation remained almost dormant until late in the month. While ground was too wet for field work the first week or 10 days, fairly good progress was made later, though temporary interruptions continued. At the end of the month some corn remained to be sown, very little corn had been planted, though plowing was making good progress, and fruit trees were coming into bloom well northward into the central division.

"Killing frosts or freezing temperature occurred over a large portion of the state on a number of days, and as late as the twenty-sixth, but owing to the lateness of the season there was probably little damage. On the twenty-second hail, over a limited area in the Cairo drainage district, caused damage estimated at $100 to truck and to hothed and window panes. Minor scattered wind damage occurred to outbuildings, wires, poles and trees during the passage of a marked low pressure area on the twenty-fourth which was accompanied by general thunderstorm conditions. No local storm damage was reported in Illinois from February 24 to April 23, a period of two months.

"Aurora borealis displays were seen the thirteenth, fourteenth, fifteenth and sixteenth. The Wabash and the Illinois rivers, with some tributaries passed flood stage early in the month causing delay in planting and some damage to crops in lowlands."
