NEW SKOKIE VALLEY LINE IN OPERATION

intermediate points will be reduced materially and the great amount of north shore property "west of the lake" will be opened up for settlement.

Britton I. Budd, Samuel Insull's chief transportation expert, spent five years acquiring the 135 to 200 foot right of way and eventually the Skokie route will be extended still farther north, probably to a point near Waukegan.

Cost Company $10,000,000

The Skokie branch, including the Niles Center extension, cost the North Shore about $10,000,000 and the investment will have to be carried for a time until the countryside begins to fill up. That it will fill quickly is looked upon as certain. Light and power are available and water is plentiful. Fresh water springs are numerous and any one who has sufficient property may have an artificial lake. In order to get earth for a fill the railroad dug one for Mr. Insull on his estate; another artificial lake is a sparkling sheet at St. Mary's seminary to which attendants at the Eucharistic congress will go.

The seventeen stations of the Skokie route in principle are a little bit of Europe, for the station agent and his family, if he has one, will live in the station. The quarters provided for him will be the envy of many commuters for the stations are attractive as well as roomy.

Trains are capable of 95 miles an hour on the new route, Mr. Budd said, but they will not be operated as fast as that. The operators, however, do expect to continue taking nicks out of the running time of the through-route trains. Mr. Insull said the prosperous condition of the railroad is due to building up of through-route business, of which there was little when the Insull management was asked to save the capital invested.

BANKERS TO ATTEND STATE CONVENTION

J. M. Appel and Charles F. Grant Will Represent State Bank

J. M. Appel, president, and Charles F. Grant, cashier, of the Highland Park State bank will represent their organization there when some 1,000 bankers from all over Illinois will gather in Springfield for the seventh time in the history of the organization on Thursday and Friday, June 17-18 for the thirty-sixth annual convention of the Illinois Bankers association. Lending force and vigor to the two-day program will be such notables as Oscar Wells, president of the American Bankers association; Craig B. Hazelwood, Union Trust Co., Chicago; Oscar E. Carlstrom, attorney general for Illinois; George D. Wham, dean of the faculty of the Southern Illinois Normal university at Carbondale; Henry A. E. Chandler, economist, of the National Bank of Commerce, New York, and a number of others.

The bankers at a luncheon of the Mid-Day club of Springfield are to hear an address by Tsuneo Matsudaira, Japanese ambassador to the United States.

An unique feature June 17 will be the appearance of the Chadwick, Carroll county, Town Guard members who fought a victory over five gunmen, escaping from Clinton, Ia., on February 9 last. These men have been lionized everywhere since their heroic action.

Charles W. Boyden, vice-president of the Farmers State bank of Sheffield, president of the Illinois Bankers association, will preside.

Entertainment in large quantities has been planned by the Springfield committee for both the men and women of the convention. The annual informal ball will take place in the new Abraham Lincoln hotel where the convention sessions are to be held. A pilgrimage to the tomb of the martyred Lincoln, golf, bridge, luncheons and various other "lighter moments" are on schedule for the women.

Capt. Irving O'Hay will speak at the dinner on the night of June 17 on "Life and Laughter."
