

PHEASANT EGGS ARE WIDELY DISTRIBUTED

More Than 50,000 Shipped to Farmers of Illinois This Season

The last shipments of pheasant eggs for this year were made recently according to a statement issued by William J. Stratton, director of the state department of Conservation.

On March 9 of this year Mr. Stratton announced through the newspapers of the state that 50,000 pheasant eggs were to be distributed to farmers and sportsmen who wrote for them.

More than nine thousand letters from all sections of the state were received. The requests far outnumbered the supply of eggs already bought. Mr. Stratton made every effort to meet the demand by ordering all the eggs that could be secured from every available game farm in the United States.

The exact number shipped is not yet known, but it runs well above the fifty thousand originally allowed for distribution. In spite of this there are still some requests which can not be filled this year.

Mr. Stratton today is sending a letter to each person whose request was received too late to be filled. This letter explains that no applications for eggs for delivery in 1927 will be accepted until those left over from this year have been filled.

According to reports from many commercial game farms the production of game bird eggs was unusually light this year. The laying season was shortened more than four weeks by the cold weather in April and the early part of May.

If plans now being developed are successful, Illinois will not be dependent upon commercial game farms next year. There are now on the state game farm at Yorkville considerably more than a thousand birds that will be producers in 1927. Several additional game farms are also being planned as part of the conservation program for this year.

The purchase and maintenance of these farms as well as the cost of the pheasant eggs and adult quail already distributed and paid for by the sportsmen through hunting licenses without aid from direct taxes.

ILLINOIS LEADING IN PHI BETA CLASS

Illinois leads all states in the Union with regard to its quota of Phi Beta Kappa students, according to a study just completed by Assistant Dean Wendell S. Brooks of the College of Liberal Arts of Northwestern University. Dean Brooks made inquiries in 21 states and in Ontario, and found that 132 schools were sending some of their best scholars to Northwestern to become the cream of the academic world in that sector of learning.

Illinois contributed 65 Phi Beta Kappas and Michigan was second with 13 while Iowa came third with 10. Indiana contributed seven to the learned society and Missouri seven; then came Wisconsin with 6 and the rest were scattered among many states.

Dean Brooks does not say that because more Phi Beta Kappas at Northwestern hail from Illinois that Illinois is the brainiest state in the nation but intimates that as she leads, one may safely draw a conclusion something like that since to become a member of Phi Beta Kappa at Northwestern, a student must have four excellent years crowned each and every semester with marks between 90 and a perfect 100. Therefore, from the standpoint of quality alone Illinois thus far leads the procession at Northwestern University, he states.

MENUS FOR CANARY SHOULD BE VARIED

In addition to a seed supply, lettuce or a bit of apple should be placed between the wires of the canary cage frequently. Where practicable, this menu may be varied by the addition of chickweed, dandelion heads, thistle and plantain seeds, and the fruiting heads and tender leaves of senecio and shepherd's purse. Watercress, wild oats, knot grass, and other grasses are relished, especially in spring and early in summer.

Bread moistened in scalded milk, given cold at intervals, is beneficial. Soft foods should not be too wet. Supplies of moist foods must be kept strictly fresh and clean or sickness may result. It is advisable to keep cuttle bone available at all times.

MUST HAVE LICENSE PLATES IN INDIANA

Unless Driver Displays Them in That State He May Be Arrested

Attorneys for the Chicago Motor Club in Indiana report within the past few weeks a number of Illinois motorists have been arrested for failure to display license plates. In each case, the attorneys report, the motorist had purchased his car a few days before the arrest, and had made application for plates in the way prescribed by the law in Illinois. This, however, is not sufficient in Indiana. The Indiana legislature in 1925 passed a new act regulating automobiles, in which it is provided that "a non resident shall not be deemed to have complied with the law of the state of which he is a resident unless regulation metal license plates issued by the proper authorities of the state are properly displayed."

"In other words," say the club attorneys "unless a motorist displays a metal license plate in Indiana, he is liable to be picked up. A bill of sale or license applied for in his own state is not sufficient."

Burglars at about 2 o'clock in the morning of Aug. 12 broke into and robbed three different buildings in the town of Round Lake, escaping with about $500 in cash and postage stamps.

Plans are being perfected to make the Libertyville Juvenile Club and Community Fair, to be held in Central and Cook Parks on Saturday, Aug. 28, one of the outstanding social events during the year in the village.

Suit for $10,000 damages has been started in circuit court against the St. Paul railroad by Mrs. Martha Carolan, Deerfield, widow of John J. Carolan, Deerfield, who was killed on the St. Paul crossing at Deerfield, March 28.

Kenneth Mooney, of Libertyville, suffered slight injuries about the face when he was forced to drive into the ditch to avoid hitting another machine last week. The accident happened on West Grand avenue near Spaulding's corners.

100 happy kids were taken to Ravinia a couple of weeks ago by Sally Joy Brown of the Chicago Tribune. They went on the North Shore Line, and here's what Sally Joy Brown, writing in the Tribune, said of the trip: "What a ride it was, and how we enjoyed it! We couldn't keep up with all the sights every one pointed out as the train whisked us northward, and I'm sure we'd have been glad to ride all day, it was so much fun. But the train was even faster than we thought, and before we knew it the conductor told us we were there." Writing about the Ravinia program, Miss Brown said, "Just as it was with the train ride, about the time we were wishing it would last forever it was over and it was time to come home. There was one comfort, though; we still had one more great train ride to enjoy; so we were happy as we filed into the North Shore cars and the train pulled out."
