MEMORIAL HONORS OF CONSTITUTION

PLANNED IN WASHINGTON

New and Beautiful Auditorium To Be Built for D. A. R. as Testimonial of Faith in U. S.

Local members of the D. A. R. and other women's organizations will be interested in the story of the proposed new Constitution hall and its significance in the current issue of the National Republic written by Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, former president of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The hall is to be built in Washington as a monument to the cornerstone of our republic. In explaining its patriotic conception Mrs. Cook says:

"Most appropriate, indeed, is the name selected for the beautiful new auditorium of the Daughters of the American Revolution in Washington—Constitution hall.

"This edifice is to stand as an enduring testimonial of the faith of the Daughters of the American Revolution in the soundness, virtue and essential completeness of the federal Constitution.

"Constitution hall is intended to serve as the eternal protest of the patriotic attacks on the federal Constitution. The Constitution is the direct result of the War for Independence written into organic law—the charter of American liberties. It came into existence after bitter experience had proved the futility, and potential tragedy of loose confederation. Based upon careful adaptations from the state constitutions then in fairly successful function, the conferees of the constitutional convention evolved a system of balances and checks that mark the American Constitution as without a peer among the state papers of all time.

"Against the Constitution tempests of political strife, emotion and passion have beaten in vain. It has withstood every test of time and circumstance. Its principles should be held inviolate. Such modifications and expansions of it as the growth of the nation and the natural evolution of our system of government make necessary should be framed in harmony with the spirit of the original. It should be jealously guarded against radical attacks and attempts at subversion of its fundamentals, the inherent constituents of this great instrument of republican government.

"It is desired, too, that Constitution hall should symbolize the belief of the Daughters of the American Revolution that we have not outgrown the Constitution; that it is neither archaic nor outworn. May that stately edifice impress upon all who look upon it the conviction that the federal Constitution, notwithstanding all the good it has accomplished as an exemplar of free institutions, has not served its full purpose in the world; that it has yet before it a far and a fair goal, to be attained not by frequent change and amendment but through steadfast adherence to the principles laid down by its framers."

LAYS DOWN RULES IN TRAINING CHILDREN

Harlan C. Hines, psychologist and professor of education at the University of Cincinnati, criticises current education tendencies severely in an article in the September Scribner's Magazine, and lays down rules for the training of children.

Let the child know definitely what is expected of him.

Do not threaten with punishment unless you are willing to administer it should it be needed.

Make the "punishment fit the crime" by making it meet the needs of the particular child in so far as these may be determined.

Act immediately after the misdemeanor has been committed, but never in anger.

See that the child understands why he is being corrected.

Impress upon the child that the presence of low standards in others does not justify their imitation.

If a misdemeanor once corrected has been repeated be consistent in repetition of correction.

Formulate rules that must be obeyed in order that the child may take his rightful place in the social world about him.

Insist on obedience; persist in securing it.

WARNING AGAINST RIDE "MOOCHERS"

SHOULD BE DISCOURAGED

Chicago Motor Club Bulletin Points Out Dangers and Quotes Law Placing Liability

The accident prevention department of the Chicago Motor club has issued a bulletin warning motorists against encouraging ride mooching on the part of children and so-called hikers who walk only far enough to pick up a ride. "Knights of the knapsack have become numerous this year," says the bulletin, "but interviews with many of these cross-country walkers disclose the fact that it is not uncommon for a 'hiker' to ride across the country in cars of friendly motorists. The motorist should discourage this practice.

Mooching of Rides

With the reopening of school ride mooching on the part of school boys will increase. Any day now groups of boys, many of them of tender age, will be seen milling around in the midst of traffic, holding up an appealing hand to passing motorists. Success makes the boys bolder and they step out almost to the center of the street. Grim tragedy frequently follows because some boy has not been warned about ride mooching, and because some motorist could not see the harm in giving a boy a lift. Then too, few motorists realize the liability they incur when they invite a person to ride as their guests. It sometimes happens that motorists who have felt that it would be selfish to deny a plea for a ride have paid dearly for their beneficence.

Court Ruling

"Our courts have held that the operator of a car who invites another to ride with him is bound to exercise reasonable care for the safety of his guest, and if, through the driver's negligence, a guest who exercises due care is injured, the driver is liable for damages. If a motorist is the unfortunate victim of a collision in which a boy is hurt, or if the boy is injured through jumping off the car before it has stopped, or if he trips and falls while getting off the running board, it may be possible that the motorist will be forced to compensate him.

"It is true that if some of these cases are contested there is a chance of winning, but litigation is uncertain and expensive, and in most cases an attempt is made at settlement in order to obtain release from further liability."

Have you an Oiling Problem? Talk it over with the Sinclair Dealers.

THEY are friends indeed—these men who sell Sinclair Oils or drive the Sinclair Truck in your neighborhood. They would like to talk with you about oil—and how to get the most out of it.

Maybe your tractor did not work just right. Maybe your automobile is not running as smoothly as it should. Maybe your truck engine is not giving you its full power. Talk it over with the Sinclair oilmen. Next time you see the Sinclair Truck coming down the road ask the driver to stop. Remember, he is not just a salesman. He knows oil and knows how to recommend the right oil for your tractor, car and truck. He is able to talk with you about oil—and is more than willing to do so. Let him give you a copy of "OILING"—Sinclair's new help-booklet for motorists.
