THIRD OF SERIES OF LECTURES OCTOBER 27

Ancient Palestine Portrayed in Illustrated Talk; "The Sea of Galilee"

Wednesday, October 27, the third of a series of Pathe pictures will be shown in the Presbyterian church, 8 o'clock. Rev. Frank Fitt is giving a series of lectures on "The Everlasting Man" in eight portraits of Jesus Christ from the New Testament. We sometimes forget that the Bible is the outpouring of the literature and history and religion of an Oriental race. The profound difference between the Oriental and the Occidental viewpoint must be understood, if we are to know the truest meaning of much of the Bible. To have seen the streets and homes of the people who wrote this book, makes it so real and vivid the words of Christ, the teachings and stories of the Bible. These pictures bring to us, ancient Palestine, its natives and their customs, together with the very places, ever to be remembered because of their association with the famous personages of the Bible. "The Sea of Galilee—Scenes of Christ's Early Ministry" will be shown next Wednesday night.

HALLOWEEN PARTY AT HIGH SCHOOL

Plans are under way for the annual high school Halloween party on Saturday evening, October 30, to be given by the senior class. The party will be a masquerade and refreshments will be served by the seniors. Elma Benson and Milton Wright are in charge. At a meeting of the interschool social committee with the faculty committee on Thursday, October 14, the social fund was budgeted and a part set aside for any expense that might be contracted from any all-school party during the year.

PARK DEVELOPMENT TOPIC OF ADDRESS

road level will have to be separated from that of the street and the question arises as to whether this separation should be by elevation or depression. If no preference is expressed by the citizens, the answer will be elevation with its accompanying unsightly banks or walls, noisy trains clattering overhead and disastrous division of the community into two parts.

In Winnetka and Glencoe, where the citizens have interested themselves in this matter the railroads have agreed that when the time comes to make a change it will be by depression. The streets will be carried over by slightly raised bridges which will give graceful curves and the whole effect will be very pleasing. Where the community owns the adjoining property the down slopes can be made very gradual which will give an added touch of beauty.

Jens Jensen Talks In the discussion that followed the talk, Mr. Jens Jensen was asked to state his views. In his usual inspiring way he pointed out that in this business of community planning, one must look ahead for many years. Five hundred years is not too long to plan for and the immediate cost is slight compared to the effort such planning will have on the value of the property and the joy of living in the community in the far future. He said that when the North Shore towns are built up solidly as they will be in an incredibly short time, the depressed railroads and the accompanying parks on either side would be like a green river flowing through the towns.

Favors Bridging Ravines Mr. Jensen called attention to another important point in the park question, that is the bridging of the ravines. He said, "This locality is unique in that it has natural ravines. Where there are ravines there must be bridges and that means that people passing over them get the thrill of the unexpected in gazing into the depths of the ravine. Consequently people will come to get that thrill. If the ravines are filled in, the roads over them are exactly like the roads in any flat country and the natural beauty of the locality has been destroyed."

The club members felt that Mr. Booth's talk was so valuable that all Ravinia citizens should have the opportunity of hearing it. Accordingly a resolution was passed to ask the Ravinia commission to hold an evening meeting before which Mr. Booth should be asked to speak. Oppose "Wet" Referendum During the business meeting, a resolution was adopted in accordance with a request from the prohibition law enforcement committee of the Chicago "Woman's" club, to advise the electors at the November election to vote "no" on the "wet" referendum. The program closed with a musical number, Maud Brouillette sang "There is One, Only One for Me," a beautiful new song by Betty Martin, a resident of Ravinia, which has been recently published by Lyon and Healy.

Miss Keller will be in the kindergarten room.

BOYS DO DAMAGE TO UNOCCUPIED HOUSES

Malicious Mischief May Result in Holding Parents; Many Complaints

Complaints have come to both the police department and the Highland Park Press regarding the extensive damage which has been done by boys entering vacant houses of late in this city. In several instances windows have been broken, electric light bulbs smashed and electric fixtures torn down and other damage done. This all comes under the category of malicious mischief in legal phraseology, and the penalty for it is a stiff one. Property owners who have suffered these depredations are becoming impatient and issue warning that hereafter in all such cases they will hold the parents of the boys liable for all damage done in this way. It is not difficult to fix the responsibility in most instances, so this warning should be sufficient. If it is not, prosecution may serve to stop the misdirected activity.

The funeral was held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Hill home, the Rev. Rohrbach of the Winnetka Swedish Lutheran church officiating. Miss Millie Brown sang. Burial was in Memorial Park cemetery.

CROPS DAMAGED BY COMMON BARBERRY

CAMPAIGN IN LAKE CO.

Thousands of These Shrubs are Removed Recently by U. S. Agents; Harbor Detrital Fungus

Grain thieves that have stolen millions of bushels of wheat, oats, barley and rye from Illinois farmers this season have been found hidden in bushes on millionaires' estates along the north shore, in Lake county. Scientists call these thieves black stem thieves, but they are as truly thieves as the man who goes into the farmer's barnyard in the middle of the night, loads his wagon from a crib of corn, or bin of wheat, and drives away.

Fungus Growth Deadly

The black stem fungus which attacks small grains must live on the common barberry bush for a short time. Lake county has more of these undesirable bushes than any other county in the thirteen north central states where federal government officials are campaigning against the pest and destroying the common barberry in order to stamp out black stem rust, which has caused a loss of 20,000,000 bushels of oats alone in Illinois, according to rough estimates of farm advisers.

Approximately 30,000 barberry bushes have been removed and destroyed in Lake county this year by official workers, according to John L. Richardson, field agent for the United States department of agriculture. Practically all of them were found in Libertyville township by men working around Lake Forest and Waukegan. Owners of homes, estates, and farms are co-operating with the workers in getting rid of the bushes to destroy the rust pest and thus save the crops of northern Illinois. In the rural district near Waukegan barberry was found on almost every farm this year.

Find Thousands of Seedlings

Mr. Richardson says that along the densely wooded slopes and bluffs of Lake Michigan in Lake Forest scouts have found thousands of small barberry seedlings. In a few years these seedlings would have developed into mature bushes. It has been necessary to inspect every foot of ground for miles along the lake shore as far north as Waukegan.

Practically all the barberry seedlings and bushes in Lake county have been started by birds. They eat the fruit of the barberry and then scatter the seeds for great distances. Many big fruiting common barberry bushes were found on estates in Lake Forest.

There already has been used in Lake county three carloads of crushed rock salt in killing the common barberry bushes. The salt is sprinkled around the crown of the bush. If there is other vegetation growing nearby the salt cannot be applied. In cases of this kind the bushes are dug out by the roots.

Much of the rust damage in northern Illinois to wheat and oats can be traced to the presence of the great number of barberries in Lake county and surrounding territory.

Germany agrees to pay France $500,000,000 cash for evacuation of the Rhineland, and the return of the Saar and a couple of cities. That is, providing the money can be raised in the United States. We knew there was a catch in it somewhere.

THEATRE GUILD WILL PRESENT FOUR PLAYS

Plays for the coming season include "June and the Paycock" by Sean O'Casey, "Easy Virtue" by Noel Coward and A. A. Milnes "Ariadne." For one or another of the foregoing "The Pleasure of Honesty" by Pirandello, Kearney's "A Man's Man" or Destorovskis "The Brothers Karamazoff" may be substituted. The purpose of this organization is to produce new and interesting plays not likely to be seen professionally in the vicinity, and to make known by way of revivals, standard and favorite plays. Their work has always stood for the maintenance of the best in drama. The Theatre Guild committee in Highland Park wants for these performances a large and appreciative audience. The spectators play an indispensable part in the life of the guild. Good audiences co-operate with actors to assure worth-while productions. Last year the membership in Highland Park was filled to the limit of seating capacity at the Woman's club auditorium. There will be some vacancies due to removals from town and other causes. Those vacancies it is the duty of the committee to fill and for this purpose the following are at work:

Mrs. Arthur Byfield, Miss Zoe Comer, Mrs. Moses Eisenstadt, Mrs. Alexander O. Mason, Mrs. O. L. Olson, Miss Edith Phillips, Mrs. W. C. Shines, Mrs. David R. Thomas, Mrs. Allan Wolf, Mrs. R.
