"PRINCE AND PAUPER" HERE NEXT SATURDAY

Evanston Children's Theatre Presents Play at Elm Place School November 20

Because the Prince of Wales wanted to know what it felt like to wear rags, a prince and a pauper once changed places in life, and the thrilling adventures which resulted have been made into one of the most fascinating of children's stories by Mark Twain. Moreover, "The Prince and the Pauper," full of dramatic interest and suspense, makes such a delightful play that it has been used with great success on the professional stage by William Faversham, and in the movies with Marguerite Clark as star.

The Evanston Children's Theatre, which is to present this play at Elm Place school auditorium on Saturday afternoon, combines in its choice of plays the popular and the worth while. "Robin Hood," "Snow White," "Ali Baba," and "The Little Princess" last year drew crowds of children of all ages, as well as hundreds of grown-ups, and the three performances of "The Prince and the Pauper" this season have proved just as popular.

In some productions the twin roles of the prince and the pauper have been played by one person, but in the Evanston production they are played by two young boys from the dramatic department of the Intermediate school. This makes it possible to have the highly dramatic coronation scene in Westminster Abbey, where the two boys confront each other and the rightful prince claims his crown. The two other children in the cast are played by little girls from the public schools also, and the twenty-six adult parts are taken by some of the best players in the dramatic department of the Northwestern University School of Speech.

The cast comes here from Rogers Park, where they play Friday evening in the Armstrong school auditorium, a community center.

DEDICATE GRIDIRON WITH FINE VICTORY

DEERFIELD 20; NEW TRIER 0

Exercises Formally Opening New Grounds Precede Game; Big Crowd; Alumni Dinner and Dance

Deerfield-Shields high school football team in their final game of the season dedicated their new athletic field with a victory over their old rival, New Trier. The score was 20 to 0. The day's proceedings began with the formal dedication ceremonies preceding the game and ended with the Alumni dinner and dance at the school in the evening.

The attendance at the game was one of the largest crowds in the history of football here. New Trier brought its band and a large bunch of rooters and Deerfield fans turned out in great numbers, despite rainy weather and a high south wind. The high school band led the Deerfield rooters throughout the game.

Dedication Exercises President William Reay of the board of education presided at the dedication exercises. Mayor Hastings delivered the principal address. Other speakers were Wallace McIlwain, an alumnus and head of one of the largest engineering concerns in the country; Miss Helen Carr, president of the D. G. A.; Junior Cope of the football team and Mr. McBride of the board of education.

The game followed and the fans were overjoyed at the result. In the evening the annual Alumni dinner and dance occurred. The features of the game by quarters are given as follows:

New Trier fought hard, they were not able to keep Baker from crashing over for a touchdown soon after the game started. "Moon" Stipe kicked goal.

After the first touchdown New Trier braced up and the game was more evenly fought.

TO GIVE "YOU AND I" AT HIGH SCHOOL DEC. 3

Cast Working Hard; Tickets to Go on Sale November 22; Cast Has Supper

Tickets to Philip Barry's play "You and I," directed by Miss Zoe Comer, which is to be given in the high school auditorium Friday evening, Dec. 3, are to go on sale Monday, Nov. 22 in Gsell's drug store in Highland Park, in Kraft's drug store in Lake Forest and in the auditorium box office. Seat reservations may be made, at the box office only, but must be paid for before Tuesday, Nov. 30, or the tickets will be sold regardless of the reservation.

All scenery for the play is being built in the school shops under the direction of Mr. Robert Schneider. Certain of the students from the machine shop classes with the Garrick workshop are rebuilding the scenery which was purchased and built last year and are building new scenery for the second and third acts of the play.

That the cast has been hard at work is evidenced by the fact that they rehearsed all last Thursday afternoon and evening, stopping only for a half hour to eat a hot supper which was secured through the kindness of the Howard-Udell cafeteria in Highland Park. Another of these dinners will probably be given in the near future. The play itself tells the story of a prosperous soap-manufacturer who suddenly severs his business connections and takes up painting in the attic of his Long Island home. Financial and other complications arise but all these are overcome at the end of the play. "For those who don't mind taking their brains to the theater with them, it can be recommended unreservedly," says the Chicago Tribune.

HOSPITAL ANNUAL MEETING IS HELD

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

Reports of Year Show Notable Work Being Done; Give Figures for the Various Departments

The annual meeting of the Highland Park hospital association was held at the city hall Tuesday evening. Officers were elected for the ensuing year and reports of the progress of the hospital during the past year were presented showing something of the great benevolent work which this institution is doing in the community for the alleviation of suffering and the perusal of these reports, which are given herewith, undoubtedly will result in increased liberal support for this splendid local hospital.

Officers and Managers The following officers and managers were elected: Officers: Sellar Bullard, president; Everett L. Millard, vice-president; Carl G. Bingham, treasurer; Thomas Creigh, secretary; Richard Churchill, assistant secretary and treasurer.

Board of Managers: term expiring 1927: Walter H. Baldwin, George A. Pick; Carl G. Bingham; term expiring 1928: Donald S. Boynton, Thomas Creigh, C. M. Vall; term expiring 1929: R. S. Churchill, Everett L. Millard, Sellar Bullard.

Advisory Board: Mrs. Ferdinand Wiegand, Samuel M. Hastings, Geo. A. Schofield, Fred A. Watkins, Geo. W. Rossetter.

President's Report Following is the report of the president:

On Aug. 31st, the Highland Park hospital completed its eighth year. On July 19, 1918, its doors were first opened and it is interesting to compare the number of patients admitted and other data for the twelve months just past, with the year before and the first year of operation as follows:

Patient admitted in 1926, 1234; in 1925, 1025; in 1919, 503. Patient days in 1926 11,141; in 1925, 8,840; in 1919, 4,146. Daily average patients, in 1926, 31; in 1925, 24; in 1919, 11.

The 1234 patients were divided as follows: surgical 598, medical 226, obstetrical 205, babies 205, and were taken care of by 41 doctors.

These figures show that the institution has greatly increased in its service to the community in the last eight years. This growth, however, has not been attained with ease, but with effort and self-sacrifice on the part of many, particularly typified by Miss Elizabeth Thomas. In her death the hospital sustained a great loss, for although she had been its superintendent for little more than a year, she had endeavored herself to all and greatly extended the sphere of usefulness of the institution through her untiring devotion to those who were sick or in trouble.

The hospital is operated not for profit, but for the benefit of the community. (Continued on page 7)

ANNOUNCE SUBJECT FOR SUNDAY EVENING CLUB

"Canterbury and Some Other English Cathedrals" In Illustrated Talk

"Canterbury and Some Other English Cathedrals" is the subject of an illustrated lecture to be given by the Reverend Herbert W. Prince at the Sunday Evening club on November 21. The careful study of the abbeys of England made by Reverend Prince, who is the rector of Lake Forest Trinity church, and his splendid collection of pictures have caused his lectures to be much in demand. They are both entertaining and informative. The Sunday Evening club invites any resident of Highland Park or Lake Forest to meet with them at seven-thirty in the Highland Park Woman's club.

Last Sunday evening the Sunday Evening club listened to a description of the League of Nations at work by David Maynard who was associated with the economic survey made by the league for the September assembly.

HOLIDAY NEXT WEEK

Because of the Thanksgiving holiday next Thursday, all advertising and news copy for the Highland Park Press must be in this office a day earlier than usual, in order to avoid being omitted from next week's paper. The holiday shortens the week by one day, and comes at the peak of the week's production in a weekly newspaper office. Hence the necessity of getting in copy as early as possible in the week. All who have news or advertising for next week's paper are urged to keep this in mind.

Scouts and Dads To Dine Friday Night; Gen. Lenihan Guest

Friday night, Nov. 19, in the high school cafeteria, will be held the second annual boy scout dad and son dinner. The program committee assures the scouts and their dads that the dinner and program this year will be both bigger and better than last year. The plans call for dinner being served at seven o'clock sharp, and being followed by a program of scouting that will interest and hold the attention of every one present.

The high point of interest will center around the presentation of three eagle scout badges to scouts who have in the last month completed the work necessary for the highest honor or that it is possible for a scout to earn. These three scouts Edward Loewenstein, of troop I, and Charles Marks and Oscar Goeper of troop V, are scouts that Highland Park and the North Shore council, have real reason to be proud of. They are leaders in their troops, show the finest sort of scout co-operation, in every scout activity in which they take part, and even better than that, they carry the scout law and scout oath into their everyday life. The award will be made by the new scout commissioner, Rev. George Sherman Keller, who will also preside at the dinner as chairman.

Mr. Snite, the new president of the council, will also be present, as will be many members of the council. The council is specially honored in having two of the men present at the dinner who are sponsoring a new troop at Fort Sheridan and at the same time of welcoming them to membership on the council. General Lenihan, commander of the Sixth Corps area, and of Fort Sheridan, and Col. Miles of Fort Sheridan, are deeply interested in scouting and will be a very valuable addition to the council.

The balance of the program will be an exhibition immediately following the dinner Friday evening. Everyone interested in the boy scouts and in the boys of Highland Park and the North Shore town are cordially invited to attend. Tickets may be purchased in advance at the boy scout office in the Highland Park library building or at the door Friday evening.

WAR MEMORIAL IS PRESENTED TO CITY

CEREMONIES LAST SUNDAY

Large Attendance Despite Bad Weather; Children March With Flowers; Talks Other Notes

Dedication of Highland Park's handsome memorial to local participants in the World War took place last Sunday afternoon before an assemblage of fully 2,000 people, whose attendance despite the inclement weather, indicated the widespread interest in the event for which the committee in charge had been working hard for many months.

Children Participate The program of exercises was carried out as scheduled, beginning with a parade including school children numbering 363, equal to the number of names on the tablet of the memorial and including 12 who represented the Gold Star names. Each child carried flowers and deposited them later upon the monument at Memorial park at Laurel and Prospect avenues. Following the singing of "America," Mrs. John F. Mackenzie, chairman of the executive committee, made the address donating the memorial to the city, as follows:

Mrs. Mackenzie's Address "Your Honor and Commissioners of the City of Highland Park:

"More than two years ago a woman with a very big personality insisted that Highland Park have a War Memorial, something beautiful to be an everlasting monument to the men and women of this community who served in the great war. That woman was Mrs. Daniel Cobb, president of the Osoli club. Due to Mrs. Cobb, a chairman was appointed by the Osoli to consider plans for a War Memorial and later the present executive committee of the Highland Park War Memorial was appointed by a joint meeting of all city organizations at the City hall.

"That committee has been at work ever since and was fortunate in having the present design submitted by one of its own citizens, a man who loved his home town enough to want to do something for it, James Cady Ewell of Ravinia.

"The work has gone steadily forward for two years and today, Mr. Mayor we present to you as chief executive of the city of Highland Park, this finished tribute of Mr. Ewell's art and your citizens' generosity. "Hold this War Memorial as a sacred trust, an honor to the men and women of this city. (Continued on page 8)

WAYSIDE SERMON

Number III "SERMONS IN STONES" (Shakespeare)

Those who have wandered where ancient rivers or glaciers of forgotten days have cut deep canyons in hills must have been struck with the manner in which the towering buildings or our metropolitan centers suggest the lofty crags and pinnacles of the far-away mountains.

These mute stones are eloquent in the sermons they preach concerning the Master Mind which is behind all successful human endeavor and strong as the rocks in buildings or mountains which stand up beneath both storm and wind. Never the less, erosion works its traceries upon the city's battlements as upon the mountain's ramparts and testifies continually the flight of time.

We cannot tell the age of the last hills, we may not know how long a Chicago skyscraper can hold its own against the flight of time, but surely as we gaze upon the stones which have been brought from the distant places to grace our cities and to flout their majestic bearing eternally above us, we can not but be impressed with the way in which that which is ancient combines with the modern to tell the Creator's praise, and to set forth the dignity and beauty of human work.

Let us take our stand upon the solid rock of ages in order to permit ourselves to be impressed with the grandeur of God's universe and His age-long love and care.
