RETURNS FROM DALLAS MEET

Principal Sandwick of Deerfield-Shields high school was in Dallas, Texas, during the week of February 27 to March 5, attending the national meeting of Department of School Superintendents, which was attended by 7,000. He reports that at the meeting many new educational features were introduced. One of these was a department of education habits, large in scope, displaying the finest type of educational work done, as well as an exhibit of every kind of school equipment.

Aside from the business meetings Mr. Sandwick said he was interested greatly by the National High School orchestra, made up of over 250 students chosen from high schools all over the country, and by the chorus of 400 negro students.

MANY GIRLS ENTER LIFE SAVING CLASS

Many girls turned out last Friday afternoon to receive their first lessons in life saving at the high school. A definite schedule was followed by nineteen who passed the test previously. Jane Coulson was in charge of the group.

Side stroke, shallow arm pull, treading water, and floating were practiced. The reverse, or scissors kick, used in swimming on the back, and resuscitation were also included. The dives practiced were the surface, rear, and under water, approaches.

BUILD CANOPY FOR H. S. AUDITORIUM

Work has been started on the canopy which will finish the front of the high school auditorium.

The original designs of the auditorium show a canopy, but because of lack of funds work on this was delayed. It was first thought that the auditorium might look all right without this canopy but when completed the need for the canopy was evident.

The Formal Garden

What is a garden? It is man's report of earth at her best. It is earth emancipated from the commonplace. It is man's love of loveliness carried to completion — man's craving for the ideal. A gardener is a master of what an Italian writer called the charming art of touching up the truth.
