SCORES ATTACK ON HASTING REGIME

are infinitesimal as compared to the big problems which have been solved. The man who never makes a mistake, is, as a rule, the man that does not do anything. I would not have a man in my employ who did not occasionally make a mistake; the great problem is not to make the same mistake twice.

One of the most important and most successful features of Mayor Hastings administration, has not been mentioned during this campaign,—the building of the Highland Park hospital. I was on the committee with Mayor Hastings, the late Mrs. McGregor Adams, the late Mr. Chas. T. Boynton, Walter Baldwin and Richmond Dean, and others, in the campaign that was made to raise the necessary funds by private subscription for this institution. Day after day, night after night, week after week, month after month, that committee combed Highland Park in their effort to raise the necessary funds. We met with all kinds of opposition from some of the very best citizens of Highland Park who did not seem to understand the problem.

Benefit to Community
The funds for the first unit were finally obtained, and the raising of the funds for the second unit was comparatively easy. Today, Highland Park has a perfectly equipped hospital, a valuable piece of property and is practically out of debt. None of our neighboring villages, with their managers, have a like institution. It is the only hospital between Lake Forest and Evanston. It was the last link that made Highland Park one of the most desirable of all Chicago suburbs, and there is not a family who has made their home in Highland Park for any length of time that has not directly or indirectly been benefitted by that institution, and it would never have been established if it had not been for the leadership of our Mayor, Samuel M. Hastings.

We are told by the opposition to the Coalition ticket, that we should have a change. I myself am in favor of a change, but not the kind of change that has been suggested by them. I would like to see a change in the mental attitude of some of the citizens of Highland Park towards an administration that has served us in an intelligent, conscientious and successful manner for the past twelve years.

Is It Any Wonder?"

Is it any wonder that the better class of citizens of the United States decline to have anything to do with politics? Or with the management of the affairs of our government, when an example is being set by certain citizens in Highland Park, of mud-slinging, false statements and dirty politics, toward one of the best public servants that has graced any town or city of this country? Common decency should have influenced the citizens of Highland Park, as a unit, to have said to Mayor Hastings upon his retirement from twelve years of faithful service—"Well done, thou good and faithful servant. We will be influenced by your advice as to your successor to carry on the work which you have so splendidly fathered."

For twelve years of untiring devotion, Mr. Hastings has received the magnificent salary, I am told, of $600 per year,—about one-fourth of the salary that I pay my chauffeur.

Need a Phrenologist

Compare, if you please, the Highland Park that we handed to Mr. Hastings and his associates, with the beautiful Highland Park that they will hand back to us on the eve of the election, April 19, and let your conscience be your guide. If the citizens of Highland Park should confess to the public at large that they are not capable of running their own affairs and ask for a City Manager to be employed, then I would suggest—with all due respect to everyone—that one more man be added to the payroll of Highland Park—that we should employ a phrenologist to examine our heads to see whether or not we are always going to be foolish. ED. V. PRICE.

CITY CAMPAIGN IS NEAR FINAL STAGE

travagance in asking for a bond issue of $165,000 for North Sheridan bridges, which bond issue never was approved and hence the money never obtained nor spent, but he had heard that the state would build the bridges for $80,000 or thereabouts and in his estimation even to ask $165,000 in such a case was extravagance. However, he was in favor of rebuilding bridges and reopening Sheridan road.

Mr. Gourley expressed himself feelingly about the large number of votes he received at the primary. The approbation of the voters for his services, thus expressed, was "great consolation to me," he declared. He would like to tell about some things which had happened in the city council but hadn't time, though he might have something to say about them in the future, he intimated.

Lewis Chief Speaker

Mr. Lewis, the party's candidate for mayor, occupied most of the evening. Ben is a good talker, suave and smooth and knows enough not to sail too far on one track. He made a good impression on his party supporters, and those who heard him for the first time thought he was "pretty good."

He denied that he was fired from his former job and didn't think that sort of thing should enter into a political campaign, anyhow. He declared that at the moment he had no intention of discharging any city employe, but qualified this by adding that he had viewed the situation only "by and large" and that if and when he had time to make a thorough investigation, if elected, of course there might be cause for decision otherwise. In any event he had called on the chief of police that day, he said, and had told him he had no thought of taking his job away. Ben said he was received like a poor relative, but he did not say what the chief told him.

Other Features

The candidate for mayor thought it was rather low politics to drag religion into a campaign and declared, "if they oppose me on account of my religion, they would be just as likely to fight one of you, if you are a candidate, because of your religion." He had no intention of interfering with the duties of the board of health and would consult the staff of the hospital in making appointments thereto, he said.

Mr. Lewis in his rather lengthy talk discussed the party's platform, point by point, and he took a good deal of time to do it, going into details frequently as to what he thought ought to be done. He paid his respects to his opponents without mentioning names, except that of Mr. Reay, and took them to task for some of the things which their supporters had published in their advertisements.

Because of the extent of his remarks it is impossible in the space herewith available to more than touch on a few of his points, as a speech of such length if reported in full would fill several columns. The meeting is regarded by the "Time for a Change" party as a very successful one in both attendance and output.

Coalition Meeting

The Coalition party held a mass meeting on Monday evening in the Ravinia school. George A. Mason presided and speakers were Frank L. Cheney, W. J. Brown, Dr. R. R. Bosworth, Fred Porter and others. It was a very good meeting, those present report.

Last night another Coalition meeting was held at the Ridge school. W. C. Shipnes presided and Frank L. Cheney and John Norcross were the principal speakers. There was good attendance and those who went from Highland Park were much pleased with the fine new school building.
