IS DELEGATE TO P. T. A. CONFERENCE

Mrs. J. A. Reichelt, Jr., who is the delegate from the Deerfield School Parent-Teacher association to the twenty-eighth annual conference of the Illinois Council of Parent-Teacher association which will be held in Quincy this year, left Monday evening, taking with her three scrap books containing all of the publicity given this school, also the high school for the past two years. Clippings from the Highland Park Press, the Lake County Register, the Deerfield News, the Highland Park News, and the Libertyville Independent, all of which contain Deerfield news, made up the book. At the convention held last year in Urbana, Mrs. Reichelt's books were the best of the kind exhibited. As they were the inspiration for similar work by other associations, many delegates copied copy, also names of speakers and types of programs, it will be interesting to view the press and publicity exhibit this year to see the books of other associations. Duplicate copies of articles printed about the Deerfield association were also sent to Mrs. J. E. Edmonds, regional director, for her scrap book of district nineteen, and a third copy of the most important notices were also sent to the state publicity chairman in Decatur for her huge book which also goes to the national conference. Mrs. Harry Paul of Highland Park, the new president of the Deerfield-Shields High School Parent-Teacher association left Tuesday night after the Highland Park Woman's club meeting and the city election, to attend the conference in Quincy.
