

RECENT ADDITIONS TO NOTED LIBRARY

AT THE ART INSTITUTE

Architectural Collection Is Augmented By Important Features Given By Its Friends

Three important additions to the Burnham Library of Architecture at the Art Institute have been secured through the generosity of its friends. These are a collection of photographs, a select group of working drawings, and an historic collection of French books of the greatest importance. The photographs of architecture, gardens and details are gradually being purchased by a process of careful selection and are available for loan through the Photograph and Lantern Slide department of the Art Institute. These represent donations of over seven hundred dollars covering the last five years, from the Furst-Kerber Cut Stone company, Mrs. Julius Rosenwald, Mrs. F. C. Farwell, Mr. Theodore Dickinson and thirty architectural firms. The drawings so far received show St. Thomas church, the Shelton hotel, the Guaranty Trust building of New York, the Scottish Rite temple of Washington; Harkness Memorial Quadrangle at New Haven; the Harper Library and Tribune Tower of Chicago and the Newbold residence at Far Hills. The third most striking development is the acquisition of a remarkable collection of several hundred volumes, a considerable group of architectural plates, and a number of original drawings. The chief architect of Napoleon I acquired these books in the first half of the nineteenth century and they have been kept in his family intact until they were offered to the Burnham Library of Architecture. The committee on Burnham library has asked members and friends of the architectural profession to help by subscription to the Burnham fund for payment of this obligation. As a result the collection will become a joint gift of many.

GOLD & SILVER SALE TO AID JAPAN SCHOOL

Woman's Auxiliary of Episcopal Diocese Sponsor Benefit to Be Held In October

The Woman's auxiliary of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago is to have a Gold and Silver sale the third or fourth week in October, for the benefit of St. Margaret's School in Tokyo, Japan, which was destroyed in the earthquake of 1923. Mr. Carl A. Gowdy of Oak Park has been chosen general chairman, with Mrs. Hathaway Watson of Winnetka as vice-chairman. Each parish in the diocese is to have its own chairman.

Members of Episcopal churches and their friends now are requested to commence saving silver, gold, and jewels for contribution for the two-day sale that is to take place in the loop.

Gold and silver offerings and sales have been staged with success in several dioceses of the Episcopal church, and the Woman's auxiliary, having felt the challenge of the need of St. Margaret's, has decided upon this means of raising funds.

St. Margaret's school in Tokyo, founded in 1877, is a secondary school for girls, licensed by the government board of education. Girls enter at 13 for a five year's course. Seventy-five per cent of the christian girls and women of Japan are graduates of St. Margaret's. At the time of the earthquake of July, 1923, there were six hundred girls enrolled with a staff of about forty teachers. The earthquake utterly demolished the school. Six weeks later St. Margaret's was re-opened in quarters loaned by Mr. Ishii, a Christian Japanese, who gave up ten rooms in his orphanage to house the four hundred St. Margaret's girls. Here they lived a year and a half. Immediately after the earthquake, the Japanese government offered Bishop McKim $35,000 for five years without interest and at a nominal interest for twenty-five years longer to keep the school open until other arrangements could be made. Land has been procured and temporary quarters put up, but they are entirely inadequate both as to space and comfort.

St. James' branch of the Woman's auxiliary is holding a meeting of parish presidents Friday, May 20, at 11:30 o'clock, in the parish house, 666 Rush street, Chicago. Mrs. William L. Clements will speak on "The Gold and Silver Offering." The meeting will be followed by an informal luncheon.

NUMBER OF MARRIED WOMEN IN BUSINESS

Report to Magazine Indicates That It Is Increasing; Statistics

The number of married women in business is increasing. A recent survey of Bryn Mawr alumnae, reported by the Woman's Home Companion, shows that 43 per cent of the graduates who replied to a questionnaire have continued their careers since they became wives.

In 30 years, while the number of women at gainful work has increased 21 per cent, the number of married women at such work has increased 100 per cent. Most of these are working, presumably, because they have to, but an increasing number are working because they choose to.

A study made by Mrs. Virginia Collier among 100 women who are both professional workers and mothers indicated that the latter's life was one of happiness and normality. "They are much like other women," she reports, "only more so."

Lady Rhonda, in a recent address, maintained that "the existence of the leisured woman constitutes a grave menace to civilization." On the other hand, G. K. Chesterton argued that women should keep out of the "flat, futile, vulgar, vile stupidity" of modern commercial life and stay at home to maintain there the "only remaining shrine of liberty, individuality and creative power." Bernard Shaw closed the debate by expressing his belief that "we must all look forward to the day when every one will have his bit of work to do every day, and it will be a crime to idle."

CEMETERY ASSOCIATION PLAN ANNUAL MEETING

Will Be Held in Town Hall, May 30; Want Contributions for Upkeep

On Monday afternoon, May 30, at two o'clock, the Deerfield cemetery association will hold their annual meeting in the town hall for the purpose of electing officers and to transact any business that may come before the meeting.

The present officers include T. J. Knaak, president; John L. Vetter, secretary; Edward Easton, treasurer; Bert Easton, Edward Osterman and August Winter, trustees.

The association is appealing to the lot owners for contributions for the necessary upkeep of the cemetery. During the past three or four years the grass has been cut every ten to fifteen days which necessitates the employment of a man for two days at each cutting. This, however, has greatly improved the appearance and many favorable comments have been received from the general public.

If this upkeep is to be continued some plan for a permanent fund must be devised. The association will greatly appreciate any suggestions. Remember the meeting Monday afternoon at the Town Hall on May 30th. (Omitted by error from last week's issue)

GARDEN MARKET IS LARGELY ATTENDED

In spite of the rain, people from Lake Bluff, Highland Park, and a great many from Deerfield came to the school to patronize the garden market on Saturday, May 14.

The interest of the people in the community and the co-operation of the merchants were the factors which made the first garden market the success that it was. The club is indebted to the Rustic Nursery for its generous gift of a number of plants and to the Deerfield Nurseries, Franken Brothers, and the Notz Hardware company for a percentage in their profits. The exhibit of bird houses made by the boy scouts added to the attractiveness of the market.

It was most gratifying to the Garden club to have such a large number of people show their enthusiasm for gardening by coming out, regardless of the weather.
