UPWARD TREND OF LAKES CONTINUES

The upward trend in the levels of Lake Michigan and Lake Huron that began in February, 1926, continued during May, according to the official bulletin of the United States lake survey bureau. The level last month was .36 feet higher than in April. The average rise for May is .31 feet. A similar rise was recorded for Lake Superior.

Lakes Michigan and Huron, considered by survey engineers as one body of water, have gained practically one foot in twelve months. Having attained 579.74 feet above mean sea level, the lakes were only one foot below the average stage for May for the last ten years. Another rise of .36 feet is predicted for June.

Lake Erie, the records show, gained only .20 feet in May, and Lake Ontario lost .02.

Chicago engineers, who made a study of lake levels a year ago predicted a gradual rise in Lakes Michigan and Huron until 1931, when an elevation of 581 feet above sea level is expected. To date their forecast has been substantiated by government records.

The figures they give are based upon the assumption that changes in lake levels are governed by variations in the amount of rainfall and not upon the regular diversion of water for purposes of sanitation.

ST. LOUIS BACKER OF LINDBERGH PRIMARILY

At this time when every hamlet, town, city and state in the nation is seeking a place in the sun, which has its origin in the glory of the Lindbergh flight, let us not forget that the distinction and honor of having selected Lindbergh, and sustained his effort with hard cash, belongs to the City of Saint Louis. It was Harry W. Knight of Saint Louis, only 23 years of age, and Bixby of the Saint Louis trade body, who is only a little over 30, who had the first faith in Lindbergh. These were the boys who talked, enthused and passed the hat to raise the money which made the flight possible. While the golden towers of Manhattan are entitled to a glimpse of this American hero, one cannot escape the feeling that the one and only place for his feat to be properly acclaimed is in the dear old city on the Mississippi which made it possible.

DEERFIELD HIGHWAY SQUABBLE SETTLED

CONFERENCE GETS RESULT

Difficulty Between State, County and Village Over Grades Is Cleared Up; Work Is Continuing, Report

After a short conference last week state engineers, R. M. Lobdell, county superintendent of highways, and Deerfield engineers settled a dispute over changed grades on the Deerfield road with the result that the contractor, Kapschull Davis, returned to the work he halted several days ago, according to the Waukegan Sun which says:

"Deerfield engineers had changed the grade on the road, which is a widening job in the village limits, and a straight state aid project to the west of the village. It will connect, eventually, the Highland Park-Deerfield route with Route 21, or Milwaukee avenue.

"Lobdell withdrew county support of the improvement last week when he was informed by his resident engineer that the grades had been changed. This was a matter of $29,000 and at the same time the state highway department was said to be ready to refuse to support the financing. The conference was the result.

"With the state withdrawing the county feared that the possibility of refund would be lost. With the matter settled, the highway will be financed as a regular state aid project, with the state assuming the expense on a strip 18 feet wide and two miles long."

HIGHWOOD SCHOOL TEAM ARE CHAMPIONS

Presented Silver Cup for Third Time at Closing Exercises Exercises Wednesday

Three times in succession the Oak Terrace school in Highwood has had a baseball team that has been proclaimed champions in the North Shore Grammar School Baseball league, and for the past two years was awarded the silver cup at the commencement exercises by Coach Peel of the Deerfield-Shields high school. This winning team has played Lake Forest, Waukegan, Highland Park schools and has shown fine sportsmanship. Mr. Peel congratulated Principal Wayne Thomas for developing in his students a fine standard of conduct upon the field, one that was above reproach. Better sportsmanship, and instinct for play to fill the leisure time of pupils, and a better friendly relationship between schools is the aim of the league.

The commencement exercises for the forty-three pupils in the graduating class were held last Wednesday evening in the auditorium of the school, with a woodland scene as a background. With a fine showing of orchestra material four violinists in the class presented numbers that won thunderous applause, especially the soloist, Oswaldo Saielli.

Principal Thomas in presenting the class to the members of the school board and the audience said that these pupils were in the fourth grade when he took the school, and they have set a record of which Oak Terrace may be proud, and predicted that their entrance into high school will follow the same fine student rating.

The entire program which was presented by the students who showed unusual oratorical ability, and excellent voices, was as follows:

BARS RICH MOOCHERS FROM FREE HOSPITAL

The decree entered in April of last year by Circuit Judge Claire C. Edwards, providing for an injunction restraining the Lake County General hospital and Dr. Charles Lieber, at that time head of the institution, from accepting patients "amply" able to pay, with several exceptions, has been affirmed by the Appellate court. Ruling was entered last week by the Appellate court and a copy of the ruling was received Saturday by State's Attorney A. V. Smith from Justus L. Johnson, clerk of the court.

Judge Edwards is reported to have stated that the injunction restraining patients "amply" able to pay with certain exceptions will go into effect upon receipt of the mandate of the Appellate court by the clerk of the circuit court unless in the meantime a writ of supersedeas is obtained from the Supreme court.
