LOCAL GOLFERS LOSE IN AMATEUR MEET

Sunset Valley Represented in State Meet at Columbus Park, Chicago

Henry Foley, Daily News Open Golf champion, qualified with a 35-37 for a 72 in the Illinois State Amateur meet, held at Columbus Park, Chicago. In his first match he defeated Henry Spiegel, formerly of the Illinois University Golf team, 4 and 3 by shooting 33-33 for a 66.

In the afternoon match Foley met Ted Lloyd, Public Parks champion and lost on the twenty-first green, where Lloyd laid Foley a dead stymie. Both Lloyd and Foley shot 69's.

Fred Johnson, also of Sunset Valley, failed to qualify by one stroke for the championship flight, but went into first flight competition for those who failed by a stroke.

Johnson defeated R. W. Whipple of Elgin 2 and 1 on the seventeenth green, shooting a 37-37 for a 74. In the afternoon round Sam Gimino, Columbus Park amateur defeated Johnson by a close score.

FRED S. JAMES PASSES AWAY AT THE HOSPITAL

Prominent Chicago Business Man Dies Here July 1; Funeral on Sunday

Fred S. James, head of the Fred S. James Insurance Co., of Chicago and a resident for some time at the Moraine hotel, died Friday night, July 1, in the Highland Park hospital from uremic poisoning, according to the official report.

Mr. James was born Feb. 20, 1849, in Barrington, and had been prominent in business circles in Chicago for many years. His wife has been dead for some time, and the near surviving relatives are two daughters and three sons, Mrs. Flora J. Robinson, Mrs. Gilbert M. Weeks, Whitney P. James, who lives in California; Louis N. James of New York and Robert E. James of Winnetka.

The funeral service was held on Sunday at Ross Hill chapel and interment was there.

Russian immigrant farmers in Saskatchewan province, Canada, are said to have ordered a number of camels for farm work.

RAVINA PROGRAMS DURING THE WEEK

The regular Monday night concert series will be resumed Monday night, July 11th, Mr. DeLamarer having prepared an interesting program which will be played by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. Madame Julia Claussen, contralto, and Alfred Wallenstein, cellist, will be the soloists. All reserved seats are free for these concerts, the general admission at the gate covering everything.

Tuesday night, July 12th, "The Love of Three Kings" will be given its first performance of the season. This great dramatic opera, which is so perfectly representative of the modern school of composition, holds a position of first importance in the regard of all Ravinia patrons. This is due in large measure to the perfection of its casting, and it will be good news that Lucrezia Bori will be heard as Flora, a role which offers her broad opportunity for both singing and acting. Opposite her as Avito will be Edward Johnson, whose splendid voice and finished acting has made him an ideal exponent of this part. Giuseppe Danise, than whom the world has no finer baritone, will give a thoroughly human touch to the role of Manfred, while Virgilio Lazzari will contribute one of opera's finest character studies as Archibaldo. Others in the cast are Mr. Mojica and Miss Falco. Gennaro Papi will conduct.

Mario Daniele

"Samson and Delilah," that admirable combination of opera and spectacle, is scheduled for Wednesday night, July 13th. This Saint-Saens work is one of the favorites of the French repertoire and it has been given such splendid production at Ravinia in seasons past that it is always avidly awaited by thousands of Ravinia patrons. Giovanni Martinelli, who will be heard as Samson, measures up to every demand made by this part. His dramatic voice, his character delineation, his fine acting, all make him ideal as the Biblical giant. Madame Julia Claussen will appear opposite him as Delilah, and her vocal quality is perfectly fitted to the music of this part. Giuseppe Danise will be heard as the High Priest of Dagon, a part which gives him opportunity for a display of his bel canto voice, while Leon Rothier is to be cast in the sympathetic part of the Old Hebrew. Others in the cast are Mr. D'Angelo, Mr. Patrinieri, Mr. Coscia and Mr. Derman. Several beautiful ballets enliven this opera. Louis Hasselmanns will conduct.

Thursday afternoon, July 14th, which is usual, be given over to the weekly concert and entertainment for the children. The Chicago Symphony Orchestra will furnish the concert for part of the program, Mr. DeLamarer explaining the numbers to the children. The entertainment which will follow the concert will be presented by the Little Theatre of the Oak Park Playgrounds and the Playground Band of forty-six boys, under the direction of Harry Dowse. "Fancy Passes," an elaborate pantomime, will be given.

Massenet's "Manon," another of the French operas which is always warmly received by American audiences, is to be given on Thursday night, July 14th. Madame Bori is to be heard in the title role, and it is well known that in this part she displays versatility of acting to the fullest extent. This role is a study in transition and Madame Bori develops the character of the wilful Manon with such finesse that it becomes replete in realism. The Massenet music is well suited to the beautiful lyric style of her voice. Opposite her as the Chevalier Des Grieux will be Mario Chamlee, who in this part finds one of his greatest singing roles. The San Sulpice scene as presented by Madame Bori and Mr. Chamlee is one of the high spots of opera. Leon Rothier will be heard as the elder Des Grieux, in which brief role he does some splendid singing. Others in the cast are Miss Maxwell, Miss Swarthout, Miss Falco, Mr. Mojica, Mr. DeFreere, Mr. D'Angelo, Mr. Ananian, Mr. Coscia and Mr. Derman. Louis Hasselmanns will conduct.

There is no modern composer more popular with all opera patrons than is Giacomo Puccini, and "Madame Butterfly," which he based upon a play written by Americans for Americans, stands out prominently as one of the most successful operas of all time. "Madame Butterfly" will be given its initial performance of the season on Friday night, July 15th, at which time Madame Rethberg will have the title role. Madame Rethberg finds this part ideally suited to her, for it demands not only the splendid vocal quality which she possesses to such an unusual degree, but also that vocal power which forms an important part of her equipment. Edward Johnson will appear opposite her as Pinkerton, the American naval officer. Mr. Johnson makes this role thoroughly American, his acting is polished and convincing, and the Puccini music is admirably suited to his voice. Madame Bourskaya will be Suzuki and Mario Basiola will be Sharpless, the consul. Louis D'Angelo is cast as Yamadori, Jose Mojica as Goro, and Paolo Ananian as the Bonze. Philine Falco will be Kate Pinkerton. Gennaro Papi will conduct.

WOMAN BURBANK HAS PRODUCED RED LILAC

World fame will be accorded to Mrs. Hulda Klager, of Woodland, Wash., a follower of Burbank who this summer has achieved her ambition to produce the most beautiful lilac known to horticulture.

Scores of scientists and hundreds of flower lovers from all parts of the country were found at Mrs. Klager's humble farm home by a writer for the American Magazine, attesting the importance of her achievement. The paragon of the lilac family is nearly twice the size of the ordinary roadside flower. The bush is sturdy and thickly clustered. Just coming into bloom, it presents a vividly rich mass of huge red buds, which open with incurving petals, the inside of which is a lighter blending of the voluptuous heir of the outside.

Sixty other distinct varieties of lilacs have also been developed during Mrs. Klager's experiments and she is now hoping to attain a true yellow type.

Mrs. Klager obtained her idea from a book on Luther Burbank's work which she read while ill in bed and despite the fact that she managed a large dairy farm and orchard and was the mother of four children, she decided to apply Burbank methods to her favorite flower and began the tedious job of transferring pollen and developing seeds, which has required years.

She steadfastly refuses to raise quantities for shipping, saying that she prefers to enjoy the appreciation of those who come to her personally.
