TENNIS TOURNEY TO BE HELD ON SUNDAY

Many Good Players Enter Tournament; Hope to Build Club House in Future

The Ravinia Tennis Tournament finals will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. for the women and 4:00 p. m. for the men. There will be no admission charge, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Many good players have been brought out by this tournament, and the many residents who have visited the courts were surprised to find such excellent courts with remarkable playing facilities.

The class of players entered in this first tournament assures of a high place in North Shore tennis circles.

Another tournament is already being scheduled for this season in which it is hoped to feature juniors and seniors in double and single matches. Ladies are showing marked interest in playing and the club is rapidly becoming an afternoon meeting place for the fair sex.

It is hoped to build a club house in the near future, the design of which will be posted on the bulletin board.

A number of applications were received too late for entry this time and it is hoped that all those desiring to enter the tournament will get their names in on time.

The following is a list and the results of pairings:

TRACING SLAYER OF HIGHWOOD CONTRACTOR

James Piccoli, Alais Young, Charged With Killing Eugene Mezzini, In Colorado, Belief

James Piccoli alias James Young a former Highwood resident, who was indicted by the October grand jury last year on a charge of murder of Eugene Mezzini, Highwood contractor, and who has been sought for nearly a year, lived in Detroit until a short time ago when he is said to have moved to Colorado, according to information obtained by the authorities in Lake county. Police chiefs and sheriffs throughout Colorado have been enlisted in the search for Piccoli.

Chief of Police J. C. Frame of Highwood has recently been in Detroit during which time he and Chief James E. McCarthy of Detroit made a search for Piccoli and learned he had lived in Detroit for some time, recently leaving presumably for Colorado.

MRS. PETITT ENDS LIFE IN LAKE LAST SUNDAY

Mrs. Sadie Elizabeth Pettit, the widow of James R. Pettit, who was found drowned in Lake Michigan off Highland Park in 1911, ended her life in the lake off Kenney street, Evanston, Saturday night, according to reports from that city. She had been despondent over her separation from her invalid son.

Mrs. Pettit, who was divorced from Orville J. Taylor, well known Chicago attorney whom she married after her first husband's drowning, had been grieving for some time for her son who was in Tucson, Ariz., undergoing treatments for illness. Her body was found face down on the beach at Evanston by three fishermen Sunday morning.

AUGUST C. JOHANNSEN DIES IN GERMANY

Word was received at the Press this morning telling of the death of August C. Johannsen, who passed away Saturday, July 16, in Altona. He was born in Altona, Germany, October 11, 1864, came to America 41 years ago and became a resident of Chicago. For the past 25 years, however he had been a resident of Ravinia. He had been ill some three years and on October 14, 1926 with his family sailed for Europe in the hope of regaining his health. He visited his home town, Altona, but was unable to continue his travels through Europe because of a breakdown two weeks after his arrival from which he did not recover. He leaves to survive him his wife, Mary M. Johannsen and his daughter, Lulu C., who are now residing in Bahrenfeld, Altona, Germany.

ELABORATE PLANS FOR HIGHWOOD DAY

wood day, and this year it is hoped to double last year's list, if possible. The committee expects to be able to announce a list of the donors by the third week in August.

Mr. Fromelt, chairman of the sports committee, promises a treat in this line for Highwood Day. He and his committee are arranging for all sorts of games and races that will interest young and old and will recall to the adults many of the features of the happy old picnic days of their youth.

Valuable Prizes
In selecting a grand prize for Highwood Day, the Civic Improvement association has decided to offer something both sensible and profitable, something which everyone could find of value and which will inculcate thrift and be of practical aid to the winner in a most substantial way. Hence the grand prize chosen is a $500 gold bond bearing interest at six per cent. It has been purchased from the Highwood State Bank and it is announced by the committee that the bond is redeemable at any time at full face value, should the person receiving it so desire.

Popularity Contest
Three valuable prizes have been selected for the three most popular girls, whose standing in popularity will be determined by the number of votes they received. Each registration for the grand prize entitles the person registering to one vote for the girl of his or her choice. The first prize for the most popular girl is a $100 wrist watch set with diamonds; the second, a $35 lady's case, and the third, a $15 lady's vanity case.

The location for this year's celebration of Highwood Day is on the U. S. Government property facing Waukegan avenue, opposite R. Shannon's grocery store, on the ground formerly known as Fort Sheridan Park.

Everybody Invited
The Highwood Civic Improvement association is sponsoring this celebration and its officers and committees are sparing no effort to make the event a great success and have it result in great civic benefit as well as providing a day of real enjoyment for those who attend. It is hoped that all Highwood residents will co-operate, and a general invitation is issued by the association to the people of neighboring towns and cities to help swell the crowds on Highwood's big day, Monday, September 5th.

LOCAL BOYS WITNESS DROWNING OF FRIEND

M. Hall Velie, Sea Scout, Falls from Boat at N. Chicago; Funeral Held Tuesday

Funeral services for M. Hall Velie, 22, 3822 Alta Vista terrace, Chicago, who toppled from the deck of the "Blanca Flor" into the waters of the Great Lakes harbor Saturday afternoon and was dead when taken from the water, was held at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday at his home.

The four boys who were with Velie at the time of the tragedy, all of whom are sea scouts of Highland Park attended the funeral as well as a number of other scouts of the troop. The four are Walter Reed, Jean Singer, Bud Snite, John Monroe.

The group was making ready to take off for a week-end cruise at the time, and Velie fell in the water while coiling some loose rope. They all jumped in after him, but he was dead when brought to the surface. Testimony presented at the coroner's inquest in Waukegan Sunday showed that the boy had suffered a heart attack before he fell into the water, and the coroner's verdict was returned on this basis.

Walter Reed, skipper of the boat and his crew were commended for the way in which the attempt to restore him to life was conducted.

ROSSELL E. DUNN DIES HERE MONDAY

Long Illness Is Ended; Funeral Held on Wednesday; Masons Have Charge

Roswell E. Dunn, a resident of Highland Park for several years, died at his home here on Monday after an illness of two years' duration. He was formerly manager of a branch store here for the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., and afterward had been employed in various capacities in this city.

He was born in Knox county, Illinois, Dec. 24, 1885, and in 1912 moved with his parents to Mundelein, where his father purchased a farm. From there he came to Highland Park several years ago. A couple of months ago he went to the Mayo Bros. hospital at Rochester, Minn., where it was found he was suffering from an incurable trouble.

He is survived by his wife and three children, his father, William E. Dunn and a brother Clark Dunn of Mundelein. The funeral was held Wednesday at the family residence and at the Ivanhoe church, the Libertyville Masonic lodge having charge of the services at the cemetery near there.

FUND TO COMPLETE AUDITORIUM ASKED

ing so extensively as originally planned. An ornate entrance and a vestibule of moderate size with a retiring room on either side were decided upon. Mr. Mann was given the problem of carrying this out in harmony with the justly praised architecture of the group of buildings of which the auditorium is a part and when the revised plans were approved by Mrs. Millard representing the board of education, authority was given the building committee to proceed with the solicitation for funds. It is the ambition of the committee to secure the full amount necessary during the next four weeks and then proceed at once with the construction of the building.

Handsome Entrance

The accompanying illustration shows at a glance how successful Mr. Mann has been in designing an entrance, simple but adequate, and incorporating it skillfully into the mass of the building. The opposing walls of the entrance are carried up and stepped back to broad pilasters ascending to the cornice. The decorative doorway and the windows set in the auditorium walls above the roof pitch of the entrance repeat the design conspicuously employed in the adjoining colonnade and front of the intermediate school. The retiring rooms extending out on either side make the entrance walls less conspicuous and with their tile roofs slanting up to the pilaster bands make a very harmonious part of the whole. It is a very attractive proposition the building committee is offering the general public and it is to be hoped that they will not be disappointed in securing the needed support.

PASSES BOGUS CHECKS ON LOCAL MERCHANTS

A dark complexioned woman about five feet tall and about 35 years old has been playing a confidence game in Highland Park this week. Several of the merchants have been stung. At the Highland Park Fuel Co. this little lady came into the office and bought $7.50 worth of merchandise and paid her bill with a twenty dollar check receiving as her change $12.50. The check was signed by Mrs. W. N. Stafford. She passed two checks of $20.00 each with that signature and one of $20.00 signed by Mrs. R. W. Keller and one $18.00 with the signature of Mrs. L. Noethling. As we go to press the stores being out so far are the Highland Park Fuel Co., Dreiske Flower Shop and the Green Tea Pot candy shop. Chief Moroney and his staff are working on the case but so far have not located the little lady.

UNCLAIMED LETTERS

The following unclaimed letters are held at the Highland Park postoffice:
Mr. Charles Brooks (Book)
Martianians Cortez
Mr. Thomas Dwyer
Miss Emiline Wycliffe Cloud.
Mrs. Carsten Rembach.
Hugo L. Schneider, P.M.

Although Illinois has only 31-3 per cent of the gas plants in the United States, they produce 12 per cent of the manufactured gas.

Better scenery in the United States than in any country in the world, but the fact that the Alps, etc., are farther away make many people think they are finer.

It's Harvest Time For Blue Sky Men, Too

It's hard to recognize the fake stock salesmen and promoters—they look so honest and talk so smoothly. But this is the time they make their killing. Their stories are plausible and their stock certificates attractive, but so frequently their propositions are merely bubbles.

Whenever one of these itinerant salesmen calls on you, put him off long enough for you to check up with us. Our facilities enable us to get the real facts for you.

MILLIONS IN JUNK YET, SAYS MAGAZINE

Few Realize Extent of Business in Reclaimed Material, It Declares

"Junk" is a rough-sounding word; "scrap" isn't much better, but scrap plays a tremendous part in America—a part measured by hundreds of millions—and like many another, as scrap grows rich, it takes a new name.

We call him "junk" when he's dressed in rags; give junk a decent pair of overalls and a regular job and he is "scrap," and when scrap becomes a millionaire he's known as "reclaimed material" or "secondary production."

But call scrap what you will, there are millions in the scrap heap, says the Nation's Business.

Industry today employs reclaimed material ("scrap") as a vast secondary defense, the first line being original ore deposits or other raw material sources, and the third line promising to be synthetic materials. The same intelligence which taught American business men to utilize by-products is training them to develop the use of secondary materials.

Everyone knows the junk man, but few realize the extent of the industry he represents. In fact, there are no inclusive figures on this ubiquitous personage; yet it has been estimated by steel scrap experts that there are 150,000 of these small collectors. The familiar cry of "Rags!" may be interpreted as industry's far-flung challenge to waste, if the activities back of it are considered: Rags to be made into fine writing paper; bones to be ground for fertilizer; rope to surrender its hemp fibers for insulating paper in lead-covered cable; paper to return in its cycle to new paper, and dozen of others.

According to the records the average life of the Hapsburgs the last ruling house in the Austrian Empire tripled in the 358-year period. This means that they steadily became more healthy or that the marksmanship of the proletariat grew poorer.

Some tourists are complained of because they kick about everything wherever they go, but anyway it is a satisfaction to have such folks away from their home towns for awhile.

The famous beauty spots of the nation are carefully marked by the tourists with picnic refuse, and often with tracts of forest burned over.

ACTICITIES RENEWED AT-PARK PLAYGROUNDS

Sunset Park and enjoy it. If you have bowled before you need no introduction to it; if you have not you will like it.

The park board has built a clay and moulding sand green and has on hand several sets of bowls.

A great many men and women have already been over and have become quite clever at the game. Any group wishing to have the use of the green may arrange with Mr. Copp for reservations.

Playground Notes

Those who saw the Sunset Park floats in the parade Highland Park Day have a good idea of the program of recreation which is being carried out by the play leaders there this summer. Although all of the activities could not be demonstrated on the floats, most of them were in some manner. Some of the completed handicraft projects were on one float while boys and girls worked on other projects as the parade passed along.

The Dramatics' float carried girls in costume dancing some of the favorite folk dances which they enjoy at the park. This float also carried children who go to the Ravinia concerts on Thursday afternoons.

The third float from Sunset Park represented the sports of the playground. Many of the games could not be played on a moving truck but all which were shown may be seen and enjoyed at the park different times during the day and evening. Tether tennis was demonstrated by two boys as the parade passed along. This game is new to many who saw it and fascinating to all who see it.

People who visit Sunset Park in the evening no longer call it merely a playground for children for both old and young people find something they enjoy doing and nine o'clock finds them reluctant to leave.

As far as possible the entire 35 acres of woodland are being utilized this summer as recreation space and all have not been taking advantage of the opportunities the city offers at Sunset Park should realize that the half of the season has passed it is there.

The Turkish president has prepared a speech which is two days long. Wait till Tom Hefflin hears about this!
