

MRS. PHILIP HOLE RELATES EARLY LIFE

Elizabeth Caroline Cloes was born in Rockland (now Lake Bluff) October 5, 1845, the daughter of John and Elizabeth Dietrich Cloes, who came from Herzogsum Nassau with their family, to America in 1836. They had twelve children of which the subject of this sketch, and her brother, Benjamin J. Cloes, who lives in California, are the only ones now living.

Elizabeth Cloes was married March 26, 1863, by the Rev. Little, minister of the Waukegan Presbyterian church, at her mother's home in Lake Bluff, to Philip R. Hole, who came from England to Deerfield in 1845. Mr. Hole's sister, Kate, married Samuel Barnes, the father of Judge V. V. Barnes, of Zion City. Philip Hole boarded with John K. Clark when he came to Deerfield.

In 1862 he had built the house next to the one where Mrs. Hole now resides. Twenty acres he bought for $11 per acre and he erected the house, patterning it after the one across the road built for Peter Bleimel in 1861. Lewis Todd was the contractor and builder of both houses.

When Mrs. Hole attended church services the first Sunday after she was married, in April 1863, in the Deerfield school that stood at the southwest corner of Waukegan and Deerfield roads, the student minister was one who had supplied the pulpit of the Lake Bluff church, which was held in her mother's house. The students who preached in this vicinity in the early years of its history, were from the Methodist Theological school of Northwestern University in Evanston. This school house mission was the nucleus of the Deerfield Presbyterian church.

The Barnes family lived on the Alex Clemons farm (which Mr. Hole bought) later called the Michael Horenberger farm, which was originally Lawrence Arnold's. The Barnes children attended the Wilmot school and Miss Electa Hoyt, who was the first teacher of Judge Barnes (the first city judge in Illinois) married Robert Bennett, another teacher in that school. The Hole children went to the Deerfield school when Melvina Ayres, Eliza Stuart, Della Baker and a Mr. Lewis were teachers.

Philip Richard and Elizabeth Cloes Hole had nine children, five of whom are living. Lulu married Fred H. Meyer, who came from Nendorff, Germany in 1882 and lived in the home of C. W. Pettis. Mr. Meyer is the postmaster in Deerfield. They have four children. Benjamin Vischer Hole married Henrietta De Cen and lives in Burlingame, Cal. They have seven children. Katherine married Ira Gardner, of Birch Tree, Missouri, who is a clerk in the Deerfield State Bank. They live in the little house west of Mrs. Hole's and own also the house to which Mrs. Hole came as a bride on the east of the big house, which was built in 1905. Jessie married Bert Easton, son of Cassius Baldwin and Ellen Parsons Easton (who was a grandson of John and Minerva Baldwin Easton and of Alfred and Susan Vedder Parsons). Jessie died in Feb. 7, 1920. They had eight children.

Ira married Mamie Apted of Watford, Canada. He is the contractor for the new cement walks now being put down next to the concrete road, which necessitated the tearing out of many good sidewalks. The Ira Holes had four children.

Samuel Hole married Lela Glych of Wauconda, who taught fifth and sixth grade in the Deerfield school from 1912 to 1917. They live in Shelby, Montana, where they have a hotel, and have two children.

Mrs. Hole was a charter member of the Deerfield Presbyterian church, which was organized May 13, 1876 and taught a class in the church school until she was 75 years of age. The number of young men in the village who listened to her exposition of the Bible on Sundays, would make a long list of the mature men living here and in other places.

When she was a child Mrs. Hole was very delicate and did not attend school longer than 6 months in her entire life. This was spread over two winter sessions when she lived with her married sister, and attended the Port Clinton school. In spite of this lack of formal education Mrs. Hole's writing is very beautiful, and would put to shame that of many college graduates. For years she was Deerfield correspondent for the Waukegan Gazette, belonged to our Athenian club and upon frequent occasions of importance composed poems that she has delivered in public. A year ago at a missionary meeting in Highland Park she recited from memory her most beloved poem:

"My Bible, how I love it
It's the treasure of my heart"
with its many stanzas, with fervor, in a full resonant voice.
One poem showing the sensations of her declining years is as follows:
"When We Are Old"
When we are old,
How changed is everything;
When we were young, the merry shout
Of children, had but a happy ring;
But, now, alas, that merry shout
Doth to our weakened frame
A nervous tremor bring,
And we would fain in solitude remain,
When we are old.
But, when we pass to yonder shore
Age will be left behind,
Eternal youth for us in store,
In that celestial clime;

Then hast the day, when this poor
Weakened frame, shall in the dust
be laid,
And my spirit free, clothed in eternal youth,
And in Christ's righteousness arrayed,
Shall stand before His throne
Relieved from earthly pain, and sorrow free.
In happiness supreme, my soul
shall ever be
Then patient be my soul, nor murmur nor complain
The dear ones gone before
You soon will meet again,
Sufficient is God's grace,
His help is ever near;
He has prepared a place
For those who serve Him here.
Oh, may thy love, dear Lord
So fill this heart of mine
That others, in my life may see
The love that is divine.
Lead thou me gently on
And to my soul unfold
The way, thou leadest me, dear
Lord,
For I am old.

TO PAVE MILWAUKEE AVENUE TO GURNEE

Low Bid Received From Waukegan Firm, Reported; Not Ready Yet

County Highway Superintendent R. M. Lobdell said Thursday that while Darrow & Barron, a Waukegan contracting firm was apparently the low bidder on the paving of Milwaukee avenue between Libertyville and Gurnee, the contract cannot be let as yet, because all of the necessary right-of-way has not yet been secured. This firm bid $165,146 according to word received by Lobdell from the state highway department at Springfield.

Lobdell said that the paving of Deerfield avenue in the village of Deerfield would be completed in a few days and that three weeks later the new pavement will be open for traffic. The Milburn road is also about completed, he says.
Work has been started on the building of culverts on the Grayslake-Ivanhoe road. Grading work on this road is begun.

RIPON WINS RIFLE MATCH AT R. O. T. C.

For Third Time in Seven Years and Is Now Entitled to Retain Cup

For the third time in seven years the rifle team of Ripon college, at Ripon, Wis., has won the marksmanship competition of the R. O. T. C. units encamped at Fort Sheridan. The victory carried with it permanent possession of the silver loving cup awarded for the event by the Tribune. Formal presentation of the trophy was made the winning team by Col. S. D. Smith Tuesday.

In 1921 the first leg of the cup was won by the University of Illinois team. Ripon came up in 1922 and scored its first victory. The University of Wisconsin was winner in 1923 and Ripon returned in 1924. Then Michigan State and Culver Military institute won in 1925 and 1926.

Members of this year's Ripon team were Carl Helbing, Russell H. Larson, F. H. Nelson, H. F. Clifton, William G. Brasure, C. S. Hill and J. L. Burns. Their total score was 206.5 out of a possible 250. Ripon has a much smaller enrollment than most of the schools entered in the contest.

The Reserve Officers Training corps at Fort Sheridan disbanded Wednesday after ceremonies in which twenty-two youths were commissioned lieutenants. More than 300 students from colleges throughout the United States had attended the camp. Thursday the Citizens' Military Training camp opened.

SUES TAXI DRIVER FOR ALLEGED INJURY

Charging that Lem S. Stewart, a cab driver, left Sheridan road at 22nd street, North Chicago, and went banging his way up the railroad tracks, Miss Quennetta Rondeaux, of North Chicago, a passenger in the car, last week started suit in the Circuit court asking $5,000 for injuries alleged to have been sustained, says the Waukegan Sun.

Attorney J. A. Miller, council for the woman, stated that she was a passenger in the car July 4 and that Stewart, for some reason, deliberately left the road and went down the tracks.

Miss Rondeaux suffered cuts about the head and had five or six stitches it is claimed.

No explanation has been offered by the cab driver for his trip down the tracks, the attorney stated.

The owner of the taxi line, Willard Hall, was also made a defendant in the action.

FIVE INDICTED IN COUNTY FUND CASE

BRACHER TURNS IN CASH

With Aid of Friends Makes Up Shortage, Is Report; Col. Smith Plans to Push Prosecution

With the formal returning of indictments of the five men involved in the treasury and the one in Waukegan township shortage by the special grand jury called to investigate these two cases, States Attorney Smith last week admitted for the first time that he would prosecute all cases vigorously even though complete settlement is made in each instance, according to the Waukegan Sun's report, which continues:

The grand jury returned true bills. The first named Treasurer Roy W. Bracher on a charge of embezzlement; the second named Bracher, Ira Pearsall, ex-treasurer, Harold Martin, former vice-president of the defunct Security Savings bank, Caleb Busick, Winnetka oil promoter, and Clark C. Nye, formerly cashier of the First National Bank of Eureka, Kas., on a charge of conspiring to embezzle $100,000 from the county treasury in 1922; the third named Bracher, Pearsall and Martin for conspiracy in the alleged taking of $33,000 as "interest" on county deposits; the fourth named George H. Bairstow, former supervisor of Waukegan township, with with-holding $60,000 in township funds.

Prosecutor in Statement

Col. Smith outlined his position in the following written statement and asked that it might include all that he would have to say on the matter: "The indictments voted by the grand jury will be prosecuted without reference to payment. They will be prosecuted vigorously and with force, fairly, impartially and without malice. Cases will be set for trial on October 10, he said.

He amplified this statement by declaring that he would prosecute Bracher and Bairstow as well if payments were made.

The six defendants in criminal actions who were indicted by the special grand jury called to probe the treasury and township shortage will remain defendants throughout with no one being allowed to turn state's evidence on a grant of immunity States Attorney Smith declared.

That indicates, in a way, his confidence in the case. He refuses to discuss rumors that have arisen since the return of the grand jury or make known any of the details that he will depend on for conviction in the trials that start October 10 in the circuit court in which he has said that he will "prosecute vigorously and with force, fairly and impartially without malice."

Bracher has turned $100,000, furnished by friends, into the county treasury last Thursday. It went on deposit at the banks following the routine methods of handling income into the treasurer's office.

To protect these friends Treasurer Roy Bracher prepared an assignment of all property to a trustee, Supervisor George McCullough, which has, or will, become of record with Recorder L. O. Brockway.

Leaves Him Nothing

This includes, Attorney Ralph J. Dady, his counsel, stated all of his real estate.

This assignment, friends say, will leave Bracher with little more than his personal effects.

The harder the beds are and the poorer the food is as they get farther from home, the better time many people think they are having.

ORGANIZE FOR WAR ON MOSQUITO PEST

New Trier and Communities to West Uniting to Form District

New Trier communities and areas to the west have joined together with Evanston as District 1 in the newest campaign to rid the suburban areas of Chicago of the mosquito nuisance.

Initial action under the unified scheme will start this week with a meeting in Evanston of representatives of all of the north shore. Since the passage of the new state law, six mosquito abatement districts were established tentatively by the committee on plans called by the Gorgas Memorial institute, an endowed organization in Chicago for advising in matters concerning public health.

The District 1 section extends from Howard street north to the county line and west from the lake front to Milwaukee avenue.

Because certain preliminary steps are necessary before the actual operation of mosquito abatement under the new law, a meeting has been called at the office of John Hahn, Inc., in Evanston.

Arthur C. Stringer, secretary of the Gorgas Memorial, is a resident of the north shore, now living in Glencoe.

PLAN REPAIRS FOR DAM ON FOX RIVER

At a meeting held at McHenry recently and attended by Rep. William F. Weiss and Frank Stanton of Lake county, it was decided that as a solution to the problem of keeping up the water level in the chain of lakes and the Fox river, the first step would be to repair the old dam in the river.

An appropriation of $10,000 for this work has already been granted by the state legislature through the efforts of Rep. Weiss, and there are some who believe that if the old dam is repaired, there will be no necessity to spend the $175,000 appropriated for the new dam at Pistakee Bay and the river, that the old dam will keep up the level in the chain of lakes. If this proves inadequate, however, the new dam at the mouth of the river and Pistakee Bay, will be constructed.

There was nothing "hot" about the meeting according to Mr. Weiss who addressed the gathering and explained that his part had been merely to save the lakes and rivers for all of the people in the district.

WINNETKA MAN IS SUICIDE, HANGS SELF

The body of Duncan Campbell MacIntyre, 44-year-old insurance salesman living at 822 Humbolt avenue, Winnetka, was found hanging in the basement of his home last week by Mrs. MacIntyre when she became worried at his absence from the breakfast table and began a search of the house.

MacIntyre had been in ill health the last six months and had become despondent after a trip to Scotland had failed to improve his condition, according to the Winnetka police.

Besides his widow, MacIntyre is survived by a son Robert D., 15 years old, and a daughter, Aimee, 18 years old, well known along the North Shore for her poetry, who is now touring Europe.

Asking For Business. The time has gone by when the things people want can be had on the silent method. People have to ask for things they want. If you are looking for anything, and just sit patiently and wait for people to speak to you and ask you what you want, you will have to wait a long time. You have to ask for what you want. That principle applies to business success. You have to ask the public for patronage, and show reasons why that patronage should be given, before you can get it. If a business makes no effort to secure patronage, and just waits quietly until it comes, it will wait a long time. People think such a concern lacks the spirit of enterprise. Newspaper advertising furnishes an abundant means by which the business people of this city and vicinity can ask for patronage, and show reasons why it should be given. It is the kind of appeal which people expect in these times, and to which they will respond. Advertise in The Highland Park Press. The best advertising medium on the North Shore.
