

Paul Whiteman

Listening to a recording of one of his numbers on the new Orthophonic Victrola says— "Yes sir, that's my orchestra, it couldn't be more realistic." All Victor artists voice the same opinion. If you are without the new Orthophonic get in touch with us immediately and we will put one in your home for a free demonstration. We will allow you full cash value on your old victrola. Come in and hear the greatest musical creation of the century.

TOTAL OF WAR RISK INSURANCE IS LARGE

EXACT FIGURES LACKING

Indications Are, However, That About 100,000 Applicants Will Be Reinstated; Hines' Report

Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the U. S. Veterans Bureau announced today that the exact amount of war risk insurance reinstated and converted by veterans prior to midnight of July 2, cannot be given at this time due to the fact that all applications have not yet been received from the bureau's regional offices and hospitals. Gen. Hines estimated, however, that the applications for conversion of yearly renewable term insurance during the month of June alone will run between 175,000 and 200,000. Of this number, it was estimated that more than 100,000 men who had previously allowed their insurance to lapse reinstated their insurance during that period.

Surpasses Expectations
Gen. Hines called attention to the fact that the enormous volume of applications received has passed all expectations and makes the task of recording and issuing the new converted policies an unprecedented one. Applications are being acted upon in the order in which they are received in the bureau. Therefore, the ex-service man who applied for his insurance at the last minute, cannot expect to receive his converted policy for some time to come. For this reason, Gen. Hines stated, all applicants are urged to continue payments of their premiums even though they have not yet received their policies; and to further assist in expediting the work the veterans are also urged to refrain from writing the bureau concerning their insurance as receipt of additional correspondence will simply place an added burden upon the bureau's already overworked personnel.

Praises Employees
In regard to this situation, Gen. Hines took occasion to compliment all employees who have worked overtime in this drive and stated that although the regular personnel in central office has been augmented by the addition of a number of temporary employees, the employees of the insurance division and others in central office have worked night and day in an effort to place the work on a current basis and the insurance division has given up all thought of summer vacations and will continue its work unabated until the work is current.

The director stated that this additional effort on the part of the employees has been uniform throughout all regional offices and hospitals and he also expressed appreciation for the splendid co-operation of ex-service organizations, the co-operating agencies, insurance companies, the press and the business men of this country.
