

"CRIME" AT ADELPHI FOR SEASON'S RUN

Melodrama of New York's Underworld Fresh in Chicago from New York Run

"Crime," described in the program as a melodrama of New York's underworld, has roared into the Adelphi theater, Chicago, under the sponsorship of A. H. Woods...

Of course, "Crime" has already established itself as a money-getter by its long run at the Times Square theater, New York, and in bringing it to Chicago Mr. Woods has endowed it with the original New York cast...

Chester Morris and Frank M. Thomas are featured. Morris plays the part of Eugene Eganore, the platinum leader of a de luxe mob of burglars...

"Crime" is a play with wide appeal, written by Samuel Shipman and John B. Hymer. It contains enough interest and suspense to satisfy any general range of tastes...

Albert Hackett plays her childhood sweetheart, a keenly sympathetic bit of acting which just cannot fail to touch the heart.

It takes upwards of 100 people to present "Crime," and with the numerous scenes passing before your view, the action of the play is so swift that you are lost in the story before you know it and are finding in the theater one of those rare evenings of entertainment...

NEW TRIER TEACHER GOES TO ARIZONA

George H. Harper, Member of Faculty Since 1906, Resigns to Go to Tucson

George H. Harper, member of the faculty at New Trier high school since 1906 and dean of boys there for 17 years, has left the north shore and established himself permanently in the Arizona city where he has accepted a position on the faculty of the Tucson high school.

A letter, prompted by Mr. Harper's recent decision to resign that he might seek another climate in the effort to completely regain his vigor, was made public this week by the board of education of the high school.

HOLDUP MAN TAKES AWAY COIN MACHINE

Enters Kenilworth Cafe and Carries Off Device Without Use of Gun

A hold-up without the use of a gun was staged in Kenilworth last week when a stranger walked into the Schroeder restaurant and ice cream parlor, 511 Kenilworth avenue, picked up a trade machine, which was well filled with coins, put it in a car waiting at the curb and drove away.

On entering the store the man said he had been sent by the company owning the machine, with instructions to pick it up and bring it in.

His proclaimed authority was not questioned for the moment, but soon after his departure the company was advised of the incident.

"Great Scott No!" was the answer to the inquiry if a man had been sent for the machine.

The amount of money obtained is not known. The last time the official collector called, he took from the machine till something like $35 and it is presumed the amount therein at the time it was stolen was near that amount.

Chicago is said to be the noisiest city in the world and it's going to be a lot noisier yet if the Cubs happen to win the pennant this fall.

The corn crop may fall but so long as they can make wood alcohol out of sawdust the bootleggers will still have plenty of pure corn liquor.
