

TO BROADCAST ACT OF GRAND OPERA WEEKLY

Coincident with the opening of Chicago's seventeenth and greatest season of grand opera Thursday evening, November 3rd, comes an announcement that will bring added joy to the hearts of music lovers, not only in Chicago but throughout the United States and Canada.

This greatest of distributions of good music will be inaugurated with the premier performance when "La Traviata" will be presented with a brilliant cast. The broadcast will enable thousands who will be disappointed in the mad scramble for first night seats to find solace through the possibility of enjoying the second act of the performance through their receiving instruments at home.

Each succeeding Thursday evening will bring a repetition of broadcasting, bringing to millions of hearers throughout the country the musical beauties of the opera given in the Chicago auditorium on that occasion.

WARRANT ISSUED FOR FAKE HIGHWAY COP

Warrant for the arrest of the driver of a high powered car, who is charged with halting motorists on Green Bay road and charging them with speeding, is to be issued within the next few days, it was learned last week from Deputy George Heckinger, who has been assigned to catch the man by Sheriff Lawrence Doolittle.

Heckinger is waiting to hold a conference with one of the drivers of a Blue Bird bus, plying between Chicago and Milwaukee, who was halted by the man. He will be asked to identify the person in question and then is expected to sign the complaint.

The matter came to the attention of the sheriff several days ago. The report to him was that a bus driver had been halted and questioned at length by a motorist professing to be an officer. At that time the regular deputies were not on that road.

The driver refused to "settle" and was allowed to go on his way.

The license number of the car was taken and was traced down. It was not taken out in the name of an individual but a firm.

MORE COLLEGE MEN IN MAJOR LEAGUES

INCREASING IN NUMBERS

Magazine Writer Points to Growing Percentage of This Type of Ball Player in Professional Sport

Francis Wallace, a sports writer, in discussing the changes in baseball for the October Scribner's Magazine compiled a list of college men who are now holding positions in the American and National leagues.

The college men are changing the game from a romantic sport into a division of the theatrical business, Mr. Wallace asserts. They are making it respectable but they are at the same time taking something of the color from the game, he says. He predicts that within five years more than half the players will be college men.

The percentage of collegians in each of the major leagues is almost equal, as the National has 64 and the American 53. They have been furnished almost entirely by the East, South, and Middle-west. In the east, 30 schools have sent up 40 players; in the south, 22 colleges have produced 31 major leaguers; 20 schools in the middle-west have given 28 men. Eight Pacific-coast players come from 7 schools. Alabama and Holy Cross lead with 4; Columbia, Missouri, Austin college, and Ohio State have 3 each.

The Giants lead with 11 college men. The White Sox, owned by Charles Comiskey, one of the pioneers of forty-five years ago, following with 10. The Yankees have 9 and the world's champion Cardinals, the Reds, and Indians each have 8. The Giants had 16 collegians at training-camp last spring.

The collegians on big-league rosters during the season follow:

CATTLE RUSTLERS ARE ARRESTED BY OFFICERS

Have Been Operating in South Part of Lake and North of Cook Counties

Cattle rustlers are operating in the southern part of Lake county and the northern part of Cook county. A group of hard ridin', straight shootin' ranchmen out Palatine way, Thursday night of last week captured a pair of rustlers in a shanty on the outskirts of town. With the vigilantes were Lieut. Lester Laird of the Cook county highway police and two Cook county deputy sheriffs.

The cow thieves identified themselves as Henry Scotte and De Forest Jayne, and confessed almost nightly raids on corrals and barns in the neighborhood of Palatine, Barrington and Lake Zurich. They told of fourteen dairy cows they sold near Lake Geneva and Elgin.

One of the capturing party, who remembered his thriller-fiction, was for stringing the pair to a convenient tree. But Lieut. Laird, doubtful, con-suited the modern text and found he could book the prisoners for the good old-fashioned, red blooded crime of horse stealing or charge them with the "burglary of cows."

And it was the latter accusation that was finally made.

DEERFIELD MAN BUYS HIGH-PRICED ANIMAL

The following dispatch from Oconomowoc, Wis., is of interest to stockmen in Lake county!

Oconomowoc, Wis., Oct. 29.—"Some cow; some price," said cattlemen, as R. V. Rasmussen, Deerfield, Ill., Holstein fancier, prepared to ship his $10,000 purchase, Hollyhock Piebe Fobes, grand champion Holstein of the 1926 National Dairy show, to his home. Rasmussen paid that price for him at the Pabst dispersal sale of 115 animals, which was attended by more than 1,000 purebred fanciers from all over the country.

The trans-oceanic aviators console themselves with the idea that if they have to land, it will be in a good soft spot.

It used to be claimed that the girls couldn't drive a nail, but anyway they are all driving the family automobile now.

Raking up the leaves is said to be just as good exercise as playing golf, but the men have not joined expensive clubs to obtain that healthful diversion.

It is claimed this country is threatened by British propaganda, and they have already undermined our institutions by inducing many of the men to turn up their trousers.
