

PLANNING SURVEY OF LAND-GRANT SCHOOL

IS EXTENSIVE PROJECT

Advisory Committee Is Named For Great Work; Department of Interior Is In Charge

Formation of a Special Advisory committee composed of nine members on the Survey of Land-Grant colleges of the United States, one of the largest of its character ever undertaken in the country's history, is announced by the Department of the Interior. The committee includes:

The Secretary of the Interior, chairman; the Secretary of Agriculture, President R. A. Pearson of the University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland, representing the Association of Land-Grant colleges and universities; President R. S. Wilkinson of the State Agricultural and Mechanical college, Orangeburg, South Carolina, representing the conference of Negro Land-Grant college presidents; state superintendent of Public Instruction of Illinois, Francis G. Blair, Springfield, Illinois; President L. D. Coffman of the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minnesota; President S. W. Stratton of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Mass.; President Charles A. Lory of the State Agricultural college of Colorado, Fort Collins, Colo.; Miss Martha Van Rensselaer, director of the New York State College of Home Economics, Cornell university, Ithaca, New York.

Authorized by Congress Survey of land-grant colleges was authorized by the last session of congress at a cost of $117,000 and is being conducted by the Bureau of Education of the Interior department. There are 69 land-grant colleges, each state and territory maintaining one for white students and 17 states operating additional colleges for colored students. The number of students enrolled in them last year amounted to approximately 327,000 of which 314,000 were white, and 13,000 colored students, and their staff comprised 23,188 professors and instructors. All of the institutions are state-supported and their total income in 1925-26 was $129,200, the federal government contributing $4,134,000.

In connection with the formation of the special advisory committee, final plans for the conduct of the survey by the bureau of education were also made public through a statement issued today by Commissioner John J. Tigert of the bureau. It follows:

Study of Accomplishments

"This survey is a national study of the accomplishments, the status and future objectives of the land-grant type of education, and not a collection of surveys of individual institutions. The functions of this type of educational institution as originally established by congress and as developed during the past three-quarters of a century are public and democratic in nature. They have practical purposes which are worthy of full recognition as belonging to the field of higher education. The survey, therefore, is being conducted entirely from this point of view.

"While the bureau is maintaining entire control of the work and is assuming full responsibility for the report as finally issued, the different groups already organized to promote the interest of special aspects of land-grant college education and the individuals who are directing and who serve on their staffs are being utilized to the fullest extent. The rank and file as well as the leaders of land-grant college education are being consulted and given an opportunity to express opinion. The personnel for the survey also is being drawn in a large part from the land-grant college group.

The American people are served now by 18,000,000 telephones, over which there is a good deal of useless talk.—Boston Globe.

RICE GROWING IN ILLINOIS INCREASES

Promises to Be Important Industry, Says Report to State Department

Reports received by the State Department of Agriculture indicate the growing of rice in certain sections of Illinois promises to become a most important industry. During the past season 200 acres of this crop was raised by Judge Edward Boyle in the southwestern part of Greene county, much of the crop producing 100 bushels to the acre.

Rice experts who have visited this section, and who are authority on the crop of India and China, declare sections of the Illinois river valley may yet play an important part in the rice market of the world. The average yield of this crop by the rice plantations of Louisiana is about 35 bushels to the acre, which is greatly exceeded by the planted area in Illinois.

Judge Boyle is planning to increase his acreage from 200 to 900 during 1928.

Well the corn crop got here a little later than usual, again proving the worth of the old axiom about "better late than never."
