ORDERS N. S. LINE RATES INCREASED

Continued from page 1 provided competition unfair to the steam railroads. The increase in intrastate fares will be put into effect about the first week in January, it was said today.

Explains Order
The increased North Shore rate, it was explained in Chicago Friday by Vice-President Charles E. Thompson and Col. Ralph Bradley for the railroad, does not affect those passengers who use the ten ride, twenty-five ride or monthly commutation tickets. It will only add to the cost of single or round trip fares. These will be increased 20 per cent.

Thus, altho heretofore the charge for a single ride between Chicago and Evanston, Wilmette, Kenilworth, Winnetka, Glencoe, Ravinia, Lake Bluff, Highland Park, Lake Forest, Great Lakes, Fort Sheridan or Waukegan was reckoned at 3 cents a mile, under the ruling now issued the new fare will be charged at 3.6 cents a mile.

"Only the basic intrastate fare is being changed," Mr. Bradley pointed out, adding that the change was made on the application of the railroad. Last March the interstate fare between Illinois and Wisconsin points was increased from 3 to 3.6 cents a mile, but the fare between points in the two states was left at 3 cents. The present ruling removes this discrimination, the railroad officials said.

The following table shows the present one-way fare between Chicago and various points on the North Shore, together with the amount likely to be charged when the increase goes into effect:

	Old fare	New fare
Evanston	.39	.47
Wilmette	.48	.58
Kenilworth	.51	.61
Winnetka	.55	.67
Glencoe	.63	.76
Ravinia Park	.67	.81
Highland Park	.75	.90
Fort Sheridan	.81	.97
Lake Forest	.90	1.08
Lake Bluff	.96	1.15
Great Lakes	1.03	1.24
Waukegan	1.12	1.35

The Japanese emperor is reported to be using the scythe. Many of us believed that useful results like this would follow when Cal Coolidge set the example of pitching hay.

Many of the silver-tongued orators could win golden opinions by keeping silence for a while.

It is complained that people move around too much from place to place, and even Uncle Sam is having his difficulties now finding a new tenant for the White House.

Anyway the American people believe in New Year resolutions sufficiently so that many millions of them resolve not to be any better than they ought to be.

IOWA STATE MAY GO INTO COAL BUSINESS

PLAN MINING OPERATIONS

May Follow Example of Kansas in This; Also New Penitentiary May Be Erected Is Report

The state of Iowa plans to go into the coal mining business on its own. In doing so Iowa will follow the example of some of the other state governments. Kansas, the state officials pointed out, has mined coal for its own institutions for years.

Whether the recent coal strike in Iowa fields is responsible for the state's action was not stated. However, this year the state purchased from Kentucky and other non-union fields thousands of tons of coal that ordinarily would have come from mines within the state.

State as Consumer
More than 125,000 tons of coal are used each year in state maintained institutions and the executive council believes the taxpayers will be saved a considerable amount of money if the natural resources on state-owned property is used.

The present proposal calls for mining coal on land located about ten miles from Des Moines. The property at the present time is utilized as a state game preserve and fish hatchery. Prison labor would be used in the work, it was said, the prisoners receiving a nominal sum for their labor.

Build New Prison
There is also a possibility that a new state penitentiary would be erected near Des Moines if this move is made. At present the penitentiary is located at Fort Madison, in the extreme southeastern corner of the state, while the men's reformatory is at Anamosa, in the east central section.

It is pointed out that a centrally located prison would mean a saving over a long period of years in railroad fare incurred in transporting prisoners from distant parts of the state to the present penitentiaries.

ADULT ART CLASSES PROVE TO BE POPULAR

If you know nothing of art and have never drawn or painted before, no matter how old you are, you can still make interesting compositions and designs. This was proved by an inspection of the work of Dudley Crafts Watson's adult class in drawing at the Art Institute. Some surprising results were shown last Monday when the work of the class was hung in the foyer of Fullerton hall for exhibition. When the class was first started, it numbered about thirty members. It has grown to one hundred and fifty. Ninety per cent of the class have never drawn painted before. Members of the Art Institute are free to join this Monday sketch class, the only requirement being that each should furnish his own drawing materials. The class is made possible through recent generous contributions to the James Nelson Raymond fund made by Mrs. Anna L. Raymond.

MANY FROM HERE AT CHINDBLUM DINNER

time is reported by those from here who were privileged to attend. About 20 from Lake Forest were also present.

Following are three of many letters and telegrams which were read by the toastmaster, which show in part the high esteem in which our Congressman is held by some of our nation's leaders:

Telegram from Vice-President Dawes
Edward Hagelin, 5154 North Clark St.

Greatly appreciate honor of invitation to attend testimonial dinner for Congressman Chindblom whom I regard most highly. Regret very much previous engagement makes it impossible for me to be with you.
CHARLES G. DAWES.

Letter from Congressman Rainey
December 19, 1927.

Mr. William J. Steiner
Chicago, Illinois.

My dear Mr. Steiner:
I greatly regret the fact that my duties here will prevent me from returning to Illinois during the Christmas holidays. I thank you sincerely for the invitation to attend the non-partisan Testimonial Dinner given in honor of my personal friend, Congressman Carl R. Chindblom, of Chicago.

Mr. Chindblom has opportunities for service enjoyed by but few members of Congress. He has been assigned to the great Ways and Means Committee of the House, the most important of all the Committees. I serve on that committee myself and while Congressman Chindblom and myself belong to opposite political parties, we are personal friends and usually find ourselves fighting for the same non-partisan, economic propositions. He is a man of great ability. During my long service in the House of Representatives, covering a period of twenty-five years, I have never known a Member of Congress who has so rapidly risen as has Mr. Chindblom. He has the respect of every Member of the House on both sides of the Chamber. He is one of the strongest debaters in that body and in debate is a foeman worthy of any man's steel. I often find myself in debate pitted against him, and I assure you I have acquired a great respect for his ability, his repartee, and his skill. I never permit myself to engage in controversy with him in Committee or on the Floor, unless I am sure I thoroughly understand my subject.

I am sorry I cannot attend the dinner.

ner. It would give me great pleasure, I assure you, to be able to attend and pay my tribute of respect to my friend.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) HENRY T. RAINEY.

Letter from Congressman Madden
Mr. Edward Hagelin, Chicago, Illinois.

Dear Mr. Hagelin:
I am pleased to know that his constituents are to pay a deserved honor to our mutual friend Congressman Carl R. Chindblom.

His service here has been of great value to his country and of special value to his own constituents. He has earned the confidence of the membership of the House to a marked degree. His words of wisdom are listened to with great attention. What he says is always well said.

Mr. Chindblom is a student and is recognized here as such. He is an industrious, painstaking Member of the House. His integrity is above question. His veracity has never been doubted. He possesses ability of a high order. His time has been given exclusively to his constituents and to the country. As a Member of the Ways and Means Committee, a distinction seldom achieved except after very long service, he has had an opportunity to be of greater service to his own constituents and to the country at large than would ordinarily have been the case with a Member of Congress with his period of service. He has used the opportunity which membership on this powerful committee gives him, in the interest of the public welfare.

Mr. Chindblom thinks nationally without forgetting his local obligations. That makes him a constantly growing factor in shaping the Nation's policies.

The people of the Tenth District were wiser than they knew when they selected Mr. Chindblom as their representative here. A continuance of the wisdom first displayed by his continuance as their Representative will be of infinite value to the country. When the people of a district have a man who deserves their confidence there is nothing they can do of greater importance than to continue that man in the place of trust to which they have elevated him, as long as he is willing to serve them—for this is one place where long service leads to the power of usefulness of the Member.

I regret my ability to be with you for I should like nothing better than to be present and pay my tribute personally to one of Chicago's most deserving sons and America's best beloved Representatives.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) MARTIN B. MADDEN.

MOFFAT TUNNEL IS NEAR COMPLETION

BLAST FINISHES BIG BORE

Much Work Yet to Be Done on Great Project to Pierce Continental Divide in Colorado

The main bore of the Moffat tunnel started four and a half years ago to reduce the mileage of transcontinental trains by piercing the Continental Divide, was completed Dec. 10. The final blast in the work of increasing the central railroad tunnel to the necessary size of 16 by 24 feet was fired shortly before 4 o'clock in the morning.

Crews working from the east and west slopes of the divided completed a small shaft through the almost solid granite encountered in the main bore, July 7, last; a pioneer or parallel tunnel used to remove rock from the central shaft was finished last February when President Coolidge in Washington to set off explosives removing the six-foot barrier.

Inauguration of train service will reduce the distance between here and Salt Lake City by 173 miles. The estimate cost of the project is $18,000,000. The east portal is 9085 feet above sea level and the western entrance 9198 feet. The tunnel is approximately six miles in length and is about 2900 feet below the crest of the divide.

It is suggested that the barbers be called "chirotonors." They never got those fancy notions in the old days before the women folks began to come in to get their hair bobbed.
