SAYS RED-HEADED GIRL MAY WEAR ALL COLORS

Noted Costume Designer Claims That Modern Ideas on the Subject Changed

A red head can look perfectly delightful in red! A brunette can look charming in pastels, and green and reds can be combined!

So says Miss Irene Robus, costume designer, who claims that all old ideas about colors are wrong. There are hardly two colors in the spectrum that can't be combined today. This is partly due to the subtlety of color which we didn't have a few years ago.

"The time when brunettes all were supposed to look well in red and blondes were all dressed in pinks and sky blue is gone," says Miss Robus.

Thus if you are a blonde and have always had a wild desire for a red dress, you can now fulfill that desire with the knowledge that although it will be an offense to all of the old traditions, it will not be an offense to beauty. For Miss Robus finds that blondes look perfectly delicious in certain shades of red.

The many new textiles and fabrics which have recently appeared on the market have brought with them many new and delightful colors.

NEW YORK SCHOOLS BAR INTERFERENCE

Coaches Must Not Inject Their Personal Influence in Champ Contests

Interference by a coach or other adult will not be allowed hereafter in sectional and league championship contests of New York high schools. The central committee of the New York public high school Athletic association, by recent unanimous vote, prohibited such interference during actual playing time and rest periods; and the recommendation was made that coaches of opposing teams remain together during play periods and keep in touch during intermissions.

Violation of the regulation will result in suspension for a year of the school whose representative was at fault. The new restriction does not prohibit withdrawal by a coach or his representative of any contestant at any time, but the person withdrawn will not be allowed to return to the same contest.

Such Love

Nellie is blond and quite pretty; She's deeply in love with Jim Bell Though Jim favors raven-haired maidens, 'I'd dye for that fellow' swears Nell.
