

ARE ADVANCED SUPER-HIGHWAY

GO TO STATE LINE

North Shore Cities to be Satisfied; Progress Made in Preliminary Work, Report Says

Plans for a super-highway, extending from the Will-Cook county line in Chicago to the Illinois-Wisconsin state line, are now completed.

The highway will be 100 feet wide, with 5 feet as the minimum width for pavement. It will be 71 miles long.

The road, which fits in snugly with the Small's master road-builders plan, and has the approval of the Chicago plan commission, will be built with the proposed Governor's plan from Kankakee at Mather, Ill., near the Will County line.

Through Chicago the highway will follow an extended Crawford ave. through Markham, and Evergreen Park. It will run through the entire north and south length of Chicago, and thence through Tessville, Niles Center, Wilmette, skirting the western boundary of Evanston.

At Wilmette the highway will turn on Glenview road and converge with the proposed Skokie highway, being available for through passage from Glencoe, Winnetka and Worth.

The highway will pass through Highland Park, Lake Forest, Lake Bluff and Chicago. From North Chicago to the Wisconsin line it will run west of Waukegan and Zion.

This great artery soon will be a reality, Mr. Northam said. "Our plans are now complete. Important steps have been taken."

Legal Progress Made Court proceedings are now in progress which will provide for the widening of Crawford ave. between Twenty-ninth street and Sixty-seventh street to 100 feet and for paving the highway between Forty-third and Seventy-first streets.

The Sanitary District recently let contracts for the substructure of a $1,000 bridge over the drainage at Crawford avenue. In Evanston provision has been made for opening Crawford avenue from Simpson street to Glenview road." Mr. Northam declared the highway would not only provide rapid travel through Chicago to the north and south and greatly increase property values along the route, but that it would relieve congestion that Crawford avenue and other north and south streets now suffer.

ECONOMY IN BUYING IN LARGER QUANTITY

Saving Possible in Purchasing of Household Articles in This Way

Buying food in quantities — not large quantities, but in the larger sized containers—is one of the most effective methods of achieving household economy, the household editor of Farm & Fireside has discovered after a series of actual shopping tests in New York.

"Soap, starch and other laundry materials all may be had in lots of five or six packages at a substantial saving over single unit buying," she declares, "but in foods the saving is sometimes much larger."

"Even though but a few cents are gained, the total on staple articles amounts to a great deal even in the course of a month. I found this particularly true of maple syrup, upon which the prices vary greatly, the price for a half pint being thirty

STANDING COMMITTEES ARE BEING ABOLISHED

Boards of education in many places have entirely abolished standing committees or have materially reduced the number of such committees, according to W. S. Deffenbaugh, chief city schools division of the United States Bureau of Education, in City School Leaflet No. 29. Of 25 cities of 100,000 or more population reporting to the bureau in 1917 and in 1927, 11 have in that time reduced the number of committees, and 9 have abolished them entirely or constituted the board as a committee of the whole. The average number of standing committees in the 25 cities was 6.5 in 1917, and 3.5 in 1927. Of 43 cities of 100,000 or more population reporting in 1917, only 3 did not have such committees; of 55 cities of this size reporting in 1927, 21 have no standing committees.

In the Day's Work

THE Mississippi was rising sullenly — inundating wide areas of farm lands, making thousands homeless. At one of the many towns a break came, spreading ruin through the streets. A government steamer rescued 900 refugees, but the four telephone operators refused to forsake their posts. Friends warned them to leave at once. They decided to remain on duty, and the exchange was the only thing in town that continued to carry on. The world hears little of "the spirit of service" until times of emergency, but behind the scenes this spirit is always present. Telephone users confidently rely upon the devotion to duty of the men and women who make this service possible. "Get the message through," is the daily work of the more than 310,000 Bell System employees.
