VOLO FARMERS MIX IN SLANDER SUIT

Suit for $25,000 in slander was started today by Joseph Hironimus of Volo against his neighbor, Jacob Biefeld.

The action was taken in circuit court by Attorney J. V. DeLaney of Chicago.

A year ago Hironimus charged that Biefeld circulated a rumor that he had stolen honey from his beehives and had taken his chickens.

"I got hold of him and told him something then and things stopped" Hironimus said.

"Then, just lately, he started saying that I went over to his place at night and stole his clothing off the line."

Hironimus and Biefeld have been neighbors for ten years.

"We never got along together very good," Hironimus admitted.

DEERFIELD GRAMMAR SCHOOL School Notes

The eighth grade held a candy sale at the P. T. A. meeting, Friday.
Miss Pauline White, a graduate of Northwestern university, is assisting in the third grade room as a cadet.
Miss Titus, Miss Andrews, Miss Evans, Miss Evenson, Mrs. Thor-meyer, Miss Scheel, Miss Nygaard, Miss Lidgerwood, Mrs. Knaak, and Mr. and Mrs. Bates attended the Lake Shore Division Institute Monday at Waukegan. Mrs. Bates attended as a delegate from the P. T. A.
Miss Hill and Miss Schilstra spent Monday at the National Music Supervisor's Conference at the Stevens hotel, Chicago.

One has only to stand in the corridors of the school building to hear the improvement in the School Band. This Wednesday, weather permitting, there is to be an outdoor rehearsal. The school band will make a public appearance Friday, May 11. The school band is a splendid project for our school. According to an analysis of the school children in Springfield Missouri, children who took music were found to be 25 per cent more efficient than those who did not. Music quickens preception, for in the other school subjects a child may set his own speed for thinking, but in music, the time is set.

Carol Frantz is out of school with Scarlet fever. Rose Soefker has returned to 5B after a week's absence because of Mumps in the family.

The sixth, seventh, and eighth grades are busily working on their essays on Patriotism for the local contest given by the American Legion and Auxiliary.

About 20 girls from the 6, 7, and 8 grades, accompanied by Miss Andrew and Miss Evans went swimming in the D. S. H. S. tank on last Thursday afternoon.

On last Tuesday, the kindergarten children invited the children of the first grade to ride in their bus. The visitors brought paper money which they had made in their own room. They bought tickets from the kindergarten ticket agent, and were taken to their respective stations by the kindergarten bus driver.

The third grade children were discussing the various changes which took place in the earth, trees, plants and animals during the spring. One boy remarked, "The change in the animals is that the dogs are muzzled."

An original story written by June Gunkle, Grade three:

Farewell
A little girl named Farewell lived in a brown house. She was a happy little girl and very clean and neat. She always washed her face and hands when it was necessary. One day she asked her mother if she could go to see her friend Ruth. Mother said she could go. Ruth was an unhealthy and unclean girl, but Farewell did not know it when she went. Everything was dirty. Farewell went home and found some work to do. She did not play with Ruth any more, but played with her friend Sarah, who was clean.

COUNTY MAY LOSE BIG SUM IN PAVING FUNDS

Owing to Objection to Right of Ways Several State Routes Doubtful
Through objections in the gaining of right-of-ways to state aid routes Lake county will lose, within the next few days, $585,000 in paving, it was learned from R. M. Lobdell, county superintendent of highways.
Lobdell got his information from the district engineer, G. N. Lamb, of Elgin, who learned from Springfield that the state highway department had sent through a demand to return checks posted by all low bidders on Lake county projects in which right-of-ways had not been obtained.

The paving covers a territory of 19 1/2 miles and in addition there is a five miles grading job.

The routes are:
1. Route 172, Libertyville to Gurnee. The low bidders were Darrow and Barron and the stretch is five miles.

Objectors there had been A. M. Casey, Harry Meyer, W. M. Ewing, H. J. Cater, J. A. Kenny, E. J. Cur-two objections there. Some had thought a 66 instead of an 80 foot right-of-way would be sufficient. Others took the position that hundreds of trees lining the route would be lost. The state finally agreed in writing to save the trees.

2. Route 59, Volo to Ingleside, five miles of heavy grading with prospects of paving for next year. Objectors there had been Martha Sheehan, the O'Boyle estate and the Rush-mores at Fox Lake, and a Chicagoan named Waldmann, who absolutely refused to compromise even at $20,000 for two and a half acres.

3. Route 176, Mundelein to Wauconda and Wauconda to Burton's Bridge. There were two objectors there, one in Wauconda and one in Mundelein. There is a chance that these objections will be removed in time to save 14 1/2 miles of paving.

In the event objections can't be swept away within the next few days it is the consensus of opinion that Lake county will definitely lose this $585,000 for roads out of the $100,000,000 bond issue as it will be spent in other parts of the state.

Although it is claimed there is not much labor trouble this year, Calvin Coolidge still declines to work four years more.
