

L. F. ACADEMY STARTS EXPANSION CAMPAIGN

Drive Under Way to Raise Big Fund; W. Mather Lewis Is Opening Speaker

"One out of every one hundred and fifty persons in the United States is in a college or a university today, but of this number one half will fail to be graduated because of faulty preparation during their secondary school years. Dr. William Mather Lewis, President of Lafayette College and former Headmaster of Lake Forest Academy told the members of the Corporation of the Academy meeting for luncheon in the Union League club last week.

The meeting marked the opening of a rebuilding and expansion campaign of the Academy to obtain $650,000 for the construction of six new buildings. One hundred thousand dollars is for scholarships and rehabilitation of the present buildings, and the remainder of the fund is for the construction of a new dormitory, a dining hall, study and recitation building, a combined auditorium and chapel, a gymnasium and a residence for the Headmaster.

The appeal of the academy, which is celebrating the seventieth anniversary of its founding this year, is being directed by a committee on development which numbers among its members: DeForest Hulburd, Charles F. Glone, F. L. Bateman, George W. Blossom, Jr., Clayton Mark, William S. Kline, Logan T. McMenemy, Fred W. Sargent, and William A. Sauer. Mr. Hulburd is General Chairman of the committee and Mr. Glone is Treasurer. The Headmaster of the academy is John Wayne Richards.

Lake Forest academy had its beginnings in 1856, when a group of Chicago men formed the Lake Forest association and acquired a tract of land in what is now the town of Lake Forest. The following year the State of Illinois granted a charter to the school, and in 1858, the academy began the instruction of four students in a two-story wooden building.

Approximately five thousand students have attended the academy during its seventy years. Of this number nearly two thousand are living, representing every state in the United States and eleven foreign countries. The student body now numbers one hundred and eighty, enrolled from twenty-five states and three foreign countries.

SURPRISE SALAD

Hollow out six medium sized tomatoes. To the contents of the tomatoes add one can of bean sprouts, one stalk celery, one green pepper and a little parsley, all finely chopped. If fresh bean sprouts, cook 1/2 pound in boiling water from five to seven minutes and wash in cold water. Add enough mayonnaise to suit taste. Fill the hollowed tomatoes with this mixture and replace the cut out covers to give the appearance of whole tomatoes. Chill and serve on crisp lettuce leaves. Additional mayonnaise may be poured over the entire salad for appearance. A touch of green pepper can be arranged to form a stew. Prepare the salad several hours before serving.

Whitemushroom Chicken Soup
1/2 stalk celery.
1/2 cup chicken white meat.
2 tab. Chinese sauce.
1 doz. white mushrooms.
1/2 dry onion.
Salt and pepper.
2 eggs.

Cut celery and onion into small pieces, boil in soup stock. When nearly done, add sliced white mushrooms and chicken meat, and boil about ten minutes. Then add seasoning and the two tabs. of Chinese sauce. Beat up the two eggs and put in soup. This is an appetizing soup.

Braised Meat
Take a thick steak, pound in all the flour it will take, and fry in a hot, greased skillet until brown. Pour over this steak 1/4 cup of catsup or tomato sauce, two tablespoons full of Chinese sauce (no salt) and let it simmer on top of the stove or in the oven for half an hour, adding a little water when necessary. Use a very slow fire.

CIVILIZATION'S NEED
Someone suggests that civilization is working step by step toward the self-opening can. By the increasing prevalence of cans and patented sealed jars that defy even the stoutest can-openers, it might be said that civilization is steadily working away from cans capable of being opened, but there can be no doubt that the country needs a self-opening can worse than it needs a good five-cent cigar.—Providence Journal.

LAKE SHORE TEACHERS MEETING IN WAUKEGAN

Interesting Session Last Week With Many Fine Talks by Leading Educators

The Lake Shore division of the Illinois State Teachers association met last week in Waukegan. The Waukegan high school was turned over to the association by the principal, J. W. Thalman. The school gymnasium was beautifully decorated with a blue and yellow canopy, and it was here that the opening exercises were given.

Dr. Livingston C. Lord, president of the State Teachers' college at Charleston, in his address said that a degree was only evidence of opportunity, not proof of learning. He said that there can be teaching only where there is learning, that an easy mind comes only when the teacher has complete mastery of the subject. If the intellect is stimulated, he declared, then knowledge will be converted into faculty, facility, habit and culture.

At 11 o'clock, all were free to choose whatever sectional meeting they liked. There were meetings for principals and supervisors, and the rural groups.

Hughes Mearns, professor of education at New York university, talked to the primary section on "Setting Free the Creative Spirit." He quoted Dr. Lord by saying, "There are few greater miracles than leading a despairing child into the light of success." He pleaded for the child to be taken seriously, saying that unless the child trusts his teacher and his parents he will not reveal his real self.
