AMERICAN HEROINES IN THE NEAR EAST

Quiet Courage and Signal Ability Mark Records of These Nurses on Duty

Quiet courage and signal ability of American girls in situations of danger and emergency have recently been illustrated by two nurses serving with the Near East Relief forces overseas.

Miss Alice Carr, of Yellow Springs, Ohio, might have gone unheralded and unsung had she not come close to disaster in the Arabian desert between Mosul and Bagdad. She and others like her have carried on since the war, organizing, teaching, aiding and executing important missions. Her trip alone across the desert, with $10,000 in her possession to succor starving children in Mosul, bespeaks her fearlessness. Even bandits have been known to respect and to spare women of her calibre. The little Ohio town from which she comes may well be proud of this daughter who has brought it distinction.

Miss Edna Steiger of Williamsport, Pennsylvania, who nursed former Mayor Hylan of New York through a critical illness in 1924, turns up in Syria, where she is battling against terrific odds in a small-pox epidemic among the refugees. Dispatches say that there were 30 deaths during the first three days of the outbreak, and the spread of the disease is greatly feared owing to the unsanitary condition of the refugee camps. Miss Steiger is the only American nurse in Spria. She has been in charge of all nursing and clinical work for 6,000 children in the American orphanages there, with a clinic which averages 10,000 treatments a month.

Miss Steiger's name is synonymous with "heroine" throughout the Near East. Her record for bravery includes courageous work at risk of life in earthquakes, massacres and epidemics. She has added another star to the crown of American nursing through her new acts of heroism in Syria.

ENTERS 4TH WEEK RUN IN CHICAGO

John Barker Who Plays Leading Role Is Graduate of Northwestern U.

John Barker, who supplies the love interest in the musical version of "Arizona," entitled, "The Love Call," which is in its fourth capacity week at the Olympic theater, is a native of Gerard, Kan. He studied singing, piano and composition in Chicago for a number of years and won the Rubenstein gold medal for his accomplishments. He then dreamed of becoming a composer. Sonatas melted into sonnets, however, when he entered the class of 1917 at the Northwestern university. These yielded in time to the fascination of track work, and his record for the sprint still stands in Evanston, they say. In his senior year, he was made captain of the track team. He was also leader of the Glee club.

An excursion interrupted his studies when he was sent as one of the representatives of Northwestern to entertain Christmas holiday visitors in the canal zone. The attention he won there later led to the journeying to England to sing in the camps and hospitals at the outbreak of the war. He was too young, then, to be admitted into the forces which were being recruited for service in France. When America took up the war, he was ordered to Cleveland for service, during the fourth Liberty Loan drive, and after the war was over he went into vaudeville.

Barker's first entrance into the musical comedy field was made under studying a principal part in "Sally." After playing the juvenile lead in "Up She Goes" he found his way into the cast of "No, No, Nanette" and after sixteen months with this company he was engaged for the leading juvenile role in "The Cocoanuts."

COURT UPHOLDS RIGHT OF RAILROAD COMPANY

The right of a railway company to grant an exclusive franchise to a taxi company to use its terminal facilities to solicit business, excluding all other taxi companies from so doing, has been upheld by the United States Supreme court, according to a report of the decision by the American Motorists' association. Justice Brandies filed a dissenting opinion from the majority decision. The case arose at Morristown, N. J., when the municipality passed an ordinance requiring the D. L. & W. railway to permit the use of its terminal facilities to all taxi cab companies. The court held that this was a violation of the company's constitutional rights, and amounted to a taking of the company's terminal facilities without just compensation.

A Nutritious Dish

Simmer together 1 cup of boiled rice, 1 cup of tomatoes. While cooking, mix together 1 pound of chopped round steak and 2 or 3 onions. Add 1 tablespoon chili powder and heat thoroughly in a skillet containing a large lump of butter or margarine. Add to the rice and tomatoes and cook for 10 or 15 minutes, stirring constantly.

NEW TRANSPORTATION FAD

Several North Shore Residents To Use Speed Boats To and From Chicago, Report Declares

No longer will the thoroughly solvent gentlemen who reside on the north shore of Lake Michigan spend their leisure hours across the lake near Indiana's or Michigan's dunes say "Home, James!" at the close of their business day in Chicago. "Cast off, Jack!" will be the mode of address heard along the water front this summer.

Commuting by boat is now considered the correct way of traveling from one's home to the loop and return, the automobile having gone the way of the one-horse shay.

Lake Displaces Autos

For several years residents of the Hudson river and Long Island Sound, whose business calls them daily to New York, have used speed-boats or day cruisers with which to make the trip to and from Manhattan, and now the idea of using the broad lanes of Lake Michigan instead of the narrow, congested shore roads over which to speed to and from the office has materialized.

Thorne Donnelly of Lake Forest last summer commuted in his Gar Wood runabout daily from his home to the loop. Barney Balaban, theatrical magnate, recently placed his order for a Robinson day cruiser that will travel north over the waters of Lake Michigan at a thirty-mile-an-hour clip without interference from speed cops or traffic lights.

Many Use the Water

Although only a few Chicagoans will commute by water from the eastern coast resorts on Lake Michigan, a number will use the waterways from Racine, Kenosha, Wilmette, Highland Park, Lake Forest, Hubbard Woods and Kenilworth.

SAYS COUNTY BOARD MUST GIVE LICENSES

Court Holds That Dance Halls May Be Regulated by Not Refused Permits

The county board of supervisors has no power to refuse a license to dance halls Judge Arthur E. Fisher, of Rockford, held Wednesday in a hearing before him in the Rockford circuit court.

It is within the power of the board, he held, to regulate the dance halls but its power does not cover the refusal of a permit to operate.

The point came up in the case of the Rockford Amusement company against the board of supervisors.

It is not known whether the ruling will be carried to a higher court. The Winnebago county board goes into session next week and it will be decided at that time.

Winnebago, like Lake county, passed the dance hall license plan not for revenue but to regulate dance halls and roadhouses. The board here considered that it could stamp out undesirable places by refusing a permit. The tax here is $25 annually.

DISTRICT NO. 108 BUILDING PROGRAM

give two class rooms on the first floor and an office and music room on the second floor. While the growth at the Lincoln school has not been so rapid as at Ravinia, nevertheless it has been steady and has almost doubled in the last six years. The primary grades are becoming crowded and there is no more available space in which to expand. Neither are there suitable facilities for music, library or science, all important essentials in a modern progressive school. The addition will give four new rooms at an estimated cost of about $24,000, and enable the work to go forward in a fine progressive way for several years to come.

Time Limited

This program must go forward at once owing to the limited time set by the state legislature for allowing bonds to the amount of 5 per cent of assessed valuation. After July 1st the 2 1/2 per cent limit will be again in force and it will be impossible to take care of these growing needs for a long time to come. Our district has used all its bonding power up to the 2 1/2 per cent limit and it is only an emergency arrangement lasting till July 1st which enables our board to plan such a program.

Bond Election, Plan

Let all our voters inform themselves on present conditions and future needs and make possible the accomplishment of this splendid program by voting in favor of the necessary bonds. The three units of the whole plan will be voted on as separate propositions. The bond election will take place just as soon as the necessary preliminaries can be arranged.

WOMAN'S CIVIC CLUB RE-ELECT OFFICERS

Annual Meeting Wednesday, May 9; Mrs. Helen Barth Delights Audience

The annual meeting of the Woman's Civic Club of Ravinia was held Wednesday, May 9, in the kindergarten room of the school. Interesting reports of the various committees were read, showing most unusual work accomplished during the year.

Mrs. Arthur Raff, the very able president, was re-elected for the coming year, also Mrs. Robt. Grinnell, first vice-president, and Mrs. Jill Jones, corresponding secretary. Mrs. Ross Marvin was chosen as recording secretary, Mrs. Jos. Gillen, second vice-president and Mrs. Lee Frank, treasurer.

Mrs. Helen Petersen Bank, professional contralto, gave a program of vocal selections, the first number being the "Aria" from Samson and Delilah by Saint Saens. Two numbers by Gertrude Ross, entitled "High" and "Dawn in the Desert," as an encore she sang "L'Heure Delicieuse Marotte" by Mrs. Aregillus. Her next selections were "Pirate Dreams," by Porter, and "Sing Joyous Bird," by Philips, as encore, "Little Mother of Mine," by Burleigh.

At the close of the program a social hour was enjoyed at which time Mrs. Mary Hoffman and her committee served delicious refreshments.

PLAN LARGE HOTEL ON SHERIDAN ROAD

or not buildings 60 feet high may have more than three stories; in fact, in regard to these buildings nothing definite is said as to the number of stories. The city building inspector refused us a permit; we took it up with the commissioners and they referred us to the zoning appeal board, and there the matter has rested four weeks.

Ready for Eventualities

Mr. Schneider stated that his firm had retained an attorney and were considering taking drastic steps unless some definite decisions were forthcoming shortly in the matter, as time is valuable when an extensive improvement of the magnitude of the proposed hotel is held up.

Two other questions are pending in connection with the zoning regulations; one is that the building should set back fifteen feet from the lot line on Park avenue, but Mr. Schneider says, this provision has been ignored in the erection of other buildings; the other is that an alley or areaway ten feet wide be left in the rear on the east side of the building. The owners had planned to allow for a court wider than this at the southeast corner, but Mr. Schneider says, they will agree to the 10-foot strip if necessary, omitting the court in such event. It is believed, however, that these two minor points can be readily arranged.

Plan Fine Building

The hotel building, as planned, is to extend 111 feet on Sheridan road, 89 feet on Park avenue, 100 feet along the east side and 141 feet on the south side. It is to be of five stories, but the upper four stories will be set back and will extend only along the Sheridan road and Park avenue sides of the property, leaving wide space in the rear, so that all of the 80 or more rooms in these four upper stories will have light and air on both sides.

On the first floor will be six shops, besides the office and grille room of the hotel. All equipment will be of the most approved modern type with furnishings down-to-date in every respect.

The hotel will have elevator service and all of the rooms will be of large size, each with attached bath and every modern comfort and facility, the plan being to make this building, which will be fireproof throughout and of steel and concrete with brick facing and stone trimming, one of the finest structures in the city and a credit to Highland Park's downtown business district.

DR. JOHN W. KAIL DIES SUNDAY AT HOME HERE

Funeral Is Held Wednesday Afternoon; Burial in North Shore Cemetery

Dr. John William Kail, eye, ear nose and throat specialist with offices in Chicago and residing at 322 Vine avenue, died Sunday at his home here, following about two years of ill health. He was aged 53 years and 8 months.

His wife is living and two children, Mrs. Edward Blatz and Clifton Kail; also the deceased's mother, Mrs. Laura Walton. The funeral was held at the home at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and interment was in the North Shore cemetery.

FLETCHER TO BE COACH WAUKEGAN HIGH SCHOOL

Ralph E. Fletcher will be the coach and athletic director at the Waukegan Township high school for the school year 1928-29, which opens next fall. The athletic committee of the local high school, composed of Dr. John G. Kyndberg, Julian G. Hart and Albert Hall, recommended to the teachers committee of the board of education the election of Fletcher at a salary of $4,000 a year. The teachers committee approved the recommendation and reported the same to the board at their meeting held late Tuesday afternoon.

Fletcher, who was a former star football player at the University of Illinois, at the present time holds the position of football and basketball coach at the West High School in Aurora, where he has made an enviable record.

CLEANLINESS HABIT AND HUMAN BEHAVIOR

One of the Strong Factors in Its Effect on Conduct; Says Experts

"What will people think?" is one of the strongest forces affecting human conduct, whether that applies to paying one's debts or to such matters of daily routine as taking a bath. Boys and girls are particularly susceptible to the opinion of the group to which they belong. This, probably, is one reason for the great success of organizations like the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, and others, in moulding the habits of children.

Mrs. Jane Deeter Rippin, national director of the Girl Scouts, in a recent statement reveals secrets of child guidance that should provide many parents with food for thought. She tells of a twelve-year-old Girl Scout who decided to work for the "health badge," and found out that for three months she would have to follow certain regulations with regard to rest, exercise, food, and cleanliness.

"Three months!" she exclaimed gloomily, aware that bathing and tooth brushing had never been her favorite pastimes. "By that time I suppose I'll have the habit!"

The child knew that the public opinion of her troop would count heavily in inducing her to follow these rules, and that before long the habits would become so well established that she might actually enjoy them. For this is how the wise parents or teacher, or leader of children, helps to guide them in the ways of wholesome living.

Give a girl a feeling of partnership in the humble duties, Mrs. Rippin advises, such as washing the dishes or gathering wood at camp. As long as she feels she is doing it for her troop, the circle whose opinion she values, she does it with a proud sense of accomplishment. And before long the desire for cleanliness, for neatness of person and surroundings, has become second nature.

H. P. MUSIC CLUB MEETS WEDNESDAY

The Highland Park Music club will hold its next monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Annette R. Jones, 347 N. Sheridan road, Wednesday afternoon, May 23 at two o'clock. The following members will participate on the program: Miss Mary Kimball, soprano; Adah Bryant Buckingham, contralto; Mrs. Herbert M. Lautmann and Mrs. John D. Lauric pianists in a two piano duet.
