D. A. R. CELEBRATES FLAG DAY, JUNE 14

WITH PICNIC LUNCHEON

Interesting Program Is Given; Mrs. Phelps Tells of Visit To U. of I.

Flag Day was celebrated by the North Shore chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution by a meeting held last Thursday, June 14, in the beautiful garden of the Past Regent, Mrs. Norman G. Lenington, Sheridan road.

After a picnic luncheon at 1 o'clock, the new regent, Mrs. J. B. Garnett, led the salute to the flag, and Mrs. W. G. Danley, chairman of the program committee presented the informal program of the day, which celebrated the one hundred and fifty-first anniversary of the birth of the flag of the United States of America.

Pictures of the gathering were taken by the hostess around the oldest flag flying today.

Mrs. Garnett read the folder sent to the children of Deerfield and West Deerfield townships by Highland Lodge No. 1362, B.P.O.E. entitled "Your Flag, Old Glory."

Mrs. E. R. Phelps read "The Flag the Symbol of Our Free Institutions," written by the Rev. John Norris Hall, D.D., pastor First Methodist Episcopal church of Batavia, Ill., from the Chicago Sunday Tribune of June 10, 1928.

Mrs. Phelps told of her visit to our University of Illinois with its beautiful campus and buildings and of her happy and delightful impressions of the institution for which we pay taxes. She also related her interview with the custodian of exhibits in the Centennial Memorial hall in Springfield, Ill., following Mrs. J. A. Reichelt, Jr.'s report from the D.A.R. congress in Washington, D. C., where Dolly Tucker told the Illinois Daughters that the collection of Logania presented by her and her mother to the state of Illinois commemorating the historic life of her father, General John A. Logan, had been taken from the room in the state house in which it had been arranged under the direction of the widow of General Logan, and placed in a basement storeroom.

Mrs. Tucker had requested Illinois women to investigate the disposition of this valuable collection worth thousands of dollars, lest basement storage destroy the books and pictures.

Mrs. Phelps concluded her talk with a description of the huge collection of historic flags in Springfield, which out numbers that of Massachusetts.

Mrs. Emma Morgan read a poem by W. G. Hibbard "Chicago From 1835 to 1882" a historic narrative of unusual interest of early life in that city, and exhibited pictures of Chicago before the great fire.

A very impressive and dignified booklet "In Memoriam," a tribute to the late Mary Boomer Page, has been issued by the board of directors and the Alumnae association of the Chicago Teachers college which Mrs. Page founded and directed for over forty years.

Those who have contributed to the book are Caroline C. Cronise of the Chicago Kindergarten Institute; Flora J. Cooke, Harriet E. Vittum and Mary L. Morse directors and Bonnie A. Patterson, president of the board of directors, and Belle W. Pardee, President of the Alumnae association of the Chicago Teachers college; James R. Angell, President Yale University; Earl Barnes, lecturer; Charles F. Wishart, The College of Wooster; Caroline W. Barbour, president International Kindergarten Union; Eva B. Whitmore, Chicago Free Kindergarten association; Lucy Whellock, Whellock Kindergarten Training school; Patty S. Hill, Teacher's college, Columbia university; Nina C. Vanderwalker, Milwaukee Normal school; Alice Temple, School of Education, University of Chicago; Margaret Stannard, Garland School of Home Making; Katherine Girling, Chicago Woman's club; Helen M. The diversity of Mrs. Page's interests, the wide scope of her friendship are given a permanent memorial in the tributes of her associates. Her last venture was the establishment of the De Forest school in Highland Park.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS ATTEND CONVENTION

Go To Elgin on June 14; Regular Meeting Held June 15

On Thursday, June 14, about 11:00 a. m., a group of eighteen ladies, members of Deerfield Royal Neighbor camp made a trip through the picturesque country leading to Elgin in a comfortable North Shore bus to attend the Kane County convention. Upon their arrival, they were entertained at luncheon at the Y. W. C. A. after which they went to the Modern Woodman hall where the convention opened at 1:30 o'clock standard time. The deputy, Mrs. Kampschulte was in charge.

Dr. Hada M. Carston, supreme physician of R. N. A. was the honored guest, who came to the convention as alternate for Mary E. Arnholt, the supreme oracle who was unable to attend on account of serious illness in her immediate family.

Judge Shipon gave a most inspiring welcoming address to the convention and response was given by Charlotte Siesman, both of Elgin.

An interesting school of instruction was included in opening numbers on program.

The outstanding feature, however proved to be the beautiful and impressive exercises of the juveniles, who escorted the supreme officer to the platform beneath an arch of pink and white peonies and piled them in the arms of the officers. The juveniles then left the hall and returned wearing purple caps and purple baldrics tied over their shoulders carrying flowers, formed an aeroplane and marched around the hall greeted by loud applause from the audience.

A splendid exemplification of the work of the juvenile concluded their part on the program.

At 6 o'clock the meeting adjourned until 7:30 during which time a delicious supper was served and a tour made of the city.

Dr. Carlston opened the evening session with a very fascinating talk.

Other numbers on the program included reading by Anna Elvin and duet by Mmes. Burns and Rehms.

All the ladies who attended reported a most instructive and entertaining day.

A regular meeting of the local camp was held on Friday evening, June 15, in the Masonic temple. Four candidates were initiated and a very pleasant social hour followed.

AWARDED PRIZE AT GARDEN EXHIBIT

The Flower Show held in the grounds of Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick's estate in Lake Forest under the auspices of the Lake Forest Garden club was most interesting. The magnificent grounds were open to the public and hundreds of people enjoyed strolling through them. The flower gardens as well as the vegetable gardens and lawns are kept with meticulous neatness and this fact in combination with the exquisite varieties of flowers and shrubs used in the planting makes the gander of the place indescribable.

The house is located on a high bluff at the edge of the lake. The fountain which bubbles down the terraces in front of the house was running Saturday for the first time in twelve years.

The exhibits were all held in the service buildings on the estate. A number of the luncheon and dinner tables were set by individuals as well as organizations and the results were most interesting. The cost of the luncheon tables was not to exceed fourteen dollars and ninety-nine cents. The pleasing effects which were attained for that amount of money was amazing. A display of breakfast trays was also included in this entry as well as tables set by children.

The Garden club of Deerfield had several entries and received a ribbon for third prize. The arrangement was a lovely variety of iris which blended beautifully with the Japanese vase, in which they were artistically arranged. The committee in charge was made up of Mrs. Julian Smith, Mrs. Martin Insull and Mrs. Frank Burroughs.

Efforts to bar a young New Jersey schoolma'am because she smoked after school hours met with failure and she was granted a permanent license to teach. Next thing you know the school boards will be furnishing ash trays along with the chalk and erasers as a part of the regular equipment.

So now while pessimists are predicting that the cars of the future must stand idle beside empty oil wells, science is preparing to open the way to a field of cheap fuel so plentiful that before the last of the great oil fields is drained, petroleum may be of no more commercial importance than whale oil.
