Large Registration at Vacation Church School

The Vacation Church School of the Presbyterian church opened on Monday with a larger enrollment the first day than that of the year previous. On Tuesday new pupils came so that the enrollment was over fifty. It is expected there will be at least seventy-five children enrolled by the last of the week.

The school begins at nine o'clock and from the number of children who arrive early one would know that they are enjoying themselves and the work of the school. The curriculum consists of worship, Biblical instruction, organized play, story hours, music, and handicraft. In the kindergarten the course being followed is "Beginners in God's Work," in the primary department "Learning to Live Together in a Christian Way" which is a new text used for the first time by the Chicago Council of Religious Education and written by one of our Chicago leaders in Religious Education, Miss Marie Leberman.

The junior department is taking a magic trip about the United States through the study of "Seeing America for Christ."

Miss Gladys Koon who is taking special kindergarten work in Boston has been added to the staff of the kindergarten department.

The handicraft is in the nature of projects which have to do with the subjects being studied and projects which help boys and girls to work happily together. Each child will make something for himself, something to take home, and something for someone else. These later projects will include Mexican Friendship School Bags, scrap books for hospitals, and material for a summer Christmas tree for children in foreign lands.

If you have not yet registered your child, you may do so by bringing him to the church. The registration fee is one dollar. For further information call H. P. 683.

AREA OF FOREST LAND IN U. S. IS EXTENSIVE

Estimated at Three Hundred and Fifty-Five Million Acres, Report

The area of forest lands in the United States is estimated at 355,000,000 acres, and it will surprise most people to know that two-thirds of these forests are in the East. The official figures include the forested areas of parks which are found in practically all villages and cities.

Canada has greater forest areas than the United States, and Brazil has nearly as large an acreage of forests as both Canada and the United States.

The older Nations of the world have been regrowing their forests for several generations. We are doing that very same thing in some parts of the United States today: The State Conservation Department of New York shipped out 23,375,502 trees from its nurseries last year. New York State is now engaged upon a plan for the reforestation of more than 4,000,000 acres of land and the undertaking is being planned for a period of twenty years.

In reforesting through New York State the trees that will be most largely used will be pines, spruces, cedars, European Larch, balsam and black locust.

This work which is being done for the future generations seeks to reforest large areas of idle acres, and it will take from thirty-five to sixty years for the new timber to grow to its fullest extent, although new forests planted with about 1,000 trees to the acre will provide good game refuges inside of four or five years.

sportsmen clubs are vitally interested in the work of reforesting because they will have the early benefit of the covers that these new State-planted forests will provide.

TIMES AND PLACES WHERE HORN NEEDED

Use Warning Signal When Necessary Is Advice of Motor Expert

"Although it is generally conceded in this country that the excessive use of the horn is the hallmark of the novice driver, nevertheless, there are places where even one horn does not seem to answer the requirements of safety," says a bulletin issued by the Chicago Motor club. "In Venezuela, for instance, two horns are required on each automobile, a hand horn for the city and an electrical horn for the country, which makes that country a good customer for automobile horns.

The bulletin goes on to say, "Actual practice shows that passenger cars in Venezuela are usually equipped with three motor horns, one hand-operated and the other two electrical. The button for one of the electrical horns is on the steering wheel, while the other is placed on the left door of the car and is operated by pressure from the driver's knee. This is declared essential in driving over mountainous roads whose steep grades and sharp curves necessitate continuous sounding of the horn."

"DUTCH" DATING IS NOT SUCCESS AT COLLEGE

"Dutch dating," after two trails at Northwestern university, has been declared a failure. Co-eds, it appears, simply will not upset the tradition of men paying for everything, and opinion is divided as to whether the reason is masculine gallantry or feminine reticence.

The first "dutch date" was a dance during the all-university circus. Though a novelty, sponsors admitted it to be a "flop." Another trial, also a dance, was given the idea this week. Though widely advertised, only thirty couples attended. Proceeds were to be devoted to purchasing "N" blankets for athletes, but now new methods of raising funds must be found.

"dutch dates" don't work out in practice," says Frank Rettig, president of the Athletic association. "The idea of women paying for their dances like the men always have seemed to be a good one."

Don't Flirt from Jury Box!

A prohibition case was tried here, with Mrs. Joseph Herbert the defendant. A male juror winked and smiled at her—and as a result a mistrial was declared.
