Possibly the most pathetic case on record is that of the man found weeping because he had discovered a great recipe for home brew—and had no home!

The New Yorker with plenty of money has his choice of buying a seat on the Stock Exchange or an eighteenth row ticket for the opening night of a Broadway musical comedy.

TAKE BOOKS ALONG ON VACATION TRIP

Public Library Helps Solve Summer Problem; Exhibit Works of Local Authors

Readers leaving the city for the summer may borrow an extra number of books, to be returned not later than October 1. All circulating books are available except those in active demand.

Books on the opera are now in great demand at the Public Library. In order to get the most out of an evening at the park, a brief story of the opera adds greatly to the meaning of the story as well as the work of the artist. If you haven't had a copy of the new list of books recently prepared by the library ask for it at the desk.

The exhibit in the lobby for the month of June contains works of local authors. Among them is one by the late Rev. Albertus A. Pfanstiel. Mr. Fritz Bahr's well-known book on commercial floriculture is also among them, together with "The Story of Trinity Church" by Dr. E. C. Wolcott.

Miss Margaret Armstrong was added to the staff in June in the place of Miss Helen Flinn who is giving part of her time to summer school at Northwestern. Miss Armstrong is a graduate of Knox college with three years experience in the Public Library system of Chicago and a graduate of their training school for librarians. Mrs. Crozier, the children's librarian, left Friday for some vacation at Winona Lake, Indiana. The children's room will be taken care of by other members of the staff during her absence. Miss Hendee, the librarian, returned Thursday from her home in New York. She visited enroute the new library in Cleveland and others in New York and Connecticut with a view to points of interest for the proposed library building for Highland Park.

Now if the American people will only use their brains for thinking as much as they do their throats for hollering, we should be able to elect a good president this fall.

The fellow who didn't know the war was over has been succeeded by the one who thinks the next one will never happen.

Judge to Vagrant: "So you can't get a job because you don't know a trade, eh? Well, six months in the work-house should teach you one."

Vagrant: "How about a correspondence course, your honor?"

It is much safer for the men to tell their wives everything, as the women folks are sure to find it all out anyway.
