

CUBAN GOVERNMENT BUILDS GOOD ROADS

THROUGHOUT THE ISLAND

Recent Activity Promises Fine Transportation; Other South American Countries Also Are Beginning

"With a seventy-five million dollar road building contract well under way in Cuba, the opening of a 300-mile road in Brazil, linking Rio de Janeiro and San Paulo and the announcement of a projected super-highway in the Argentine Republic to connect Buenos Aires with Rosario, 350 miles away, it becomes evident that the long struggle of great cities as well as the more isolated districts to break loose from their bondage caused by lack of sufficient and adequate lanes of travel is beginning to be felt around the world. New and rich agricultural districts are being opened up, and scenes of greatest beauty and interest are being made accessible to the traveler," says Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club.

Important Link
"The Havana Evening Telegram of May 19 says: 'Tomorrow section No. 6 of the central highway between Marianao and Guanajay will be inaugurated by President Machado. The opening of the Marianao-Guanajay section marks the completion of an important link in the great central highway system planned by General Carlos Miguel de Cespedes in accordance with the project outlined by President Machado in the early period of his administration as president of Cuba.'

The plan worked out by the secretary of public works is simple, but conceived on broad lines. The article then goes on to say that the plan consists of a central highway extending the length of the island, with connecting highways extending from the main stem to all the cities and ports of Cuba. This is in accordance with the presidents' policy of developing the agriculture and commerce of the republic and stimulating the tourist movement to Cuba. When completed, the main highway will be about 700 miles long, which, in conjunction with the 4,769 miles of branch roads, will make a grand total of 5,469 miles of modern highways, to be constructed at an estimated cost of $75,000,000.

"A maximum of five per cent, has been fixed for grades, and in the majority of cases three per cent will not be exceeded. Along level stretches the minimum radius of curves will be 650, and on mountain roads 325 feet; but in no case will a curve radius be less than 150 feet.

Width Is 66 Feet
"One of the most interesting features of this highway," says Mr. Hayes, is the fact of its width, which will be 66 feet. Practically all grade crossings at railroads will be eliminated by overhead or subway crossings; danger signals will be devised so that foreigners who do not understand Spanish will know what they are.

"An announcement by the Pan American Union states that the new highway in Brazil stands as a monument of progress. It links two of Brazil's greatest cities by a 300-mile modern road. For years, construction work at different points has been carried on, but it remained for the summer of 1928 to see the highway an accomplished undertaking. Rio de Janeiro has nearly a million and a half people, while the population of San Paulo is far above half a million. With the opening of this new highway, a rich and prosperous region of Brazil adopts modern methods of transportation, as well as creates a new and fascinating tourist route from the capital of the nation to the capital of coffee-land—San Paulo.

ASKS FOR CARS FOR POOR FARM INMATES

Humane Officers Suggests That Owners Might Take Old People Riding

Miss Ida Himmelreich, Lake County Humane officer is making an appeal to people with cars who have a desire to do a kind and charitable act to drive out to the Lake County Poor farm during the bright sunny days and take two or more of the old folks at the farm out for an hour's ride. Most of those who make their home there are quite advanced in age and it is only during the warm weather that they are able to get out at all, and a ride through the country at this particular time when nature's beauty is at its height would be a real delight.

It is suggested that between the hours of two and three in the afternoon is a good time on any day that is convenient for the auto owners. There are probably many auto owners in Lake county who will be glad to follow this suggestion.

DANIEL SAYS YOUTH SHOULD FLAME MORE

AGRESSIVENESS NEEDED

In Address to Students Former Navy Secretary Urges Them to Strive for Success; Private Schools

Former Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels, in addressing the graduating class of the American university in Washington, observed that "we hear a good deal about the 'flaming youth' of today," but he said that according to his observations the trouble with youth was that it did not "flame" often enough.

Some of youth, he thought, wouldn't flame if a match was touched to it. He appealed to the graduates to do all they could to make youth more inflammable, because youth that flames, said Mr. Daniels, is the hope of the Northern one.

SAYS FARM HOUSE NOW GETS MORE ATTENTION

Magazine Says Barn No Longer Most Important Building on the Farm

Feminine movement and general increase in education may or may not be responsible but it is certain today that the farm barn, long the most carefully built structure on the American farm, today is of no more importance than the house.

This emergence of the farmhouse, for years a neglected feature on many farms, into a carefully designed and cared for building, is emphasized in a discussion of the residential value of the modern American farm in the Farm and Fireside magazine for May. Farmers, as well as their wives, are in many cases realizing that the farm is capable of being an excellent place to live today, and not merely a place of hardship and work without recreation.

"An item of importance," says the magazine, "is the residential value of farms. This concerns the farm as a place to live, for agriculture is today both a business and a mode of life."

Right along with the value of a farm as a productive tract of ground the prospective farm buyer today considers school, church and social facilities of the neighborhood, neighbors and the general healthfulness for his family, says the magazine.

The fact that a delegate to the convention is uninstructed doesn't mean that nobody can tell him anything.

LITTLE GIRL DROWNS IN VERY SHALLOW POOL

Patricia Maher Slips into It at Petite Lake Sunday; Girl Rescued

Patricia Maher, 2 1/2 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Maher, of 4128 Monticello avenue, Chicago, was drowned Sunday in eighteen inches of water when she slipped and fell into a wading pool on the estate of Mr. Williams at Petite Lake.

Katherine Welly, of 5533 Lowe avenue, Chicago, was saved from a watery grave Sunday when rescued from Bangs Lake as she was sinking for the third time. At first the girl was given up for dead, but she was finally brought back to life after resuscitation methods had been applied for over an hour and a half.

SAYS MOTION PICTURES BIGGEST SELLING FORCE

Because one hundred million people each week see in the movies the "drama of the possibilities of American life" the motion picture industry today is the greatest sales force in the world, Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, declared in an address recently.

"The movies, by showing every American the comforts he can have if he combines work with thrift, launch a sales impulse that seems to me incalculable," Hays said. "With the motion picture we are selling America to itself."

About the only time a lot of fellows show their religion is when somebody else makes slighting remarks about their church.
