YOUTHFUL BANDITS HOLD UP MAN NEAR DEERFIELD

Stop Chicago Physician and Wife and Secure Nearly Sixty Dollars

Two youthful bandits, both armed, staged a daylight holdup on a Chicago physician and his wife on the road near Irene Castle McLaughlin's dog orphanage near Deerfield Saturday afternoon, taking $58 in cash.

After holding up the pair the bandits damaged the motor of the doctor's car so that he could not rush for aid.

A man living near the scene of the robbery, and whose telephone the couple used to get a garageman, declared that they had stopped along the roadside about 5 o'clock in the afternoon. They had taken out magazines and started to read.

As they rested there the other car pulled up and the two youths jumped out.

The man lost $35 and the woman was forced to give up a purse containing $23.

The robbers were in a coupe.

DESPONDENT—ENDS LIFE BY HANGING TUESDAY

Carl Lange, son of the late William Lange, committed suicide by hanging, while ill and despondent, Tuesday morning, in his garage. The body was discovered with a Bible in his hands by his only daughter Eva, a Deerfield-Shields high school student, about sixteen years of age.

The old timers say that if more of the kids took a course of education in the woodshed, not so many would take post graduate studies in jail.

The original discoverers of America were alarmed when they saw the painted Indians. Wonder what they would have said if they had seen our flappers?
