HUGE SUM ON FAIR

THREE MILLION OR MORE

Chicago Exposition in 1933 to Get Big Boost From Nip-pon Is Report; Other Nations Aid

Japan announces that she will spend $3,000,000 or more, for her representation at Chicago's Centennial Celebration in 1933, while Sweden, Norway, and Denmark are already planning a Scandinavian group of buildings that will make a most impressive unit at the coming World's Fair.

C. T. Mulligan, representative of Swift & Co., in Montevideo, Uruguay, sends in a five peso note for his enrollment in the World's Fair Legion, "as the nearest thing to five bucks that I can put my hands on, in time for the mail boat."

From All the World

From the uttermost parts of the world are coming splendid responses to the news that Chicago will celebrate her Centennial in 1933. Instinctively the outside world senses the fact that the celebration will be magnificent, simply because it is Chicago.

Now that the industry of Chicago-land is organized in behalf of the Centennial, the Enrollment Campaign is proceeding stronger than ever. Fifty-one different divisions of commercial, financial and manufacturing industry have lined up, each with a commanding figure at the head.

They are asking each of their one million employes to subscribe five dollars to the Enrollment Fund as a gilt edged investment for future prosperity, plus the ten complimentary tickets guaranteed.

Inspiring Prospect

Stuyvesant Peabody, chairman of the Enrollment Campaign, declares that nothing short of an earthquake can now prevent the most wonderful and inspiring exposition in history.

"Fifty-one branches of industry; thirty-three national groups, all are working toward the same end, each seeking to make high score, and from every corner of the wide world comes the same message:

"We will be at Chicago in 1933 with the best we have, because the world will be there to see it."

AGE OF SPEED CAUSES SHORTER SERMONS NOW

Prominent New York Pastor
Says He Can Say as Much
In Less Time

"This age of speed has caused people to get their religion in half the time they used to spend in church pews," declares Dr. Henry E. Cobb, prominent New York pastor.

"I, myself, find," he told the Woman's Home Companion, "that I can say as much in less time than formerly. Recently on the thirty-fifth anniversary of my pastorate I decided to preach the same sermon as I did in 1893. But I found that it would require fifty-five minutes to deliver, which is much too long for the average congregation. When I had to cut it down to twenty-two minutes, the longest sermon that is generally preached these days, I found that I had covered everything.

"But in the original sermon I said that 'the world is coming to the realization that war is futile in settling international difficulties as it would be in settling national difficulties.' Since then we have had two wars and several other fracases, so I am not so sure that the age of speed is getting us anywhere after all."

ALASKA FARMERS HAVE SHORTEST BUSY SEASON

They Are Mostly Bachelors and Their Exacting Work Is Only for 90 Days

A land where most of the farmers are bachelors whose work requires their closest attention only 90 days of the year was described today when the work of Dr. C. C. Georgeson, representative of the United States Department of Agriculture, was recounted in The American Magazine.

"The Alaskan farmer," says Dr. Georgeson, who since 1900 has seen appropriations for agriculture in Alaska increase from $12,000 to $76,000 a year, "probably has an easier time than any other farmer in the world, once he is established." During his winter season, the farmer of this country which is famous in many states of the union for its fine berries, its potatoes, cabbages and a long list of products, works in the mines, hunts or engages in some other activity.

"Through years of experimenting," says the magazine of Dr. Georgeson's work, "he has evolved 170 kinds of potatoes suited to Alaska. In the Matanuska Valley farms have produced 11 tons to the acre. Potatoes form Alaska's most important crop today."

The sun, during the growing season, works practically 24 hours a day in this northern country, Dr. Georgeson explains.

WAUCONDA RAILROAD AGAIN IS IN COURT

The Wauconda and Lake Zurich railroad, that short line which gained considerable mention some time ago when a receiver was appointed for it, is up in litigation again. This time the action in the local Circuit court is a double one.

There is a petition to remove the receiver, Myron Dietrick. It is figured that there still might be some returns to come from the road, but Dietrick, on his part, has another matter to take care of in the case. He names Fred Churchill and Dennis Putman and G. Stroker of Waukegan in a contempt proceedings. He indicated that he will charge these and others interested in a golf course are trespassing on the railroad land. The case was set by Judge Claire C. Edwards for Sept. 5.

LAKE CO. CHAMPIONS IN NATIONAL MEET

Winners of Local Baseball Title at Waukegan to Go to Tourney at Cincinnati

The winner of the Lake County Amateur league will travel to Cincinnati, Ohio, where the victorious team will represent Waukegan and Lake county in the world's amateur tournament of the national baseball federation, which will be conducted between September 15 and 23.

At the present time the Johns-Manville nine, of Waukegan, is in the lead of the country league standings, but because of a number of games to be played yet, it is impossible to pick the team that might make the trip to the tournament which will attract teams from all over the country.

So far no one has complained that the book agents are unwilling to take the time necessary to explain their proposition thoroughly.
