LIBRARY OFFERS COLLEGE INFORMATION

Books to Interest Parents and Students Listed for Distribution

All young America is headed for college: All older America, having acquired comfort and comparative financial independence, wants to speed the next generation up the ladder to intellectual achievement. But how—and where?

There are so many and such different colleges and universities that it is difficult to choose. Nor is there any easily available information about them. The information seeker is driven to dull statistical reference books, or to college catalogues. And to examine the latter implies a choice in itself, for there are well over seven hundred of them which he might pursue if he had to look through them all before choosing. Nor is it easy for the average layman, or even for the college graduate of a decade ago, to understand the technical language in which the strange and complicated new entrance—an exit—requirements are therein stated.

The following books to be found at the Highland Park Public Library will be of interest to parents and students:

Which College? by R. S. Hall

The College Student and His Problems, by J. H. Canfield

Why Go to College?—C. S. Cooper.

College—What's the Use? by H. E. Hawkes

The Effective College, by R. L. Kelly

American Universities and Colleges, by D. A. Robertson

How to Study and What to Study, by Mr. R. L. Sandwick, principal of the Deerfield-Shields high school should be read by every student.

R. P. ROSS SUCCUMBS IN HOSPITAL TUESDAY

Will Be Remembered as Cabman Years Ago; Dies of Pneumonia

About five-thirty Tuesday evening occurred the death of Mr. R. P. Ross, of 707 Deerfield avenue, after about four months illness at the Highland Park hospital. Mr. Ross had been flagman at the Laurel avenue crossing for the past eleven years and on May 31 slipped and fell, fracturing his hip. He was getting along very nicely and was about well when he contracted pneumonia which caused his death. He will be remembered by the older residents of Highland Park as the courteous cabman, running a livery service of his own at that time. He leaves to survive him, a wife, Amelia. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock from the H. M. Prior Undertaking parlors. Rev. C. B. Unangst will officiate. Interment will take place in Mooney's cemetery.

Claimed the young people are all running wild, but most of them are getting ready to put on the harness called matrimony.

Enthusiasm for Sunday school work seems to increase very noticeably for about one week previous to the annual picnic.
