ANNUAL BICYCLE RACE, CHICAGO-ELGIN COURSE

To Be Held on Sunday, Sept. 30.
According to Announcement; Details

The third annual handicap bicycle road race will be held between Elgin and Chicago Sunday, September 30, according to the plans announced by the Charles V. Barrett Athletic Club.

This annual affair has been drawing a good deal of entrants during the time that it has been in existence and each year the list of entries is almost double that of the year before.

In view of this fact it is expected the list of entrants for next month's competition will be the largest of any of the two previous years.

The race will start from the Elgin high school and will probably finish at the Charles V. Barrett Athletic club, located at 2150 Damen avenue.

Although no definite plans have been laid as yet, it is expected that there will be some sort of a short reception program for the benefit of those racers who complete the distance.

Strong Recommendation
"Is this a healthy town?" asked the newly arrived invalid.

"I should say so," answered the native. "When I came here I hadn't the strength to utter a word; I had scarcely a hair on my head; I couldn't walk across the room, and had to be lifted from my bed."

"You give me hope. How long have you been here?"

"I was born here." — Capper's Weekly.

A. D. LASKER ESTATE DESCRIBED IN TRIBUNE

Article in Sunday's Paper Tells of Attractive Dwelling
Near Deerfield

Madame X, society editor of the Chicago Sunday Tribune, devoted a column in this week's issue to a description of the Lasker estate, formerly farms of the Masterson, Silverman, Doyle and Tully families, north of Deerfield. It is a great satisfaction to the pioneer families to have their farms converted into such beautiful dwelling places.

Take the A. D. Lasker place, Mill Road farm, for instance, out west of Everett. There, set in a wide stretch of Illinois farm land, in an estate of 500 acres, is a beautiful mansion of lovely French manor house architecture, harmonious and fitting into the landscape perfectly, and furnished with perfect taste and great knowledge of what is suitable for such an abode. Exterior walls of a warm cream white support, lovely brown tiled roofs such as one sees in northern France. Flagged terraces to the south and west dominate a wide stretch of green countryside. At one end of the house a green plaiance stretches down by a flower bordered path to a vivid blue green swimming pool of royal proportions, a pool spacious enough to accommodate Louis IV. of France and his whole court, did they ever indulge in so much water.

Mill Road farm stretches two-thirds of the way from Everett to Half Day, a pair of well known villages lying southwest of Lake Forest and due west of Fort Sheridan and Highwood respectively. Part of the estate is devoted to very high class farming, but its most striking feature is its splendid golf links; an eighteen hole course laid out with great skill and knowledge, and presenting a course to tax the resources of the most experienced golfer. It is a charming course, too, part of it lying among lovely meadow land and part traversing a stretch of virgin woods, which have been skillfully cut out to provide tantalizing and tempting drives through long and stately lanes, that look easy, but are the opposite.

A royal host is Mr. Lasker. To those friends to whom he has given cards of permission to play on his course he has also given a charming clubhouse, an old farmhouse deliciously made over, added to, and furnished with quaint old American tables, chairs, bureaus, beds, rugs, curtains, china, glass, and so on, so that golfers can stay there and find provender at noonday, when a luncheon is served to them, while rest and shelter are also provided. It is equipped with lockers, showers, baths, and every other provision for comfort that the most up to date golf club could furnish.

The feature of the place which I think Mr. Lasker likes the best is a

DETECTIVE IS KILLED IN MOTORCYCLE CRASH

T. H. Gurka of Chicago Hurlled
From Machine at Fox
Lake Monday

Theodore H. Gurka, 35 years old, a private operative for the Dederous Detective Service Association of Chicago, and also an employe of the Crane company, was instantly killed Monday morning on Grand avenue between Lake Villa and Fox Lake when the motorcycle with side car attachment which he was riding left the road and crashed into a guide rail. Gurka, according to Deputy Sheriff G. W. Neilsen of Fox Lake, is believed to have been traveling at a high rate of speed when the accident occurred.

The impact hurled the rider's body a distance of 35 feet into a field. He was dead when found by Joseph Saupé, a laborer, who was working nearby and who went to the scene when he heard the crash.

ADMIRAL GREGORY VISITS GREAT LAKES

Chief of Bureau of Yards and Docks of Navy Inspects
Station

The Great Lakes naval training station had a distinguished visitor for the past several days in Rear Admiral Luther E. Gregory, civil engineer corps, U. S. Navy, chief of the bureau of yards and docks of the Navy department, who arrived on Sunday and left for Washington on Tuesday.

The visit of Admiral Gregory to the mid-west station was an official one and part of an inspection trip that included the naval stations at Puget Sound, Washington; Mare Island, California; and San Diego, California; and the proposed naval ammunition depot at Hawthorne, Nevada.

rustic, picturesque haven deep in the woods, where nestles a quaint log house under the trees, set about with rustic tables and chairs, with two open brick fireplaces at one side, one for baking and the other for broiling in the open air. This was built as a surprise for the family by the men employed in getting the place in order. The wood used was hewn from the trees cut down to clear the golf course. The whole thing is an integral part of the place and as rustic as possible. It is charming in itself, as well as a delightful contrast to the beautiful house and terraced gardens that lie a half mile away. It makes a pleasant refuge from the world and a lovely asylum on a hot summer day.

Mrs. Brackett's Prize Garden

No picture can do justice to the transcendent loveliness of the garden of Mrs. Charles, Clyde Brackett of Wilmet Road.

In one week two hundred people came to see the garden famous for its glorious color scheme.

On this garden have been lavished all of the love and care of a childless couple whose interest in life is centered in a spot which they have made "a thing of beauty and a joy forever."

Mrs. Martin Insull honorary member of and Godmother to the Garden Club of Deerfield, presented a carved stone bench to the best garden of continuous bloom which was that of Mrs. C. C. Brackett. Mrs. Brackett's garden is noted for its massed color. She received two blue ribbons, three red and one yellow in the flower exhibit in the Deerfield school last Wednesday. Mrs. Brackett took all of the ribbons on her snap dragons, and a blue one on her strawberries.

Mrs. C. E. Tinson was awarded a blue ribbon for her sweet potato vines in an artistic container. David Stryker received $1.00 for having the first ripe tomato.

Joseph Conrad "the dahlia man on Duffy's hill" had a large basket of his blossoms of exquisite loveliness, which occupied a table alone.

Mrs. Lincoln Pettis donated "honorary" seeds to be sold for the benefit of the Garden club.

So successful was the exhibition, and because of the distance from which it attracted flower growers and lovers, that it goes into history as the best conducted show of all attempted.
