MAYOR RECEIVES DRAFT

Automobile Club of Illinois Submits Plan for Municipal Regulation of Traffic; Aim Is Uniformity

A copy of the final drafts of the model municipal traffic ordinance as drawn up by the Hoover conference of 1927 and revised, after a year's work, by a special committee of experts representing various conflicting interests, was received this week by Mayor Benjamin F. Lewis from the Automobile Club of Illinois, with the suggestion that the measure be introduced in the city council at an early date as possible.

"Adoption of the measure, it is believed, will mark an important step toward uniformity in traffic laws and will prevent confusion, especially on the part of thousands of visiting motorists," declared Si Mayer, president of the club.

The ordinance has been prepared with a view to strict impartiality, favoring neither pedestrian, motorist nor common carrier. In the opinion of America's foremost safety engineers, its adoption and observance will go far toward the prevention of street and highway accidents and will ameliorate the unsatisfactory traffic conditions that prevail in almost every city.

The proposed ordinance has the endorsement of such bodies as the American Motorists Association, the National Safety Council, the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, automobile clubs throughout the country, bus and taxicab owners, as well as electric and steam road interests.

It is designed to deal merely with such local problems as police authority in the direction and control of traffic, the erection of necessary signs and signals, parking regulations, special rules for the protection of pedestrians and certain driving rules necessary for city streets.

The ordinance is designed, moreover, to supplement and conform to the uniform vehicle code as approved by the national street and highway safety conference, and which covers such basic regulations as those pertaining to speed limits, reckless driving, vehicle equipment, licensing and registration. It is suggested, also that the measure be made supplemental to state vehicle law provisions with none of which it comes in conflict.

In its final form, the proposed ordinance is said to be so reasonable and to make such an appeal to the American sense of fair play as to be virtually self-enforcing and to find ready acceptance by all except the extremists.

Under its provisions, traffic officials are authorized to mark crosswalks, traffic lanes and safety zones. Pedestrian, as well as vehicular traffic, is regulated. "Serpentine" driving is outlawed, and street car passengers are protected under regulations requiring an automobile overtaking a street car, to draw up and wait, except at safety zones, while passengers are getting on or off.

Other regulations do away with such nuisances as all-night parking, parking a car offered for sale or bearing a display advertising sign.

CANCELS SEPTEMBER DATES IN WINNETKA

Chicago Art Theatre Will Not Present Performance There This Month

The Chicago Art theater announces cancellation of its summer season in Winnetka.

The business manager of the company gives out the following statement, "September proved to be such a poor choice for performances on the North Shore—coming as it does between seasons—that it has been deemed advisable to cancel the remaining dates and bring the scheduled productions to Winnetka during the winter months."

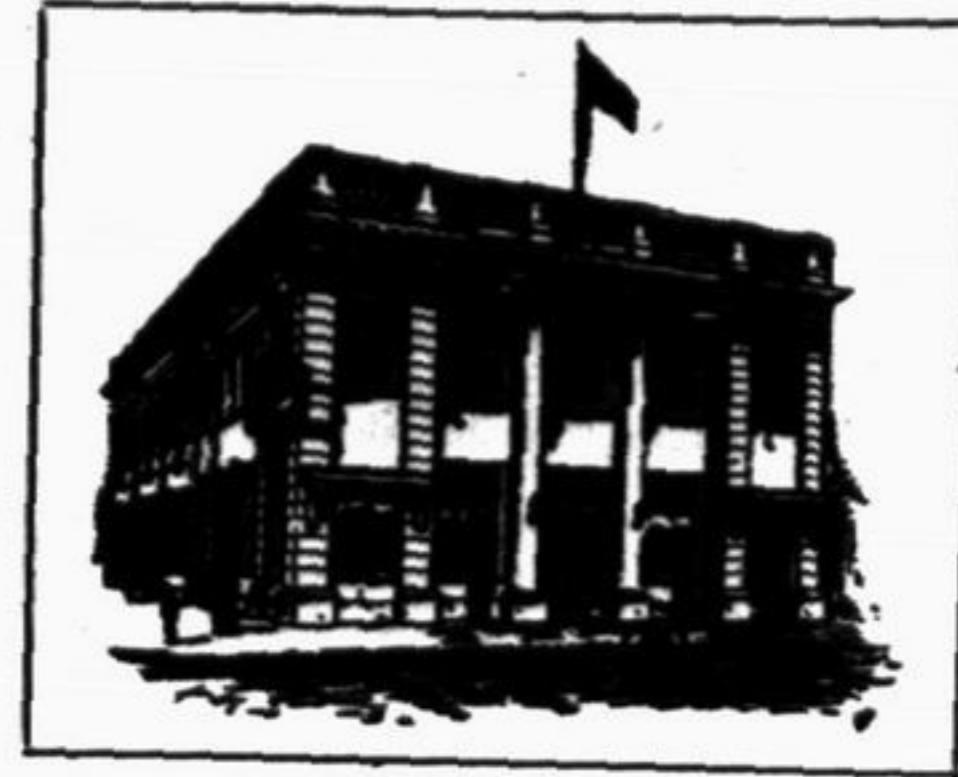

When the Chicago Art Theater company returns to the North Shore again it is probable that in addition to its regular repertoire it will also bring several new productions now in rehearsal.

ST. JAMES BLANKS DEERFIELD SUNDAY

Sews Up Series by Winning Third of Four Games Played; Return Game Sunday

By combining a walk, two hits, and a sacrifice in the first inning, St. James' baseball team of Highwood secured a three-run margin over Deerfield, which they were able to hold throughout the game at Highwood field last Sunday. Maestri, Berube, and Rogan scored for the home team. The final score was 3-0.

The game was a pitchers' battle all the way, Ariano holding the edge on Harder throughout. He was especially effective in the pinches when, with runners on base, he forced the batters to hit into double plays or retired them via the strike-out route. Peter Harder also performed well for the losers, pitching shut-out ball after the opening stanza.

Led by Capt. Rogan, the St. James boys played a fine game in the field turning in four snappy double plays to check Deerfield's attack. Berube, Maloney, Rogan and P. Stipe featured with their timely hitting.

Ritchie O'Connor, St. James catcher, was unable to appear in action Sunday, owing to an injured finger. He will be back in the harness next Sunday at Deerfield for the final game of the season.

By winning Sunday, St. James sewed up the series, having won three out of the four games played. Deerfield gained a verdict in a thrilling 12-inning scrap on Deerfield day, 4-3. Last Sunday's game was noteworthy in that it was the first shut-out defeat the western team has suffered in three years.
