COMMON PURPOSE

Anthropologists tell us that man in his early state lived apart for a common purpose—protection against man's natural enemies. With his own little family, and archaeologists say the first communities were formed by confederated families brought together. Today, man is distinctly a gregarious animal attracted more and more to community life. And men still build cities for a common purpose, or common purposes.

In the city one finds protection against fire, disease and the enemies of society. One goes to the city for good schools and monumental churches, paved streets, employment, art entertainment, the society of other men and comforts of life denied the rural citizen. There is found the front rank of civilization.

The people of Highland Park have a common purpose. It is the advancement of the community as a whole. That common purpose is hardly distinguishable from the purpose of each individual. That which benefits the individual usually benefits the entire community and that which benefits the community reacts to the benefit of each of its citizens.

Prosperity and progress come to those communities whose citizens have their eyes upon the largest number of common purposes. Success crowns the efforts of the man of purpose, and the city with a common purpose works as one man.

"Common purpose" creates new industries, increases business, minimizes unemployment, makes cities better places in which to live and performs miracles in community betterment.

DO IT EARLY

Advertisements are beginning to appear with decorations of holly and mistletoe and smiling faces of Santa Claus. To the observant these ad frescoes tell their own story, give their own warning, hint at the important business from which none is barred and in which sooner or later everybody will be engaged.

In other words, Christmas shopping. The holiday is little more than a month ahead, fewer shopping days than fifty by a good deal. In no time these days will pass. The natural procrastinator will wait until Christmas Eve when store aisles will be jammed by other procrastinators, stocks picked out, clerks weary, customers in a flutter, clocks ticking time's rapid pace, all because the reminders of today have been neglected.

Every year more sensible persons do their Christmas shopping early. They reap all the advantages in variety of selection and leisure of choice and when Christmas Eve comes they can proceed about their last-minute holiday tasks orderly, while the others fume and sputter.

Americans are a great people never to do today what can be done tomorrow. The postmaster has urged early posting of Christmas mail, but the last days will probably be bigger than ever. The train leaves at 5:15 but the cars do not fill until 5:14. We get there even if we are a last-minute nation, but it is at a tremendous cost of physical energy and mental upsets. The Christmas shopping season is merely one phase of a national temperament.

KEEP HEADLIGHT BULBS CLEAN. EXPERT ADVICE

Motorists who suspect that their headlights are not functioning to their full ability, should bear in mind that often slight finger marks on the bulbs will cause a marked difference in the efficiency of one's road-illuminating equipment, says Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, local affiliation of the American Automobile association, whose efforts to improve highway illumination are recognized throughout the land.

VERDICT IN POIRO CASE IS RETURNED

At an inquest held last Wednesday afternoon at the H. M. Prior Co. office, into the death of Mrs. Adam Pairo of Milwaukee, who was killed in an automobile crash on Waukegan road near Techny, Ill., the previous night, Coroner John L. Taylor recommended that Cook county authorities investigate the report of the highway police that John Herman, the driver of the machine, was intoxicated at the time of the accident.

A coroner's jury rendered a verdict of "death caused from injuries received when the machine in which she was riding crashed into a truck."

SUPER "BLOSSOM TIME" FOR CHICAGO STAGE

All New Presentation of Modern Musical Classic Coming to Studebaker

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 21.—Theatergoers who have never seen "Blossom Time," one of the outstanding musical triumphs of the age, and those who annually wait for its appearance, will have cause for delight in the announcement from Chicago that an all new wand superior "Blossom Time" will commence a limited engagement there at the Studebaker theater, Sunday night, Nov. 25.

While other operettas and big musical productions are steadily being produced and almost as quickly fade from the horizon, dear old "Blossom Time" continues merrily on its way increasing in popularity every year. This season the famous operetta celebrates its seventh year on tour in this country while it now is in its fourteenth consecutive year in Europe, where it is being looked upon as one of the modern musical classics of the theater.

The tour of "Blossom Time" this year is highly significant for it is being made in conjunction with the Franz Schubert Centenary. In case there are some playgoers who may not know it, this popular success is based upon the life, romance and music of Frank Schubert, the great composer. In view of this the Messrs. Schubert, under whose direction this year's tour is being made, have built a super production this year with all new scenery and costumes and have supplied it with a cast which is said to be the best that ever has played in "Blossom Time."

Genevieve Naegle, Herbert Lyle, John Charles Gilbert, Robert Lee Allen, Ivan Servais, Nancy Sheridan, Elsa Lang, Erba Robeson and Denova are among the outstanding personalities in this year's super "Blossom Time." Miss Naegle, Allen and Gilbert have been in it for the last three years, while Miss Robeson and Servais were in the original New York company seven years ago. Lyle was the outstanding hit of the record-breaking mid-western company of "My Maryland" last year.

NORTH SHORE DOGS ENTERED IN SHOW

Two hundred and two owners of aristocratic dogs living on the north side and south of Waukegan have signified their intention of entering the best of the 4200 pedigreed canines owned in this district to compete for the championship points, trophies, gold medals and money prizes offered at the Western Specialty Club's Dog Show at the First Regiment Armory Sunday, November 25th, which is expected to be the greatest ever held in the middle west.

A survey of the owners of the leading local prize winners shows that 42 per cent of the high bred dogs in Chicago are owned on the north side. A. J. Kramer, president of the sporting clubs holding the show, said that the reason for this is that the per capita wealth and buying power on the north side is exceptionally high and the north side people can afford to own dogs costing as much as a good automobile.

Wonderful patriotic enthusiasm has been displayed by hollering at the rallies, but it is to be feared it will quiet down when it comes to paying the bills.
