Boy Scout Hobby Show

Planned for Saturday, Jan. 25.

Something entirely new in Northshore scouting is planned to be held during the early part of 1929, a Hobby show, to demonstrate to parents and friends, the various things that boys are interested in. The displays will by no means be limited to scout work, but will attempt to picture the all-around interests of boys in connection with school and home and church.

Each troop exhibit will be separate and various scoutmasters are endeavoring to have some one article from every boy in his troop included in the exhibit.

It is expected that such hobbies as printing, leatherwork, handicraft, craftsmanship in the various metals, drawings, cartoons, literary efforts, etc., will be fully demonstrated.

Each local troop is working out his exhibit, with a great deal of pride, and will display it early in the forenoon of January 25, removing it at the close of the program that evening.

It is planned that a feature of the evening program will be the awarding of Life, Star and Eagle badges.

The following news of the troops is written by the boys themselves:

Troop 36 Progressing—At the last meeting at St. James church, we had 14 scouts present. Ambrose Cantagaleo drilled the troop. Mr. Prato, our troop committee chairman was also present and helped with the meeting. We plan to go to the Troop Review and Court of Honor November 23 at the Elm Place school. Tom Brennan was in charge, Arthur Driscoll assisting him. Our troop is still looking for a scoutmaster.—Arthur Driscoll.

Troop 35 Patrols Make Totem Poles—With the reorganization of troop 35 this fall, we have a fine new scoutmaster, Mr. Jerrens, and a new committee chairman, Mr. Ewell. The patrols were reorganized with John Kraft as patrol leader of the stag, and James Ewell his assistant. Peter White is the patrol leader of the Beavers and Bob Cook his assistant. Each patrol is making an Indian Totem pole and are putting their patrol scalp on the top. The patrol winning the most points in our contest each week will get the other patrol's scalp placed on their Totem pole. There is much more to the contest and to the totem pole idea. You will hear more of this later. This clever idea of one of our new scoutmasters.—Bob Cook, Beaver patrol, troop 35, Ravinia.

Troop 30 Getting Organized—Troop 30 of Elm Place school had its charter given to them November 14 and is now official scout troop. Wednesday night (the 21st, the troop organized into two patrols. The patrol leaders chosen were George Coats and Bob Nugieur. The scribe is Christ Keller. We are going to the area wide court of honor to be held in our auditorium this Friday night. The patrol are working on a woodcraft project for this month—next month we are going to study hardest on first aid.—Irwin Gosswiller, troop 30.

Scouts Advance in Troop 37—On Thursday, Nov. 15, troop 37 of Highwood held its regular meeting. Eight tenderfoot scouts passed part of their second class tests, in first aid and signalling under the leadership of Mr. Reichardt, the district commissioner. These tests completed the scouts second class examination and they were awarded their cards at the local court of honor, November 19. The scouts were Milton Roberts, Charles Baldi, August Baracani, Robert Wicklander, Jacob Jeppsen, Frank Bellingheri, Vincent Ghini, Artemus Asfurski. They are all working hard now to pass their first class tests.—Scout Frank Bellingheri, Flying Eagle patrol, troop 37, Highwood.

Highland Park boy writes Thanksgiving theme as follows:

Thanksgiving

Some things we have to be thankful for—

Home and loved ones, who really care, Loyal friends,

Our scoutmaster and pal, Mr. Roberts,

That we are scouts in this age of development and progress.

For faith in God, our country—ourselves and "Troop 32."

Bob Smith, troop 32.

New scout from here welcomed in.

to Northshore scouting, week ending November 24: Vincent Anderson, Richard Suss and Edward W. West, Highland Park.

Well, Maybe Not

"I have been reading some of the articles in Woman's Home Companion on why people marry," wrote one husband. "I don't believe the authors know why they marry," he added. "Nobody knows."

LIBERTYVILLE MAN CHARGED WITH ARSON

Bond is Fixed at $5,000 by Waukegan Justice When Hearing Held

Charles X. Marshal of Libertyville was held over to the grand jury last week on a charge of arson by Justice of the Peace Hervey C. Coulson, of Waukegan. His bonds were fixed at $5,000 on recommendation of Attorney J. A. Miller, acting for the office of State's Attorney A. V. Smith

Deputy State Fire Marshal Paul E. Bertram, who signed the complaint two weeks ago for the arrest of Marshal was the chief witness used in the preliminary hearing by the state. A house owned by Marshal just outside of Libertyville was burned to the ground on October 9 and a probe was immediately started by the office of the state fire marshal because of peculiar circumstances.

Marshal left home shortly after 6 o'clock on the morning of October 9 and a few minutes later his house was on fire, a neighbor testified.

The deputy state fire marshal told the court that the house was appraised $800 and the contents at $200. He said the Marshal carried $1,500 insurance on the house and $500 on the contents. He further testified that most of the best furniture belonging to Marshal was found stored in his chicken coop.

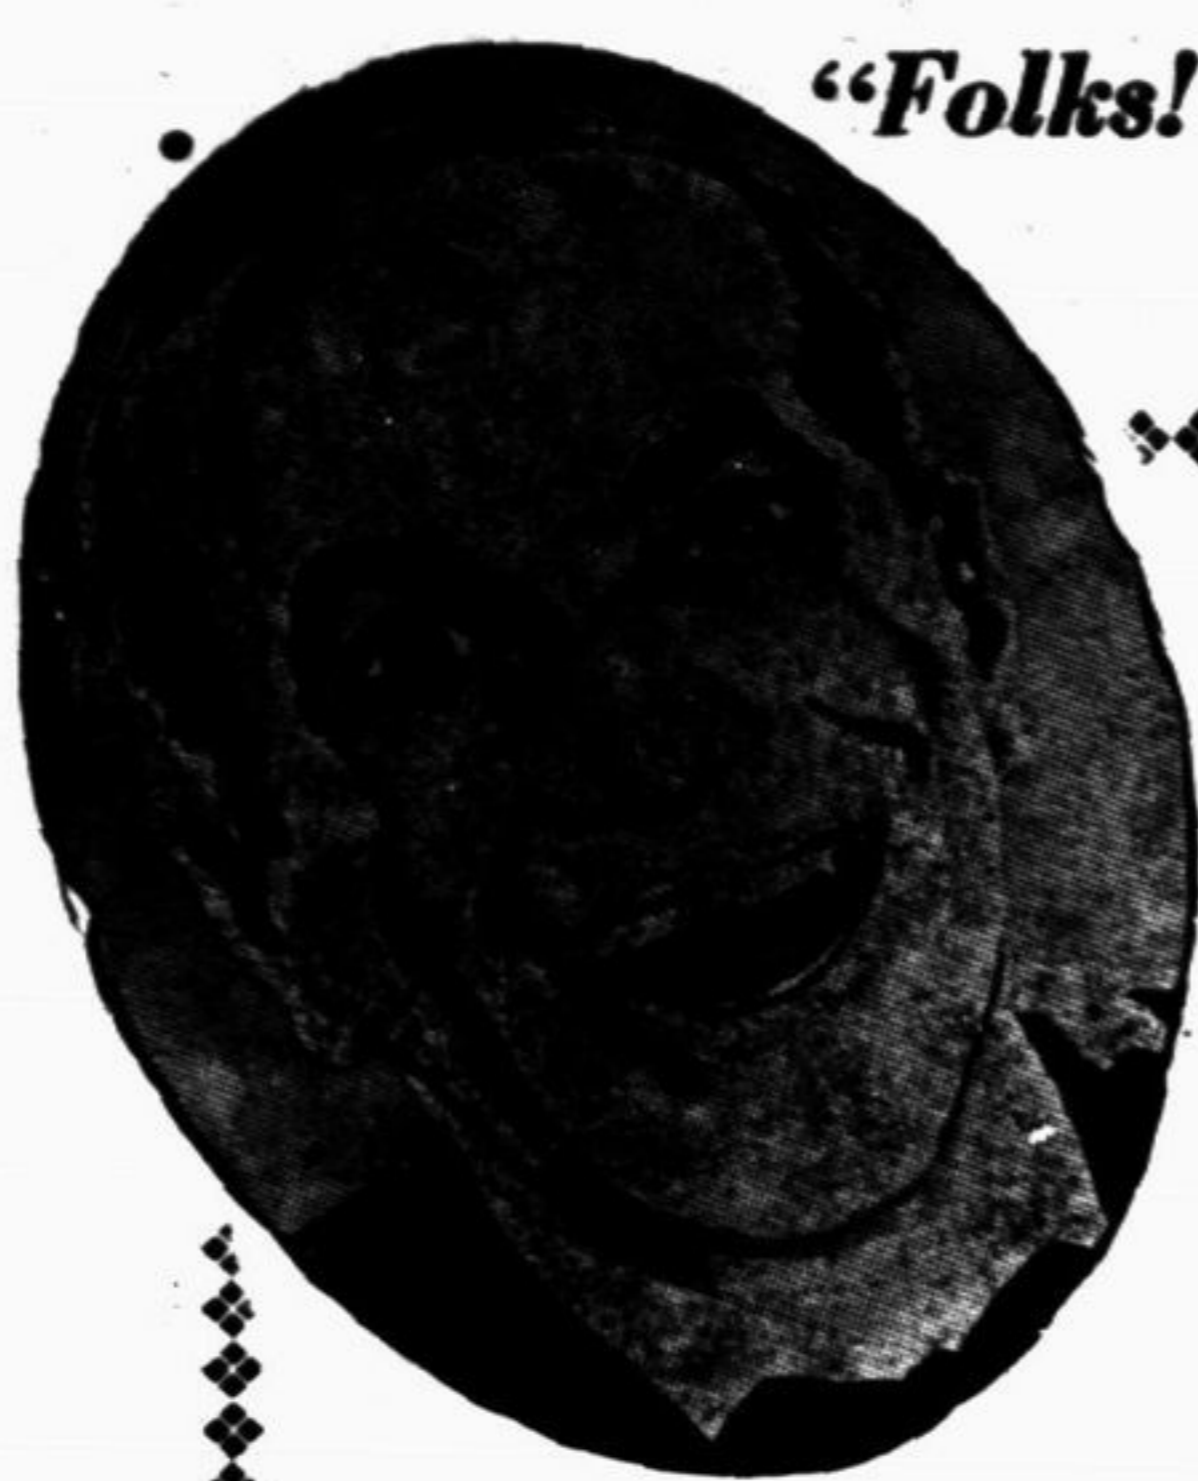

Marshal was arrested some months back on a charge of passing a worthless check.

And That's Fighting

"The" two big political parties are fightin' fer th' farmer vote just like a lot o' distant relatives over th' hoarded thousand's of a dead recluse," says Abe Martin in Farm & Fireside.
