

PIANO RECITAL IN WINNETKA DEC. 26

Talented Musician to Appear in Artist's Recital Series Soon

Take a pair of hands a little more efficient and alert than the most gifted mechanism ever attached to a piano, add to it an expert knowledge of everything that can be done to a piano tone with or without the assistance of the pedals, mix them thoroughly with a transfiguring personality — then you may have something faintly approaching Vladimir Horowitz when he gives a piano recital.

He gave his first in Chicago Monday afternoon at Orchestra hall. To speak with entire accuracy, it was more than a recital. It was a full sized program plus the Liszt Sonata in B minor. But after three appearances with the Chicago Symphony orchestra it was his first engagement without it, and twenty minutes after he had played his last number people were cheering and applauding and refusing to go home.

So his personality is sometimes transfiguring and sometimes merciful. It had an enormous effect on the Liszt Sonata Monday. Not in many years has it sounded less bombastic. But the Chopin was better hearing; Debussy's "Serenade a la Poupee" and Ravel's "Jeux d'Eau" were better hearing. Being less pompously pretentious, they accomplished more, and the superb, supreme insolence of Horowitz's own "Carmen" variations was a mark for all other pianists to shoot at. Not that it will be hit for some time to come.

Vladimir Horowitz will give a piano recital in Winnetka at the New Trier high school gymnasium on Wednesday evening, Dec. 26, at 8:30. This concert is one of the Artist's Recital series, sponsored each year by the Winnetka Music club.

exciting as anyone could wish. The score at the end of the first quarter was 3-2 with Deerfield leading. The lead see-sawed back and forth, with neither team being more than two baskets ahead at any time.

The game was very fast and extremely rough, there being 17 fouls by the Deerfield lights. Leo and Frank Zanier both went out of the game with four apiece. Bumps were frequent.

MISS TRINOS ATTENDS D.A.R. MEETING DEC. 13

"Adopted Daughter" of Organization Tells Experience. Musical Program

Those members of the North Shore chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution who dared to venture out into the downpour last Thursday felt amply repaid for their efforts in enjoyment of one of the most delightful meetings of the year. It was held at the home of Mrs. R. J. Beatty and Mrs. Lye Gourley and Mrs. E. S. Hall were assisting hostesses.

The dampness and drizzle were soon forgotten in the warmth of lights and a crackling fire in the lovely drawing room which lends itself so admirably to gatherings of this kind and the presentation of programs. Miss Celerinea Trinos, a young Philippine girl, attired in a native costume of green embroidered Pina cloth, made a picturesque figure as she stood before the fireplace and her story touched the hearts of all who heard her. She calls herself "an adopted Daughter of the American Revolution," a pensionada, as she put it, and told of her appreciation and gratitude to the organization to which she owes so much. She is here at Northwestern university, having earned her scholarship in the Hospital at Manila where she finished her training and is now taking nutrition, dietetics, etc., to increase her usefulness upon her return. She became convinced of the need of this as she discovered the ignorance along these lines and the value of further knowledge of food values in that country. She had a well chosen vocabulary, a sparkling sense of humor, and her fine spirit and high sincerity of purpose endeared her to all who heard her and made them feel anew that there is no greater service to the world than that in which the D. A. R. serve wherever possible, the Americanization of the foreign born.

Mrs. Beatty gave several delightful harp selections and Miss Edith Phillips read a little play, the scene of which was laid at Ellis Island, and was written by Mrs. Anthony Wayne Geisinger. The story was told just as it might have happened and brought out the type of service the D. A. R. renders to that great number who are detained there. From States go materials for sewing, knitting needles and yarn, dress materials and crochet hooks. Miss Phillips' interpretation of the many dialects, Scotch, Russian, Italian and others were excellent and the little play served not only as entertainment but also as a spur and reminder to the members of the box to go from the North Shore Chapter next month.

Among the many phases of Americanization work in which the D.A.R. is engaged this is one of the most valuable and significant, for behind the welcome the United States extends to the foreigners who come to take up their lives among us, is the necessity of service, of usefulness, and that they shall learn to take their place as loyal citizens, upholding our ideals, and strengthening, not destroying, the bulwarks of this nation.

WORKMAN INJURED LOADING A TRUCK

Charles Albert Suffers Concussion in Fall; Recovers at Hospital

Plunging from the top of a truck as he was helping load a portable house from the truck to a flat car last Friday, Charles Alberts, 24 years old, of Duluth, Minn., who has been working with the Wadell Construction company suffered a concussion of the brain and was unconscious until this morning.

In the Highland Park hospital Monday morning Alberts regained his memory and told Dr. H. B. Roberts of his family connections and who to notify of his injuries.

Alberts fell only about six feet, according to Dr. Roberts, but landed on his head and shoulder on the concrete pavement of First street at the freight yards. He was picked up by fellow workmen and rushed to the hospital where it was at first feared that his loss of memory would be permanent. He responded to Dr. Roberts' treatment, however, and the physician states that he will be on his feet again within a few days. He will suffer no permanent ill effects Dr. Roberts says.

Alberts was about to terminate his work as the Wadell company has finished their work and were moving their equipment.

ish dance by Senorita Maria Virginia Fernan Nunes and her dancing partner Senor Gaytan; an old settlers minuet, danced by some of the old settlers of Ravinia attired in the 18th century costumes. Miss Mitou Boarcart will also dance the "Spring dance."
