WHAT TO DO CORRECT SOCIAL USAGE FOR HIGH SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS.

Boys Club Making Plans for Banquet

That all members of our Boys' club must co-operate in order to make the Suburban league conference to be held here April 20 a success, was emphasized to the members of the club by Mr. Nelson last Wednesday afternoon in the English club room.

"Attendance at the banquet is to be limited," says Mr. Nelson, "because we can only seat 450 fellows in our lunchroom. The six visiting schools are bringing 60 students apiece, which allows us 150 members from our club. The first 150 fellows buying tickets are the ones to go."

Novel Seating Arrangement

Each student from Deerfield is to be a host. At the smaller tables which seat four people, the chairs are to be occupied by students from as many different schools. The Deerfield boy is to be the host and will serve those sitting at his table. At the larger tables three or four Deerfield boys will do the serving and entertain their guests.

While the group is eating, Jack Williams and his orchestra will furnish entertainment by playing popular music. Songs and cheers will be given throughout the dinner.

The conference is to start at 4:30, when everyone will go to the auditorium and watch stunts to be presented by the club members from our school. Jack Williams and Gordon Keith are in charge of the stunts.

Promise Good Speaker

Mr. Nelson is procuring a speaker. Walter Eckersall and Harvey T. Woodruff have been requested to address the group. If they are unable to come, Mr. Nelson promises some other good speaker.

Hugh Wolff, Kenneth Long, Richard Neff, Clyde O'Dair, Harold Appleton, and James Stuart are on the registration committee. They are to get everyone's signature.

Members of the general arrangement committee are William Gifford, president of the club. Keith Grant, Jack Jenkinson, George Hutchinson, Bradford Larson, and William Stuart. William Hammond and Hugh Seyfarth will take care of the tickets.

John O'Connell is to see Mr. Dinke- loo in regard to music while Oscar Goepner is to be in charge of publicity.

Dorothy Keller '28, who is attending Swarthmore, spent her spring holidays with her parents in Atlantic City and Washington.

Senior Social Night Planned for April 13

Every senior and member of the Deerfield-Shields faculty is invited to the coming senior social evening Saturday, April 13, in honor of the cast of "The Copperhead" and its staff. The affair will consist of a banquet at 6:30 p. m., progressive stunts, and entertainment and dancing in the cafeteria and first floor rooms of the east building.

Following the banquet, two or three students will be in charge of the stunts, which will be principally games. Immediately after, the faculty will present one of their own specialty stunts. Dancing will take place in the English club room and the corridor, ending the evening's program at 11:00 p. m.

Those in charge of the affair are hoping to make every minute count so that the senior class may enjoy all the events planned, and may have an opportunity to "get together."

Having attended the senior social at Evanston high school, Miss Griswold, Miss Wilson, Gertrude Williams, social chairman, thought the idea splendid and will now carry it out this coming April 13.

Seniors in charge of the social are Gertrude Williams, social chairman; "Bill" Hammond, master of ceremonies; Katherine Buhner, dinner hostess; Mary Lou McClernan, decorations; Bradford Larson and George Hutchinson, tickets and finance; Donald Vaughn, dance hour and orchestra; Gladys Perrow, publicity, and Miss Griswold, senior adviser and Miss Wilson, dean, are chaperones.

Tickets go on sale today.

Students Discuss Stunts at Preliminary Meeting

Plans for over twenty stunts to be presented in the tryouts on April 31 and May 1 were announced at the meeting of all those interested in Students Stunts in the auditorium last Wednesday.

All the students who came to this meeting gave their names, the nature of their act, and the name of the person in charge to Mr. Peers or Miss Comer.

All the students who have intricate lighting or staging effects in their acts were asked to tell Edgar Jenkins, who is property manager.

Mervin McGath '28, attending Chicago university, visited school last week during his spring vacation.

Deerfield-Shields Students Given Character Ratings

Each student of the Deerfield-Shields high school, with the exception of those entering last February, has or will have by June a character rating. These ratings are taken for the purpose of helping the principal in recommending a student to college or recommending a student to his employer if he begins work at the close of his high school career. In many cases, also, faculty members find it interesting to look up a certain student's rating.

In order to get the most accurate rating of a student's character, three different faculty members rate him, namely his session adviser and two teachers who have him in one of their classes.

The rating is done on a rating sheet which has five character traits, listed in the following manner, energy, scholastic ability, responsibility, initiative, and general character. A line is opposite each of these items. The left end of these lines for those are rated very low in each of these character traits, while the right end of the lines are for indicating high ratings. The person who is rating a student then places a check on the line where he thinks that particular student rates. During the summer vacation, the average of these three ratings is found, thus forming a pretty fair estimation of a student's character.

Mr. Richardson, school psychologist, has been in charge of this rating.

As the system that is being used now was only begun last year, the students who are sophomores now will be the first ones to be rated once a year during their high school course.

Mr. Richardson says that students should not be afraid of this rating effecting their scholastic grades as they have nothing to do with each other. Students will not be allowed to see their own or anyone else's rating.

A copy of a rating sheet will be posted on the bulletin board in Shields hall.

Advanced Shop Classes Building Up Chair Seats

Having finished the foundation of the chairs which are being made in the industrial arts department, the advanced shop classes are beginning to build up the seats of the chairs. The foundation of the seat consists of the frame, springs, and burlap covering. Other things used in the building-up process are Spanish moss, two different kinds of cotton covering, and flax padding.

In order to observe the process of experienced workmen in this type of work, Mr. Schneider has written the Kroehler company, furniture manufacturers, for permission to visit their shops with about twenty-six boys of the advanced shop class.

Half of the machine shop classes are working in the foundry, while the other half is working on the lathes. Those working in the foundry are making moulds. On or about next Friday they will be pouring the metal into the moulds.
