

RAISE QUESTION OF ELECTION LEGALITY

In Connection with Addition of New Asst. Supervisors in Three Townships

It was rumored about the Lake county court house last week-end that legality of the election of additional assistant supervisors in Waukegan, Shields and Libertyville townships is to be raised when the board convenes for its special re-organization meeting at which a chairman for the ensuing year will be elected.

A petition was being circulated among the board members to call the special meeting April 18.

New Places Added

Emil Bollinger, of Lake Forest, is the board member added in Shields township and W. E. Miller is the newly elected assistant supervisor in Libertyville township. Fred Decker was fifth man in Waukegan township.

The additional board members were elected on the basis of population figures of the last government census in 1920.

Town Clerk William Fendick of Libertyville received a ruling from Assistant State's Attorney Sidney Block before the election as to the number of constables and justices Libertyville is entitled to on the basis of the 1920 census which showed a population of 3,000 in that district.

Attorney Block gave an opinion that on the 1920 government census showing Libertyville is entitled to an additional constable and justice of the peace which subsequently were elected.

Interpretation of Law

Block's interpretation of the law is that a township having a population of 2,000 is entitled to two constables and two justices and one additional officer for every thousand thereafter. It is the opinion of Fendick and other Libertyville township officials that this law applies also to the office of supervisor and the office of assistant supervisor was created on the strength of this belief.

In Waukegan and Shields townships the respective town clerks looked up the law thoroughly before creating the additional offices. Charles Jack, town clerk of Waukegan township, is confident that under the law this township is entitled to an additional assistant supervisor on the basis of the 1920 official census.

Candidates for Chairman

Two of the leading and veteran members of the board, William Obee, of Highland Park, and Jim O'Connor, of West Deerfield, are candidates for the chairmanship. It was definitely learned that Frank Stanton of Ingleside and Harry Stratton of Lake Villa who were potential candidates for the chairmanship have withdrawn in favor of Obee and O'Connor.

Both Obee and O'Connor have declared they are in the race to stay and all indications point to a spirited contest. Supporters of each of the candidates have already started "campaigning" among the members of the board seeking to effect a strong line-up.

MOVE TO SUBURBS IS GENERAL IN AMERICA

Search for Sunshine, Pure Air and Playgrounds Cause Is Belief of Expert

America is moving toward the suburbs. What's the answer? This shift in population is noted particularly among families with children. Is the search for air, sunshine, space for play or privacy?

The answer, says Myrl E. Bottomley, in the April Child Welfare Magazine, is very likely all of these, "but in the conscious mind of every suburbanite is the appealing idea of gardening. Interiors of houses," adds Mr. Bottomley, "can be nearly as pleasant in town as in the country; the outside makes the difference."

Mr. Bottomley, who is associate professor of landscape architecture at the University of Cincinnati, has prepared a special article for the Better Homes number of Child Welfare Magazine, the official organ of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. His article is one of a series edited by Better Homes in America which will be used as the basis for discussion in programs to be conducted in more than 5,000 communities during Better Homes Week, April 21 to 27. These programs are a part of the nation-wide educational organization, which has been headed since its organization by President Hoover.

"Beautiful and pleasant surroundings," says Mr. Bottomley, "have been proposed as a cure for juvenile sins, and, in fact, have been proven to be beneficial. But I do not believe that beauty alone is an infallible remedy. It must be accompanied by recreation or a useful occupation, to function with real efficiency. Our parks need attractions other than their beauty to best serve the public, while our backyards can well hold to the same ideal."

The series deals with the part which each member of the family might contribute toward the worthy home, the parents as responsible for the actual physical house with all of its considerations, and the contributions which the children can make to both physical and spiritual sides of the home. Miss Lita Bane, past president of the American Home Economics association, has written on "Practical Projects in Home Economics"; Miss Mary Sehneck Woolman on "Building the Home from Within."
