

Camp Fire Flames

The Lewa-Anahan Camp Fire Girls have moved into a new room. Materials have been bought for curtains, table runners and pillows. Old furniture is being collected on which the girls will use their decorative skill in making it attractive.

It has been asked that suitable books, furniture or anything that will help to fill in the empty corners be given so that the girls can have an attractive room to work and play in.

If you have anything to donate to the girls call H. P. 1695.

Girls Have Worthy Ideals

Why are camp fire girls different from other girls?

Camp fire girls have a spring to their step, a lift to their heads, a light in their eyes that communicates a purpose and a joy in living that cannot be found in all girls.

Camp fire gives a girl fun, glorious fun out of doors, in all kinds of weather, and indoors in your homes, and at all kinds of parties. Camp fire opens doors and points out strength to climb all kinds of hills that are found in life.

Camp fire girls have ideals that are real ideals, which are true and simple, but are high as high and deep as deep:

First is the law, which is the recipe for a happy and serviceable life; seek beauty, give service, pursue knowledge, be trustworthy, hold on to health, glorify work, be happy.

Second is the watchword "Wohelo" a word made from the first two letters of the words "work," "health," and "love." These furnish a program for living.

Snails Added to Aquarium

A girl friend and I took a trip last Saturday to the Mills farm in search of snails for the aquarium in the Camp Fire Girls new room.

We had good intentions of riding out on our bicycles, but we had gone a short distance and were halted with a puncture and had to come back.

Luck was with us however for we got the chauffeur to drive us out.

We reached the marsh after braving such things as barbed wire fences, mude holes, etc., to hinder us.

When we reached the marsh we had several tasks to perform such as getting a jar to put the snails in.

After fishing out snails for half an hour we returned home with a quart jar full of snails.

Part of these snails are in the camp fire room and are being cared for by the group.

—Frances Jenkins.

Notes

Each week the Camp Fire Girls are taking turns in bringing their favorite poem to the meeting for discussion. Last week this poem was chosen by Elizabeth Morris and received favorable comment, because it expressed the love of nature and the out of doors.

"Out in the Fields With God"

The little care that fretted me,
I lost them yesterday
Among the fields, above the sea,
Among the wings at play:
Among the lowing of the herds,
The rustling of the trees;
Among the singing of the bird,

The humming of the bees.

The foolish fears of what may happen

I cast them all away

Among the clover scented grass.

Among the new mown hay:

Among the rustling of the corn

Where drowsy poppies nod,

Where ill thoughts die and good

are born.

Out in the field with God.

—Elizabeth Barret Browning.

A Row of Dogs

One warm afternoon after school, I climbed up a flight of narrow stairs and burst into a beam of sunlight, which flooded our new camp fire room.

No one was there, so I threw myself down in a chair. For lack of anything to do, (if there had been anything I would have been too lazy) I took a glance around the room and there was a table with a neat pile of books. The chairs were filled with lovely soft cushions and a cool breeze gently blew the new tan curtains. These were familiar sights, but what was that over on the couch?

First I stared in amazement, then I burst out in laughter, for there in a row with their flopped ears dangling in a comical, forsaken sort of manner, stood ten of the most ridiculous gingham dogs and calico cats I had ever seen. They were all colors of the rainbow, they had large round button eyes, which stared up at me in a wistful way, and made me feel like going over and patting them. They all had the longest, lankiest legs which made them all out of proportion and made them appear all the more ridiculous.

These are the mascots of the Lewa-Anahan Campfire Girls.

—Elizabeth Morris.

Wilmot School P. T. A.

Deerfield

The Wilmot School Parent-Teacher association will hold their regular monthly meeting at the school Friday evening, April 19 at 8 o'clock.

The program is under the direction of the Northwestern University School of Speech. There will be annual report given by the officers and a social hour will follow. Everybody is invited to attend.

The children of the school are preparing some interesting things including a miniature wild flower garden, for the Lake county school exhibit to be held at Gurnee on Saturday, April 20. The teachers and a number of children expect to attend.

Highland Park Woman Hurt in Auto Crash

Two people were painfully injured in a head-on collision near Great Lakes Saturday night at 9:45 o'clock when a car driven by Walter Johansson of Highland Park, and one driven by F. W. Moore of the Great Lakes Naval Training station, collided. Mrs. Elizabeth Johansson was badly cut and bruised but refused to be taken to the hospital, according to deputies. Moore was taken to the Great Lakes hospital.
