by Cecile

Light weight velour in the softest, loveliest pastel shades is used for the more luxurious dress coats of spring. Usually these models are fur-trimmed, preferably with flat, pliable furs that are not warm-looking or cumbersome.

The coat illustrated is one of Henri Bendel's own designs in mauve velour, with a white astrakan collar cut on the Vionnet lines. The hat of matching felt has the flat coque feather trimming which is a motif of the moment.

Squirrel a Popular Summer Fur

Squirrel — both natural grey and bleached squirrel which resembles the more expensive summer ermine—is extremely popular for use with lightweight woolens. Grey lends itself charmingly to the new shades of blue and black; the soft, creamy-tan skins are used with darker blues, black and certain of the beige tones.

Sun-Tan Colors in Hose

Sunworshippers truly are the followers of fashion today—for gloves and hose are supposed to match one's "sunburn"; new shades in silks run to the suntan tints and summer flesh tints are accentuated in every conceivable way in fabrics and accessories.

Especially do the sun shades find themselves popular in hosiery. From palest rose tints to deep copper-colored shades—according to the way you tan—should be the color range of your hosiery. Unless, of course, you happen to be what is known as "stout." Then sun-tans are too robust; beiges with a strong accent of grey are preferable.

Training Camp Starts July 18, Ft. Sheridan

Reveille will sound on July 18 for Chicago's contingent of summer soldiers who will spend one month in training at Fort Sheridan. The encampment will probably be the largest of the 52 citizen's military training camps throughout the country. Last year the camp occupied first position, with a total enrollment of 2,000 men, more than one-third of whom came from Chicago.

Brig. Gen. Casper H. Conrad, Jr.,

commander at Fort Sheridan, has directed that work be started early in the season on the camp site on the bluff above Lake Michigan. A number of new permanent buildings will be erected to supplement the mess halls used last summer, and extensive provisions are to be made for playing fields for various outdoor sports.

Application blanks and information folders may be had, as in former years, from the Military Training Camps association at 6 North Michigan avenue, Chicago.
