

HOME AND GARDEN SHOW OPENS TODAY

eight o'clock Mr. David Whitelaw with his Girls' First Aid team from the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee Railroad company will give a demonstration lecture on First Aid. The lecture on Saturday at two o'clock will be one of interest to children as well as adults. At this time Mr. Ransom Kenndicatt will talk with slide pictures about our Forest Preserves.

Urged to Attend

The Home and Garden Show committee urges everyone to allow himself ample time to view the exhibits in both large rooms at the rear of the Y.W.C.A. building at 374 Laurel avenue, either before or after attending the lectures, or both, as there is much to be seen and admired.

A dozen or more tables, set with china and silver in harmony with their center decoration, are done with the taste and expertness accompanying the correct luncheon of today. No end of care and thought has been given in arranging each table and it was with great difficulty that the judges were able to decide upon the awarding of ribbons. The judges are Mrs. Daniel E. Kissam, president of the Glencoe Garden club, Mrs. Bert L. Davis, of the Wilmette Garden club, and Mrs. R. E. Sturtevant of the Lake Forest Garden club. The points considered by the judges were originality, appropriateness and composition. The following women are among those who have arranged tables in this group: Mrs. Carl Pfanstiehl, Mrs. Marshall Sampson, Mrs. Edwin T. Johnson, Jr., Mrs. Norwood Bard, Mrs. Ralph Bard, Mrs. Everett Millard, Mrs. H. H. McKay, Mrs. Arthur Emerson, Mrs. James L. Martin and Mrs. Robert R. Shanley, Mrs. R. Arthur Wood and Miss Browning, and Mrs. W. A. Alexander.

Antique Room

The area around the open fireplace has been transformed into an antique room, furnished with some of Highland Park's rarest and loveliest antique chairs, stools, tables, and hearth tools. Among other interesting exhibits are Mrs. W. B. Wrenn's collection of hooked rugs, Mrs. Herbert P. Beers' display of book-binding, engraving and etchings, and Mrs. Benson's table showing a "Bit of Sweden."

The home bakery exhibits will offer a different variety of culinary talents each day. On Thursday valuable hints on sandwich making will be found; Friday home made bread will make you long for the days when mother spent more time in the kitchen; and on Saturday cakes will vie with each other for the ribbon awards. Each day the bakery exhibits will be awarded ribbons by these three capable judges: Mrs. Carrier Greene, Miss Mable Dunham, and Mrs. T. C. Williams. The points considered in judging will be taste, texture and appearance.

Downstairs Garden

The floor plan for the downstairs

gardens has been arranged by the committee and expert florist and landscape gardeners so as to have a small pathway winding past the various exhibits making each one a complete picture within itself. The North Shore Garden clubs will display the model yards and garages that were entered in the stage show in Chicago.

Mrs. E. T. R. Murfey, the Home and Garden Show's general chairman, would like the credit for the success of this show to go to those women and their committees who have worked so faithfully during the past six weeks in planning and working out their parts in the show. The following are the chairmen of those committees: Mrs. Lew H. Bird, antiques; Mrs. O. L. Olesen and Mrs. Thomas M. Marks, quilts and counter-panes; Mrs. C. W. Shipnes, shawls; Mrs. L. R. Rigdon and Mrs. Lee C. Gatewood, brass and pottery; Mrs. John Russell and Miss Adele Everett, bakery; Mrs.

W. A. Alexander and Mrs. R. Arthur Wood, tables; Mrs. W. Ross Marvin, Garden clubs; Mrs. Benj. F. Rieke, lectures; Mrs. H. Funch Rasmussen, hostesses; Mrs. D. M. Blasier and Mrs. W. H. Alger, Jr., floral and landscape; Miss Rebekah Pocock, old jewelry; Mrs. Herbert P. Peers, book-binding; Mrs. W. B. Wrenn, hooked rugs; Mrs. Bruce C. Chandler, publicity. Mrs. Philip Danielson, interior decorator, will direct the arrangement of the exhibits on the first floor.

Practical Bachelor

"I know the best way to wash spinach," announced the boarding house bachelor after reading the cooking pages of Woman's Home Companion. "Call out the fire department and have them turn the hose on it."
