More Information on Alleged Forgery of Bonds of Deerfield

Additional information, supporting his theory that a band of criminals stretching through the middle west had conceived the plan to market forged public improvement bonds of the Village of Deerfield last week led States Attorney A. V. Smith to ask deputy sheriffs to renew their efforts to locate certain men suspected of playing a part in the conspiracy.

The lone prisoner now in the county jail, Sauver Ronsanver, who told a story of using the $4,000 in forged bonds that he had for collateral to get a loan, became a little more involved today when his plausible story of yesterday was riddled to a certain extent by the revelation of his police record.

He advised Col. Smith under questioning yesterday that he had only been involved with the law once and that was for the theft of a car.

His fingerprints, that threw open his record as known to the detective bureau in Chicago, revealed that instead of being arrested as a thief he actually was imprisoned in Michigan on a conviction for felonious assault and battery.

His name, these records show, is actually Garnet Forney. He was convicted to serve four to eight years and in October 1918 he was sent to prison. Exactly a year later he was released on probation and some time later he was paroled.

No Decision on New Sanitary Dist. Plant

Members of the Waukegan city council met with the North Shore Sanitary district board in meeting this morning relative to the location of the proposed $500,000 sewage disposal plant which is to be erected in Waukegan this year.

No decision was recalled in the meeting as to whether the plan for placing the plant on the south side of the city or on the north flats would be the most practical but the trend ran toward establishing the plant at the foot of South avenue in accordance with the original plans.

In the event of the location of the plant on the south side the city will install a sewer that will course through the industrial and railroad yards section of the flats from the north end of the city to South avenue.

Alteration in Public Service Co. Building

Remodeling work is in progress in the front part of the Public Service Co. substation on Elm place, where additional apparatus is to be installed as soon as the alterations are completed. In addition extensive new switching and control apparatus is being installed in the yard in the rear to take care of the large additional load consequent to the reconstruction and enlarging of the city waterworks plant.

Marked Improvement at Ft. Sheridan; Gen. Conrad in Command

Under the energetic drive of General C. H. Conrad, Jr., commanding at Fort Sheridan, the entire post is taking on new life in many aspects. The beautification of the post is rapidly being carried out under the personal direction of Lieutenant-Colonel C. R. Mayor; the beach is being cleaned up; new installations are being made; rifle range practice is on in full swing; and many summer camp plans are swiftly maturing.

Trees and shrubs are being planted along roads and walks, adding a great deal to the natural beauty of the place. In addition, officers and men occupying quarters are planting individual flower gardens. A month's policing of lawns, roads, walks, parade grounds, and barracks has given the entire post a new appearance. New concrete garbage stands are being erected which will do away with the hitherto unsightly screened racks. Even the corrals have been improved by new drainage installations.

Already many people of the post have enjoyed the beach, a few even taking a cold dip. The beach has been thoroughly combed of all trash and is being put in shape for the summer. There is some doubt, however, as to whether the public will again this year have unlimited right to a section of the beach heretofore known as the "picnic grounds." This has not yet been definitely decided but it is thought that orders on it will be issued within the next few weeks.

Rifle practice on the range is about half completed. The 2nd Infantry and 14th Cavalry, as well as Marines from the Great Lakes Naval Station, have been on the range steadily since April 8. The 3rd Field Artillery, which rolled out of the post April 30 for their summer season at Camp McCoy, Sparta, Wisconsin, will do all their pistol and artillery firing at the latter place. Other units of the 3rd Field Artillery are expected from Camp Knox, Kentucky, as are several units of the 6th Infantry from Jefferson Barracks, Missouri. These organizations will stay here throughout the summer camp season.

The cantonment area is practically ready for occupation by the R.O.T.C. and the C.M.T.C. students. The former are due June 16 for a six weeks camp, the latter July 18, for a four weeks' period. It is estimated that 500 R.O.T.C. students will attend and about 2000 C.M.T.C. students.

Point of Discussion

"In Chicago, plasterers and painters are now on the short week basis and in other trades the schedule will be one of the major points of discussion on new wage agreements as of June 1, this year.
