Children to Give Myths in Assembly

Original nature myths are to be given in assembly at the Lincoln school Thursday, May 23, by Miss Thomas' sixth grade pupils. The titles are as follows:

"Why the Goat Wears His Horns on Top of His Head," Richard Perry, "Why the Hyena Laughs," Genevieve Donnersberger, "How the Pig Got His Short Curly Tail," Marcello Rolerly, "A Feathered Bit of Sunshine," Viola Workman, "How the Porcupine Got His Quills," Paul Chambers, "How the Leopard Got His Spots," Allen Sordyl, "The Story of Jim Jaquar," Louise Aldridge, "Why the Donkey Brays," Gladys Brown, "The Waterlily's White Petals," Mary Wright, "Mr. Porcupine," Florence Dingle, "The Jackel's Scheme Fails," Abigail Balke, "Why the Mole Lives Underground," Gene Ball, "Why the Crane Lost His Lovely Voice," Ada Grotti, "Why the Cardinal Has Red Feathers," John Brigham, "How the Giraffe Got His Long Neck," Emma Willis.

Oak Terrace Team Wins Four Straight

Completing a series of four straight wins, Oak Terrace defeated Gorton grammar school last Monday in a tightly fought game of baseball at Lake Forest.

This was Oak Terrace's fourth game of the year and excitement ran high for the first few innings, while the score was held a tie, one to one. But this did not last long, because just as soon as Oak Terrace got warmed up, they ran the score up to sixteen to seven, the final score at the end of the game.

There is a game scheduled next week between Oak Terrace and Elm Place for the grammar school league championship.

6A Groups Visit Art Institute Exhibit

As part of their study of great artists and their pictures, the 6 A groups of Elm Place visited the Art Institute last Friday, May 17. They tried to recognize the pictures at the Institute and the artists who painted them.

On their way down, the pupils visited the Historical society.

Three Prizes Awarded for Ship Building

Prizes for the best ships built by members of the Ship Building club of Ravinia school were awarded last Tuesday.

Henry Kelling, of the eighth grade, received first prize, and Junior Nichols and James Farrell, both seventh graders, received second and their prizes respectively.

The boats were on exhibition at a N. T. A. meeting a few weeks ago.

Seven Events Remain for Eighth Graders

Seven important events remain before the school year closes for the eighth graders of Ravinia school.

June 7, the annual Field day, for which the children are now busy preparing, will be held, June 10, there will be a dress rehearsal of the class play, and on the eleventh the final performance will take place. The twelfth of June is graduation; the thirteenth, the class party, and the fourteenth, is class day—as well as Flag day.

Highwood Boy Scouts Second in First Aid

As a result of the first aid contest which was held in the Deerfield-Shields high school recently, the first aid team of troop thirty-seven of Highwood, consisting of Frank Belingheri, captain; August Barmani, Artimus Ashurst, Robert Alverson, and Vincent Ghini, took second place.

The first place award was presented to troop seventy-one of Libertyville, and the third place to troop thirty-three of Highland Park.

Garden Club Members Organize Junior Club

Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Dawson, both members of the Highland Park community Garden club, have organized a Junior club at Elm Place. As their first president, the group of 25 students elected Barbara Franke. They are also preparing for the junior garden contest about which Mrs. Dawson spoke at their first meeting.

"Shooting Stars" Visit Great Lakes Airport

Accompanied by Miss Turpin, the aviation club of Elm Place, with Raymond Rogers as president, visited the Great Lakes Airport last Monday, May 20.

At their meeting of last Thursday, Osborn Menan related his experiences on an airplane flight and Billy Watson sketched the history of aviation in a talk before the club.

Two games have already been played on Ravinia school's new athletic field on the Clavey road.

Lincoln School Has Two Baby Kildeer

Two baby kildeer have recently arrived at the Lincoln school.

Classes Take Trip to Kimball's Woods

The classes at Lincoln have been going to Kimball's woods on Bob-o-Link road this week to study the birds and flowers.

Faculty Members Visit Turkey Run, Indiana

With Mr. Smith, several members of Elm Place faculty traveled to Turkey Run, Indiana, in three autos, last Saturday, May 18. The trip was for pleasure, and it offered an interesting study of birds, geology, and botany, since the country is so full of interesting specimens and formations. Although it rained Saturday, the party took their hike Sunday through water-filled canons where the sun shone.

The faculty was also entertained in the Millard Woods on the Des Plaines river last Wednesday, May 15. Mrs. Everett Millard gave the picnic for the teachers.

Makio Reserve Club Holds Marshmallow Roast

Members of the Makio Girl Reserves enjoyed a marshmallow roast last Friday on the beach.

They hiked to the lake and held their meeting on the sand, where many interesting affairs were planned for future undertaking.

The best part of the meeting was the marshmallow roast over a fire after the business of the club was completed.

Eighth Grade Holds Election for President

Clifton Franklin was elected president of the 8A class of Elm Place at the election held in Miss Grunewald's room Monday, May 13. The nominees were Mary Keller, Bob White, Clifton Franklin, and Mary Belfield. The winner had to have a majority of 26 votes.

Clifton's first duty was to appoint a committee on class colors.

Sixth Grade Making Booklets on Their Lives

Writing and illustrating with kodak pictures the stories of their lives, the sixth graders are making booklets to look at in later years.

Fifth Grade Classes Watch Snails Grow

The fifth grade recently had an opportunity to watch the hatching of some land snail's eggs. The students are now interested in watching the small snails grow.
